"I'd craw a block for an alumnum roaster" is the slogan which a certain close-out sale in this city may adopt. At any rate, it would be justified in doing so. It happened the other day in Williams Self Service store, according to M. White, who is connected with the sale. The store was so crowded the doors had to be closed to keep the jam from becoming any greater, and customers were moving about with great difficulty.

One woman knew where the aluminum roasters were, and she wanted one. But she couldn't make any progress down the aisles, so she ducked under the tables and crawled nearly the length of the store to arrive at her bargain. When she arrived the roasters were all disposed of Inheritance Tax Will be Opposed.

Inheritance tax on a bequest of $10,000 made in 1926 by the late Gerome Morley to the Silverton Hospital association is not justi-fied, the hospital deslares in an answer filed yesterday in probate court to Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, who is asking payment of the tax. The hospital claims the business is run without profit that It is a mutual organization. In the answer the income and disbursements of the hospital over a 12-year period are set out.
