Japanese cherry blossoms to fringe the Pacific highway leading into Salem is the possibility A. A. McGill of Portland is asking Cherrians here to make an actuality through a project in which 2400 trees would be planted along the roadside leading into the city.

McGill met with a committee of Cherrians yesterday noon and sufficiently interested them to secure the appointment of a committee to investigate his proposal. McGill suggested trees to be planted along the roadside leading into the city.

The entire matter will come before the Cherrians at their next meeting. McGill will be remembered by residents who have lived here some time as one of the owners of the Oregon Nursery company which was in business locally from 1892 to 1908, being located on the east side of the Willamette university campus.

A large bouquet of the Japanese cherry blossoms is now on display in the show rooms of the Valley Motor Co.

and North Monmouth Ave., resulted in the wrecking of both cars concerned, although neither of the drivers was hurt.

F. E. Chambers, operator of one car, was driving east towards his home, and Virginia Shillings, the other driver was driving south when they met at the intersection. It appeared that Miss Shillings did not see the other car coming and at the intersection swung directly into Chambers' car, throwing it against the curb and breaking the left hind wheel, also tearing off the running board and fender. The Shillings' car was quite badly wrecked and the windshield shattered although luckily the driver received no cuts from the glass.
