Four Big League Scouts Eye Andy Peterson This Year

WITH YANKEES

Gribble and Walt Erickson Noticed for Promise Of Faster Ball

Coach "Spec" Keene of Willamette university has never yet seen one of his baseball players go up to the big leagues nor to class AA ball, but the showings made by his teams during the past two years and already this season have started a bunch of big league scouts scampering to the Bearcat baseball games and even to the practice field.

"Smiling" Andy Peterson is the boy whose pitching records first attracted the scouts and while viewing him in action, they have also noticed a couple of other men on the Bearcat crew who show promise of playing faster ball in the future. These are Walter Erickson, center fielder, and Lowell Gribble, third sacker.

Peterson started this season with a record behind him that any chucker would be proud to own and in his two mound appearances this spring has hurled two more contests which will stand out in Willamette university and Salem baseball history.

In his first game of the season. against O. S. C., he fanned 23 men in 12 innings, 21 of the whiffles coming in . the regular nine innings. He allowed only seven scattered hits during the dozen innings and would have won the game 2 to 0 in nine innings had not his teammates permitted two unearned runs in the fourth. The final score was 3 to 2 for the Staters.

The second game of the season Andy won 6 to 2, with his team giving him better support with the stick. He allowed the Oregon State men only three hits in that game, one being a misjudged fly which went for a triple and drove in one of the runs. Last year Peterson pitched a perfect game against College of Puget Sound, allowing no hits, no walks and none to reach first base, Andy has also chalked up several other shutouts for Willamette and some for the Salem

ed two years. A year ago last summer he Peterson wound up his collegiate season last spring by pitching and winning two games in three days from Whitman for the northwest conference champlonship. Last year for Willamette he led the hitting with an average of .598 per cent.

Last year Bill Essick of the New York Yankees and other scouts saw Andy and are said to have made him offers which he rejected because he wished to continue in college.

This spring Slapnicks of the Cleveland Indians, Essick of the Yankees, Butler of St. Louis and a Chicago Cubs scout have all been here. According to Coach "Spec" Keene, who has tutored Petersou for three seasons, Andy will probported that he will join the New would probably be farmed this

He is a heavy hitter and with the long grip he takes on the bat and his powerful swing, could easily become a fence buster. Walt has one more year here and again this summer. Lowell Gribble, who plays thirdbase, is one of the prettiest hitters on the Bearcat squad and is batting cleanup man this seaonly a sophomore and needs more playing faster ball some day.

The Willamette Bearcats will open their conference baseball season Tuesday at Albany against the Albany college Pirates.

Practice games have been played between the first and second teams for the last two days and in Friday's contest the second string men again outscored the regulars, both sides hitting against the same pitching.

The principal worry now Coach "Spec" Keene is to find two more good pitchers to be used when Peterson is not on the pling a great deal. On several co- mound. George Erickson and Russell Doescher will probably get by all right with more practice and their showings, against Oregon State were not altogether unexpected, as the Beavers are a hard hitting outfit.

Fast play and with one exception, exceedingly tight baseball marked the opening of the Mid Willamette Baseball association's season last Sunday. Equally good ball is expected for this Sunday. The Salem Pirates will play at Gervais at 2:30 although the game is officially the Pirates' home contest. Yew Park, the other Salem team, draws a bye but will play the Eagles lodge team of Salem at 2 o'clock on the Leslie diamond. The Yew Park team: has been showing up well, having won its first league game. The Eagles have a hard hitting outfit and this non-league game is certain to be an interesting contest.

Cherrians Play Third Game In Three Days; Rain Halts Game at 5th

Salem high school lost a fiveinning ball game, 10 to 0, to the Oregon State Rooks Saturday in the Corvallis rain. Rain delayed the starting of the game, but the yearlings were anxious to play and despite considerable of a downpour during the contest, five innings were waded through. This was the third ball game in as many days for the Salem high outfit, which had practiced only twice this season before the first contest. Huntington's men are still undefeated by a high school team, having won from University high 19 to 9 and from
