Parties of Welcome And Farewell Popular

The spring has crept along quietly and without much enthusiasm but for a gala burst now and then in the realm of society. These bursts have come more often than not to compliment visitors in the city, new inspirations as it were, and then again there have been those for those who go away and last gestures of parting are given as delightful tokens for remembrance in lonely days far away.

This week has been one of those bursts. Two matrons, prominent in their own circles, are leaving the city. Mrs. Henry Schmah, who with Mr. Schmah will go to make her home in California soon, has been feted with many delightful affairs. Mrs. H. G. Maitson entertained Wednesday afternoon with a delightful informal bridge tea, and Tuesday a surprise handkerchief shower complimented Mrs. Schmah when Mrs. Ed Viesko and Mrs. Fred Viesko entertained at the rural home of Mrs. Fred Viesko with an evening of bridge with Mrs. Schmah as honor guest.

Several other informal affairs will be given in compliment to the popular couple before they leave Thursday for Oakland.

Mrs. J. H. Scott is the other matron who has been complimented with delightful informal affairs before her departure with Mr. Scott and family for Neakkahle where they will make their home for the next year. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mesch have taken the Scott home on South High street, in their absence.

Visitors in the city who are inspiring much entertaining are Mrs. Leon Polka, formerly a popular member of her circle in Salem, but now making her home in Yakima, who is now visiting Mrs. W. C. Polka, and Mrs. Vercoe McCormick of Seattle, guest of Mrs. Victor S. Boveille. Mrs. Boveille entertained at her home on North 13th street for Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Polka Wednesday afternoon. Cards were in play at four tables. Winning scores were held by Mrs. Albert Gragg, and Mrs. Charles McElhinney. Mrs. McCormick presented a guest prize, Mrs. Henry Hansen, mother of Mrs. Boveille, and Mrs. Dan McLellan assisted at the tea

Women's Clubs Plan Benefit Bridge

An interesting benefit is being planned for Friday, May 6, by the Salem Women's club assisted by the Salem Heights Women's club. The affair will also be attended by the Hubbard Women's club as a special guest. It is expected that the afternoon will be one of the large affairs of the late spring.

Proceeds from the benefit will go to the Salem Heights club to be applied on its building fund.
