Sure to Approve While the rule, suggested by Coach Harold Olsen of Ohio state university, who was later named president of the association, must be approved by the association's rules committee, there was no doubt but what it would be adopted. It was the unanimous opinion of the scores of coaches at today' meeting that something radical was necessary to halt stalling and speed up the game.

"The new rule is the best thing that happened to basketball since the dribble rule was adopted way back in 1906," said Dr. Allen. "It is revolutionary and will give the spectators the thrills that come with a fast, hard and well played

"If it speeds up the game, and I think it will, I'm all for it," declares Spec Keene, coach at Willamette. Spec isn't wor-ried about the rule's effect on his teams. He has always favored a fast breaking offense, though he wasn't able to get it, a lot of the time last winter. Spec is also of the belief that 10 seconds is long enough to get the ball up past the center mark. "It will be impossible to spoil the last part of a basket-ball game by stalling," he opines. -0-"It suits me wonderfully," chimes in Hollis Huntington, Saem high coach. "That's the kind of basketball I like. It will add value to the fast break and to the zone defense." -0-Now, there's a point - the sone defense. It was pretty nearly abandoned last season by the colleges, because of so much "decoy" - now we can call it just plain stalling — all through the game. But a zone defense can cover the entire half court in which play must now be concentrated, and it ought to come back into favor.
