

Crippled S. H. S. Ball Team Faces Silvertown, Chemawa

SILVER FOXES COMING TODAY

Injuries, illness, Grades Take Toll; Mason to Occupy Mound

Considerably weakened by illness, injuries and scholastic difficulties, the Salem high school baseball team will open a difficult weekend program by meeting Silvertown high's strong outfit on Olinger field this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock. The local team will go to Chemawa Saturday to play the Indians.

With "Lefty" Schwab on the mound and Alphon Rudolph behind the mask, the same battery that led Silvertown's American Legion Junior team to a north-west championship two seasons ago, the Silver Foxes present a formidable threat to the red and black, particularly under the circumstances.

In facing the Chemawa team Coach Huntington's men will be opposing an outfit that has won three games over college teams; one from Linfield and two from Albany college.

Johnny Perrine who has been ill will play first base for Salem high today. If he is able, while Gerald Mason, regular third sacker, will occupy the mound. Perrine will probably be able to hurl against Chemawa Saturday though he may not be at his best.

Due to a general disappearance of first basemen Delroy White will probably be placed on the initial sack. Delaney is ill while Kelly and Pickens have succumbed to the epidemic of low-gradeitis.

Ramp, shortstop, and Pearson, center fielder, collided in chasing a Texas leaguer in a practice game against Willamette's reserves on Wednesday. Ramp was knocked out and Pearson's nose was broken, but they may be able to play today.

Four Swimmers To Enter State Title Contests

Salem Y. M. C. A. will send four swimmers to the state championship meet to be held at Monmouth club, Portland, tomorrow night. Entry in the 300 yard relay has been abandoned.

Swimmers from Salem and their events will be: Jim Reed, 100 yard back stroke; Bob Brownell, 200 yard dash; Lawrence Orwig, 100 yard back stroke; Wallace Hug, 100 yard dash and 100 yard free style.

Missions Under New Boss Click to Defeat Beavers Breaking Losing Streak

The Missions took advantage of the wildness of Zahniser, a former team mate, who was pitching for Portland, in the eighth. They brought in two runs on a walk, a hit batter and a single.

Roy Frazer, Missions' right fielder, received an injured ankle in the fifth inning as he collided with Hal Anderson, center fielder, during an attempt to get under a fly.

Following a conference with President Joe Bearward, the bulky pilot who took over the Missions reins last mid-season was removed from his position and replaced temporarily by Fred Hoffmann, veteran catcher. Devine was instructed to report to Albuquerque of the Arizona-Texas league as scout. The Missions use the Albuquerque club as a farm for young players.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12—(AP)—Fred Hoffmann made a successful start as manager of the Missions tonight as he led the hometown team to a 4 to 2 victory over the Portland visitors.

The win broke an eight-game losing streak for the Missions. Bert Cole, southpaw hurler, turned in his first victory of the season.

CURT COMMENTS

"The little toy dog is covered with dust."

Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., never again will play in the sunshine about the Hopewell estate, will not grow up to thrill at the great exploits of his famous father, to emulate his personal hero who is also a world hero.

Somehow that thought overshadows all else this morning, bleak, desolate morning in New Jersey and in people's hearts, all over the world.

It is just one baby gone—an infant not uniquely precious so far as the world knows, yet one idealized and thereby brought close to everyone, so that all may grieve and grieve differing only in degree from that of the actual parents, "Our baby is dead."

Uncertainty ended—yes, that is relief, quickly overshadowed by horror as it is revealed that the senseless murder was committed, probably the very night he was spirited away. A funeral, a search for the murderers, perhaps legal vengeance—all these will pass by and be forgotten but the world will still say with the Lindberghs, "Our baby is dead."

JEFFERSON AHEAD IN CASCADE RACE

JEFFERSON, May 12—The Albany-Jefferson combination clicked as usual Sunday and tightened its strangle hold on first place in the Cascade League, southern division. The boys fattened their batting average at the expense of two Stayton hurlers, lamming out 20 safe hits and running up a score of 16 to 6.

