One Cent Drop for Standard Cubes Only Change in Day's Quotations

PORTLAND, April 13-(AP)-Increase in the make of butter which began to become burdensome, was reflected in a one-cent reduction on standard cubes today, all other quotations remaining steady. Butterfat market appears about steady with the price uniform in most sections of the Portland trade territory.

Trading in the egg market continues to reflect nothing but easiness generally throughout the country. There is little change in prices, values being held by the storing of surplus by distributors. Continued stationary values are reflected in the live chicken trade with the only weakness apparent in small broilers. Much of this depression appears artificial. With a quick rush to market of 24 1/4; September, 24 1/4-25. Columbia river asparagus, prices show a very sharp reduction here for fancy stuff. Sales are generally being made around $1 doz. bunches, a few a fraction more. Kennewick stock is down to 80-

Very firm demand is showing for California strawberries. Carload lots are quickly moved. Another one is due Thursdey. other one is due Thursday morning and is priced to sell again at $1.75 for 12s.

There is a surplus of spring radishes on the local market with a resulting sharp cut in the price. Sales in general are not being made above 40c dozen bunches.

There was practically no change in general country killed meat prices Wednesday. Veal continues to show strength with weakness and easiness in hogs and lambs, both spring and old crop stuff.

Wheat Unable to Hold Recent Eight-Cent Salem Markets Upward Bulge

CHICAGO, April 13 .- (AP)-Under a heavy load of selling to realize profits grain values tumbled today, powerless to hold fully to the recent bulge of almost 8 cents.

Most commission houses advocated profit-taking rather than new purchases in view of possible rain and because of some doubts that growing weather would justify reports of big crop damage. Variety in Offerings Recent Liquidation Waves For Poultry Seen On Local Mart

Wheat advanced two cents on the local market yesterday, to a new price range of from $3 to 55 cents. Other grain and hay remained unchanged, as did livestock and dairy products.

Considerable variety characterizes the local poultry market, with one buyer who also handles a retail end offering a top of 19 cents on colered broilers. This price is five cents above the figure offered by local jobbers who ship to the Portland market, and who base their price on Portland markets, minus freight.

Purely local dealers and jobbers who ship to Portland also varied yesterday on paying price for colored hens. The locals offer 14 cents, and jobbers 12 cents, with top of 13 cents.

Although the closing was lower, net losses in pivotal issues were largely fractional. Probably of more importance than the changes was evidence that recent waves of liquidaton had subsided into a trickle, for only 1,090,200 shares changed hands, the smallest volume in a month.
