The fire, they understood, was in a truck in one of the pen garages.

DEEP CHANNEL IS REQUESTED

Assurance of big Traffic On Willamette Given Army Engineers

ommendations were endorsed by Capt. Albert Senn, of Dayton, veteran river boatman, who is said to have moved more logs down the river than any other man.

Among those speaking on the volume of tonnage which was a subject of special investigation by Lieut. Newcomer, Frank Gibson, manager of the Producers' cannery, Walter Jenks, dried prune shipper, K. A. Heinlein manager of the Oregon Pulp and Paper mill, W. H. Steusloff, Valley Packing company and W. M. Hamilton, manager of the Portland General Electric company told of increased tonnage which could move by water if river improvements made year-round navigation practical at reduced rates. Gibson said that the canning business was highly competitive and the lowest possible rate for putting canned goods on the Portland docks was what got the business.

Paper Company's Shipments Heavy

Heinlein said his company shipped from 350,000 to 375,000 tons of freight a year, much of which now went by water. With a better river, boats could bring up sulphur, lime rock, fuel oil and hog fuel at substantial savings.

Major Kuentz cited the act of congress which declared that provision for terminals was required before the government would make big investment in channel work. He was assured by Salem spokesmen that when the time came Salem would see to it that suitable terminals were built. Robert McBride of the Salem Navigation company offered to lease such terminals on the same basis as those now leased on the Mississippi river. He said he felt the terminal was feasible for private investment, but should be owned by the public to prevent charge of monopoly.

Allen Darr reported the results of his studies on practical terminals for the river. He had made plans and estimates on wharves to handle 100,000 tons and 25,000 tons. The former size called for a wharf 300 by 130 feet with transit shed 200x100. Such a terminal would cost $42,000. One about two-thirds this size would cost about $28,000. Cost of equipment such as trucks, conveyers, elevator, etc. would range from $8,000 to $20,000 depending on what was purchased. Owing to the wide fluctuation in river levels between high and low water an elevator would be necessary. He computed the cost for wharfage at 30 to 35c per ton at each terminal, and emphasized the importance of building the terminal for economical operation and not for a monument.

Farmers to Provide Volume of Freight

Farmers who were called on included Dean Walker, Independence hop man, J. E. Smith, county commissioner, Smith said they used to ship a lot of freight by boat but the boat would fail during low water season which was just the time the farmer had to move his produce. He said it would be cheaper for the government to improve the river than to build highways for trucks to carry the freight on.

Morton Tompkins, Grand Island legislator, farmer and cannery operator, was general of the forces making a plea for bank protection. Tompkins charged that government work on the river had caused the stream to chisel out banks which took away a lot of valuable farm land. Those with complaints on this score were Bill Magness, Wheatland, Ross Wood, Ed Lefly, George Asher of Dayton. Jim Smith told how the river would eventually cut a channel again through Horseshoe lake if it was not controlled.

Major Kuentz said that his office had no authority to deal with flood control and bank protection unless there was special act of congress. However he said they wanted to keep the channel in its present bed and promised to go over the river at an early date to see the points complained about.

He said that probably two dams would be required between here and Oregon City if the improvement of the river is ordered.

SCHOOL BUDGET TO AWAIT SUIT RESULT

Request of Mrs. Walter Denton, music week chairman for Salem, for use of school benches at the music program in the armory on May 7 was denied on the grounds that "it is not good policy to lend school property for any public event outside of the school buildings." The Girl Reserves, whose membership is made up of school girls, was granted permission to use the high school auditorium on May 11, rent free, on payment of janitor fee and light bills.

Warrant indebtedness of the district as of today is $213,262.98, Clerk W. H. Burghardt reported. He blamed the size of this sum to the fact that none of the new taxes have yet been paid the district.

Communication from the city council announcing that the city engineer had been instructed to go ahead with construction of sidewalk on the east side of 19th street between Virginia street and Nebraska avenue was read and referred to the building and grounds committee. At a previous meeting, the board had informed the city council that it would consider putting in the sidewalk along Englewood school property if the city would continue the walk past Englewood park.

ANTI-HOARDING DRIVE ON DAVY JONES

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF SCENE ON SEA BOTTOM

ILL FATED DIVING SHIP "ARTIGLIO"

DIVER RISING TO SURFACE

Resuming their salvage work where they left off last autumn, the divers of the Italian company, Sorima, will endeavor to make Father Neptune cough up $5,000,000 in gold from the strongroom of the liner Egypt, which went to the bottom in 1922, near Brest, France, after a collision with a French freighter. It took the salvagers three years to locate the wreck and three more to blast their way to the liner's strongroom. Last year they ripped the top off the cache and, with the treasure in full sight, were compelled to suspend operations owing to bad weather. However, the divers are sure that this year will see the huge store of gold safely within their grasp. With a new robot-like, metallic suit that enables them to work in comparative ease at a depth of 400 feet and a new grab of their own design, the salvagers consider the treasure as good as theirs. But there is a slight uneasiness as to whether the gold is still in the Egypt. When they abandoned the attempt last year, they were obliged to leave the strongroom uncovered, and there is a possibility that the powerful cross-currents and terrific tides may have scattered the gold over the ocean floor. Back in 1930, ten of the fourteen men comprising the crew of the first Sorima expedition were killed and the salvage ship Artiglio blown sky high. They had finished with the Egypt for the winter and were destroying the wreck of the American munition ship Florence, which was sunk during the war and had constituted a menace to shipping. A premature explosion set off hundreds of tons of shells which blew the Artiglio to smithereens. That was the only fatal accident of the six-year treasure-hunt.

