MILLION IN TAXES IS PAID TO STATE

Expected to be Three Times That Amount, Members Of Commission say

Approximately $1,000,000 of personal income, intangibles and corporation excise taxes had been collected and turned over to the state treasurer when the time for filing returns for the year 1932, based on incomes for 1931, expired Friday.

The total amount collected $715,000 represented personal income and intangibles taxes. The corporation excise tax collections aggregated $229,857.

Members of the commission said the collections from the three taxes for the year 1932 probably would exceed $3,000,000. It was pointed out that many persons and corporations have taken advantage of the opportunity to pay the tax in two installments, while in other cases extensions of time have been given to the taxpayers.

The field audit, following the normal collections, also will add materially to the total receipts, the tax commissioners declared. As a result of the field audit following the 1931 collections, based on incomes for 1930, approximately $130,000 has been received and turned over to the state treasurer.

Officials also said that a large number of returns, including checks, were placed in the mails last night and today and have not yet reached the state capital.

Personal income and intangibles taxes collected up until tonight were made on a reported tax of $1,100,335.

The tax commissioners said it was their opinion that the total collections for 1932, based on incomes for 1931, would equal those for 1931.

COMPTON BLAMES 1930 TARIFF LAW

The tariff law enacted in 1930 did much to upset business and to prolong depression in the opinion of J. C. Compton, prominent Oregon road contractor in Salem yesterday on business. Compton lives at McMinnville. He is vice-president of the Spaulding Pulp mill at Newberg.

"Road work contracts are going to be quite plentiful this year but prices are very low," Compton said. He has recently returned from Kansas where he went to look over some prospective jobs.

Compton said there was no immediate outlook for resumption of full production in the Newberg mill. After the disastrous fall in prices in pulp in 1930 the mill sufficiently reduced its operating costs to be able to keep even but in the fall of 1931, the break in foreign exchange made production without loss impossible.

HOP MEN TO GIVE NO FINANCIAL AID

Direct financial aid either as gifts to a campaign fund or through the contribution of cards, pamphlets or advertisements, will not be given any political candidates by the Hop Growers organization, members stated here yesterday. Exception was taken by them to statements published this week in which it was said the hop growers had agreed to provide James W. Mott with financial help provided he would run for congress.

The Hop Growers' organization will endorse candidates, will urge their members and friends to support these candidates and will encourage their members to use their time and funds in support of candidates friendly to modification or repeal of the 18th amendment. They will not raise a "war chest" and from it give any direct subsidy to a candidate who favors their program of change in handling the liquor situation in the state or nation.

FATHER DOMINIC IS CALLED TO REWARD

Noted as Music Composer And Religious Leader; Held High Awards

Rev. Father Dominic Wadschwiller, O. S. B., for many years outstanding in the religious and musical life of Oregon, died at St. Benedict Abbey at Mount Angel Friday at the age of 68 years.

He was pastor of St. Mary's church for more than 30 years. Father Dominic came to Oregon in 1867 from Switzerland and was a pioneer in the intellectual and musical history of this state. He was a deep thinker and a musical genius. Father Dominic received his musical education in Berlin, Munich and other famous old world musical centers.

Father Dominic attracted attention of the entire west when he composed the now famous symphonic poems and music, "The Call of the West" and "Beautiful Willamette." These compositions won high awards at the Lewis and Clark exposition in Portland and the Yukon-Alaska exposition in Seattle.

He was asked on several occasions to accompany Madam Schumann-Heink in concert songs, and his criticisms were sought by some of the most prominent composers.

At Mount Angel Father Dominic was looked upon as a great builder and leader. He directed construction of the large church and school at that place.

Funeral plans had not been completed yesterday.