The wild slugger started in the first inning, with one out, Libby singled to center field, stole second and trotted in when Hecker lammed a hard drive to left. An error with three two baggers in a row by Blackwell, Harper and Fink brought the score up to five.

Three singles and three more doubles in the fourth were good for six counts, two came across in the sixth, another pair in the seventh and Hecker added the sixteenth in the last canto when Blackwell drove a scorcher past third for two bases.

Hampton twirled a steady game, but was out of luck in the first. Three-baggers in the second by Keach and Fink were good for two runs. A couple more were added in the seventh on a double and two singles. In the ninth Louie doubled, Bradley crashed a three bagger over the left field fence and scored when Keach hit to the infield.

HIBERGER CASE IS IN CIRCUIT COURT

The case of L. Hiberger and Josephine Gabriel against Mr. and Mrs. Looney of the Zoo auto park and Frank Collier, Portland attorney, was started in circuit court yesterday before Judge Fred W. Wilson of The Dalles.

Plaintiffs are accusing the defendants of handling a mortgage foreclosure in such manner that there was intent to defraud. They are basing their case mainly on allegation that defendant, Mrs. Looney, holder of a mortgage on the old Ames auto park, the place involved, started foreclosure proceedings before interest on mortgage was actually due.

Most of yesterday was occupied with testimony of Josephine Gabriel, who purchased half interest in the park and businesses attached thereto from Hiberger after he bought from and gave mortgages to Lila Ames, later the Mrs. Looney of the complaint.

BUILDING ACTIVITY HERE MAKES GAIN

The first four days of this week have surpassed all of last week both in the number and the size of building permits issued. The sixteenth permit was issued yesterday, topping last week by one, and the total cost of the construction called for will amount to $9045, more than twice last week's total.

Mrs. Henry Talbot received a permit to build a house at 850 Parrish street at cost of $2000, the second new dwelling announced this week. Earlier in the week E. Feiler took out a permit to build a 1000 house at 354 North 23rd street.

Concrete is being poured in the forms of the new $4000 home of the firms of Pratt and Rasmussen and Carl E. Armprist, 554 Ferry street. Numerous small construction jobs are going on.

FLUNK DAY SUCCESS STAYTON, MAY 12

STAYTON, May 12—Tuesday was annual Flunk Day for the senior class and they took advantage of the occasion to spend the day at Cascadia. They left early, planning to prepare their breakfast at the resort. Miss Margaret Ireland, Dave M. John chaperoned the group.

GOSHOW TELLS EMPIRE STORY

Not Aware of Statement in Application That Cash Was Paid for Stock

subscribed, most of his money was in property and he could not turn it into cash without a great sacrifice. He said that he certainly expected to pay his note and still planned to do so. C. J. Keller suggested that he pay Coshow the commission and let Coshow apply this on his note but Coshow objected. He said that if this was done and there was ever any investigation it would look as if he had tried to conceal something. In accordance with his wishes he was credited with $3000 on his note. He also stated that his note had originally been made out at 6 per cent but later, when they had agreed to increase the interest on subscription notes, he had changed this to 7 per cent.

No Misrepresentation Made, He Declares
Coshow denies that he had ever made any misrepresentation to anybody regarding salaries or the officers' subscriptions. He said that he thought the statements made by witnesses regarding the placing of the money collected with the state were absurd because no law required this. He stated that the securities would be deposited with the state insurance commission to qualify the subsidiaries as was required by the law.

The judge recalled conversations he had with several of the witnesses who testified for the state and told of the statements made him and the circumstances under which these were made. He said he told people no salaries would be paid to directors until they were working with the subsidiaries and not that salaries would be paid to the officers of the Empire corporation. In regard to the amount paid by the officers, Judge Coshow said that he told prospects that the officers had come in on the same basis as everyone else, meaning that the officers bought the same kind of stock, paid the same price and paid the same interest on their notes. The judge also told why he made statements to others and what he meant by these.