Tardieu Assails America's Peace Plan As Useless

GENEVA, April 12—(AP)—The American plan for disarmament, calling for the abolition of tanks, heavy mobile guns and gas, was assailed as useless by Premier Andre Tardieu of France today before the world disarmament conference.

The French attack was based on the contention of Ambassador Hugh Gibson, who presented the American plan yesterday, that the best way to national security was through the abolition of modern aggressive weapons that have outmoded frontier fortresses and other war facilities on which security has rested in the past.

Money Inflation To Pay Bonus is Held Dangerous

WASHINGTON, April 12 — (AP)—A warning against the dangers of currency inflation came from a prominent New York financier tonight while advocates of cashing the $2,400,000,000 soldiers bonus sought an agreement on a money expansion plan.

Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City bank in New York, wrote Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), that he considers the proposed legislation for making the payment 1 nnew currency "dangerous in the extreme."

FRIENDS PASTORS HOLD CONFERENCE

Pastors of Friends churches all over the state gathered here yesterday afternoon for the Oregon Yearly Meeting Ministerial conference, in session through Friday. Conference sermon last night was preached by Frank W. Dell, superintendent of the California Yearly Meeting.

Sessions today will begin at 8:30 o'clock and last all day and in the evening. This morning a symposium on "the Church at Work" will be lead by Ezra S. Gerig of Portland, superintendent of the Union Gospel mission; Charles T. Moore and R. Ethel George.

Dr. Levi T. Pennington, president of Pacific college, Newberg, will deliver an address at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon on "Responsibility of the Church in Present World Conditions"; and tonight Chester A. Hadley, superintendent of the Friends' Yearly meeting, and Frank W. Dell will share the program.

Wilkerson Gets Promotion; Slap To Gang Leaders

WASHINGTON, April 12 — (AP)—A sharp warning to organized gangland was thrown out by a senate judiciary subcommittee today in approving the promotion of Judge James H. Wilkerson, who sent Al Capone to the penitentiary for 11 years.

The committee voted 3 to 3 to recommend confirmation of Wilkerson's nomination to the circuit court.

Shortly after the vote Chairman Borah announced he voted for Wilkerson, though he disapproved of his labor record, because he did not want to discourage those in Chicago "who are fighting for their lives against the most ruthless band of thieves, cutthroats and murderers that ever infested a civilized community."

Volcano Perils In Chile Viewed As Less Serious

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 12.—(AP)—The people in the 400-mile strip in Chile and Argentina, which has been darkened for two days by a heavy rain of ashes from border volcanoes, breathed easier today as the sun peeked feebly from the clouds. They were no longer panicky and business was resumed.

Earthquakes had subsided, with only occasional rumblings noted. Seismologists said the danger of violent eruptions of earthquakes apparently was over for the time being.

Economy Course Now to Take up Study of Foods

Starting tonight, the housewives' course in "Getting the Most for Your Dollar", being conducted jointly by the Salem school board and the state board for vocational education, will deal with foods, instead of with clothing as heretofore. Tonight's meeting at 7 o'clock will be held in room 2-P of the high school building, with Mrs. Helen M. Guiss, home economics instructor at Woodburn high school for seven years, as the speaker.

Tonight's particular topic will be: "What shall we and why?" Next week's will be: "How may we plan meals and expenditures in order to get the most for our money with maximum health for the family?" And May 27: "How may we train ourselves in food marketing and acquire a feeling of assurance and satisfaction in the buying of food?"

Labor Council Supports Civil Service Moves

Full support of the city charter amendment placing the fire department under civil service, which will be voted on at the May 20 election, was given last night by the Salem Trades and Labor council meeting at Union hall. I. R. Smith, city fireman, explained the measure to the council delegates.

Permits to Make Tonics Refused

There is no law in Oregon authorizing the state police department to consent to, or issue permits for the manufacture of tonics from apple juice, or any other ingredients, or at all, Attorney General VanWinkle held in an opinion handed down here Tuesday. The opinion was issued in connection with the application of R. D. Taft of this city, for permission to manufacture a tonic from apple juice containing 22 per cent alcohol. George Alexander, deputy superintendent of state police, requested the opinion.

note due to a 15 per cent commission allowed to himself.

Miss Graham Called To Identify Names

Miss Winifred Graham of Salem took the stand late in the afternoon to identify signatures of the officers which were made in her presence as a notary public. Cross-examination of Robinson will be continued this morning in court.

This city found the Empire case the center of community interest. More than 150 people were in the courtroom audience as the case progressed, many of them being witnesses. The state has called 41 people to testify and the defense 18. Included in the prosecution's witnesses are shareholders from many parts of the state.

In addition to the attorneys at the bar, all the defendants jointly indicated with Keller are attending the trial. They include Judge O. P. Coshow, I. H. Fetty, Dr. W. R. Adams and Jay Stockman. The legal counsellors for each of the defendants are also in constant attendance as Keller's prosecution continues.

Dallas hotel keepers reported a thriving business. One man said virtually every room in his house had been sold out.
