

Third District Meeting, Federated Women's Clubs in Salem Friday

D. A. R. Has Splendid Day

A BRILLIANT social occasion was the regular meeting of Chemeketa chapter of the D. A. R. Saturday at the home of Mrs. C. B. Sunberg in Dallas.

It was not only a delightful social meeting, but represented one of the largest meetings of the year. Although election of officers was to have taken place at this meeting it was postponed until the May meeting at which time the group will meet for its annual trip to the memorial cabin in Champoux. Mrs. A. E. Ostlund will have charge of the May meeting.

A program preceded the tea hour at the Sunberg home Saturday. Appearing on the program were women who had attended the state convention in Portland in March and who gave reports concerning the things which impressed them most in the convention proceedings.

Mrs. J. E. Sibley concluded the program with a book review of the book "The Life of Washington's Mother."

The tea table was a lovely study in blue and silver contrasted with white. Blue tapers, in silver holders, a silver bowl full of yellow-white daffodils, and sprigs of Mrs. William Fordyce Fargo, regent, and Mrs. J. E. Sibley poured. Dallas members of Chemeketa chapter assisted Mrs. Sunberg in serving.

Preceding the trip to Dallas the chapter members met in Willson park and planted the two-year old granddaughter of the famous Maryland elm under which Washington is supposed to have taken command of the army.

The tree was sent by Mrs. James H. Dorsey, chairman of the Maryland D. A. R. conservation and thrift committee. She has grown 48 of these tiny trees from weep slips taken from the ruins of the "daughter" tree which grew up to supplant the "mother" tree. The trees have been growing for three years in the backyard of Mrs. Dorsey's home. One tree is being sent to each state D. A. R. chapter.

The little tree was planted at the west end of the park just across the walk from the Washington walnut tree which has been planted for some time. State dedicatory ceremony will be held for the little tree in the late spring.

Several Large Affairs Loom On Social Horizon of The Week

THE past week has been a busy one and the forthcoming days seem to be likewise.

The Salem MacDowell club started the events of the past few days Monday night at the studio of Prof. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts. It was a delightful start for the week, one which will long be remembered by the lovers of music who were present in large numbers that night.

The Encinitis club celebrated Tuesday night with a world wide banquet in keeping with similar observations in the Y. W. C. A. groups over the country.

Clubs, church benefit luncheons, and dances occupied the rest of the week. The Elks lodge, dance, and the annual spring dance given by the high school and college set both occurred Friday night and Saturday night. One of the smartest dances of the year was given by the Salem Riding academy members at the Illibee club house.

Smart in every detail from the college orchestra of rollicking music to the black and white futuristic decorations, the feature dances suggesting the equestrian tastes of the hosts to the brilliantly formal gowns of the women.

Beginning this week will be the large banquet with which Chadwick chapter of the order of the Eastern Star will honor its founders Tuesday night at the Masonic temple.

There are eight of these founders to be complimented, Mrs. Joseph LeFlore, Mrs. Lena Cherrington, Mrs. Alice Meyers, Mrs. Homer Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lot Pearce, Miss Bertha Forstner of Portland and George Dunford.

The banquet will be served at 12 tables representing the months of the year. The honor guests will be seated at the April table.

Special music will be a feature of the banquet hour. Special request on the part of Mrs. Stella Henry, grand matron is that all officers and members get in their reservations before Monday noon. Reservations may be made by calling 5306 or 7945. The banquet is to be served at 6:30 o'clock.

While the regular lodge is in session the chapter members will be entertained in the social rooms with a special address.

Clubs will meet and some interesting parties are being planned for the week, along with the large dance for Saturday night which is being planned by the Salem Gold club. This will be a smart affair attended by prominent Salem people as well as out-of-town guests.

Saturday afternoon another large affair is being planned at the home of Mrs. Homer Goulet at

Helpful Hints for Healthful Living

Do You Read the Label?

A druggist must dispense, not medicine only, but good advice. It is expected of him.

It is part of his job.

A hardware merchant doesn't feel called upon to warn his customers not to chop their fingers off when they buy an ax. But a druggist must stand as watchdog for even people of intelligence, who, though they wouldn't think of taking a chance with sharp tools, can't be trusted when it comes to medicines.

Your physicians instructions are carefully followed by us in the compounding of prescriptions and his directions are carefully noted on the label.

You may have perfect confidence, as our prescription service is the best service we render.