In closing his direct examination, Walter Keyes, defense attorney, asked Judge Coshow if all his dealings with the Empire Holding corporation had been in good faith. The question was asked by Mr. Goldstein but Judge Walker allowed the witness to answer. Coshow stated that all his dealings had been in good faith and that he had had confidence in the corporation's success.

In the cross-examination, Judge Coshow was not certain about actual date he had signed his contract for his salary but was certain that it was in November 1930 and not prior to October 16, 1930 as testified by George Robinson. He also was indefinite about the date he was elected president of the holding company. He said that he was told that he was elected president because of his ability and integrity and that he had never questioned this. Coshow stated that he thought he had signed his note after the permit to sell stock was granted but when shown the note which was dated November 14, 1930, said that was the date as the note was not back dated.

Coshow, Goldstein In Verbal Clashes
Throughout the cross-examination, Mr. Goldstein attempted to get Coshow to agree to statements as he made them but the judge evaded these and shaped his answers. Just before the close of the session today, the court was enlivened by two verbal battles between Judge Coshow and Mr. Goldstein. On the first occasion, Judge Coshow said that he had testified before the grand jury after the stockholders' meeting which would place the date on December 8, 1930. Mr. Goldstein produced a waiver which was dated December 1 which was to show that Judge Coshow went before the grand jury on that date. The judge maintained his stand that he testified on December 8 and continued to do so under the threat that if he did not, the foreman of the Marion county grand jury testify about the date Coshow went before the grand jury.

The second action came when Goldstein was questioning Coshow about the statements made to Dave Shambrook. Coshow denied that he had told Shambrook that he had "put in dollar for dollar the same as you and the others" and Goldstein asked him if it was not true that when this conversation took place he had only paid in $550. Coshow stated that at that time he had paid in $2000. When Goldstein attempted to prove Coshow was wrong by referring to Coshow's note, he found that the first payment of $300 had been made in December 1930 and the second of $1200 had been made on January 5, 1931. This was several days before the conversation with Shambrook.

Joseph Vollmer of Portland, successor of Dr. Clancy as secretary of the Empire Holding corporation, testified that copies of the reports made by Coshow at the stockholders meeting in December 1930 were missing from the files. When Coshow took the stand, the defense introduced his personal copies of these reports and they were read to the jury.

The morning session was taken up with character witnesses and the reading of Coshow's letters which were missing from the files of the Empire company.

At the close of today's sessions, Judge Walker told the jury that court would be in session Saturday which would indicate that the case will either go to the jury Saturday afternoon or Monday morning. In the Keller trial Walker refused to give the case to the jury late Saturday afternoon but he has made no statement about this in this case.

Coshow Identifies Sheet of Letters
Judge Coshow was called to the stand to identify a sheet of carbon copies of letters written by him while president of the Empire Holding corporation.

"How did you obtain these letters," "I directed my secretary to get them," the judge answered. "Are these all the letters," asked Goldstein.

"I assume so," was the reply. "Why did you remove them from the files," he was asked. "Because of a rumor that came to me that they would be used against me; I didn't remember what the letters contained but I wanted them so I could submit them to my attorney."

The judge then asked if he had notified the office that he had taken the letters and he replied in the negative.

Walter Keyes, counsel for Coshow, then began reading the letters, one by one, to the jury.

Coshow's defense attorneys, Walter Keyes and Fred W. Wilson, introduced the letters which had been written principally for directors through the purchase of $20,000 in stock, affirmed these facts:

ALLOCATION OF COURSES TOLD

Lower Division Work and Teacher Training Same At Both Colleges

two years work, is offered on essentially the same basis at both Eugene and Corvallis for the degree schools of business administration, fine arts, home economics, journalism, physical education, science, social sciences and literature, language and art.

Necessary service courses in these same fields are provided on both campuses for the students in the technical and professional schools.

Teacher Training
On Parallel Basis
"Preparation for teaching," the poster lists high school teacher training as being provided on a parallel basis for assignments at both Corvallis and Eugene. At Eugene will be general education courses, training for educational administration, and the training of teachers of literature, languages, arts, music, physical education, business administration, the social sciences and approved combination of subjects.

At Corvallis will be the training of teachers for the biological and physical sciences, mathematics, agriculture, home economics, industrial arts, educational and vocational guidance and approved combination of subjects. The two-year course in secretarial training at Corvallis combined with the usual teacher training requirements will qualify students for the teaching of secretarial subjects.

Elementary teacher training is provided at Ashland, LaGrande and Monmouth on a comparable basis through two-year curricula leading to the state normal school diploma. This entitles graduates to teach in the elementary schools.

Deans, Directors Of System Listed
Deans and directors of the Oregon state system of higher education under the new set-up follow:

Clarence V. Boyer, Eugene, dean and director of literature, language and arts.
Ava M. Milan, Corvallis, dean and director of home economics.
James Henry Gilbert, Eugene, dean and director of social sciences.

William A. Schoenfeld, Corvallis, dean and director of agriculture.
Wayne L. Morse, Eugene, dean and director of law.
Richard B. Dillehunt, Portland, dean and director of medicine.

J. A. Churchill, Ashland, president of Oregon normal school and director of elementary training.
Alfred Powers, Eugene, director of extension.
P. V. Maris, Corvallis, director of cooperative extension.

Eliwood M. Smith, Corvallis, director of lower division.
Earl Leroy Packard, Eugene, dean and director of sciences.
Harrison Val Hoyt, Corvallis, dean and director of business administration and commerce.
H. S. Rogers, Corvallis, dean and director of engineering.

Portland, dean and director of fine arts.
George W. Peary, Corvallis, dean and director of forestry.
John F. Bovard, Eugene, dean and director of physical education.

Adolph Ziedle, Corvallis, dean and director of pharmacy.
William A. Schoenfeld, Corvallis, director of cooperative research.

Copies of the poster are now being distributed among all of the high schools of the state, for the benefit of teachers and students.

Girl Rescues Birds' Eggs; They Hatch!

And they hatched! Frances Alice Kells, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kells, 350 Levee street, is telling her friends this week how successful was her saving of a nest of China pheasant eggs from threat of destruction two weeks ago.

Frances found the eggs, 21 in number, when a lumber truck frightened the pheasant hen from the nest on the property of her neighbor, Professor E. T. Brown of Willamette university. As the nest was in line with the location of a fence the professor was planning to build, the eggs had to go. Some of her girl friends wanted to smash the eggs or to throw them in the creek.

But Frances gathered up the warm eggs in her apron, took them home, and there laid them in a box of rags. She kept them warm with an electric pad until she obtained a setting hen from a farmer friend.

Izaak Walton League Head Lauds Outdoor Playground Available Close to Salem

World champion fly-fly angler, and widely-traveled sportsman, Captain Frank Winch, head of the Izaak Walton league and manager of the Gilmore bureau of sports, yesterday regaled members of the Lions club with tales of his outdoor experiences and urged them to promote conservation of the Pacific coast's wild life. Members of other service organizations of the city were guests.

The average sportsman does no damage, held Captain Winch. To show the magnitude of wild life sports, he mentioned that $25,000,000 annually is spent on guns, $45,000,000 on ammunition and $25,000,000 on tackle. The investment in national parks is $24,500,000, in hatcheries $4,000,000 and in game sanctuaries $2,000,000. The nation has 44,000,000 miles of outdoor land, he said.

"With an outdoor investment of $3,000,000,000, we spend for that investment the modest sum of $12,000,000 annually," he said dishearteningly.

Entry List Open For River Event

M. Clifford Moynihan, secretary of the Salem Boat club, announced yesterday that he had received entry blanks for the illuminated parade which will be a feature of the Portland Rose festival next month. Boat owners desiring to enter may obtain the blanks at his office.

St. Paul School Team is Winner

ST. PAUL, May 12—The St. Paul union high school won two successive victories by defeating the St. Paul town team, Sunday, by a score of 17 to 9 and Hubbard high school, Tuesday, by a score of 13 to 18. These games were played on the St. Paul diamond.

HUBBARD, May 12—Hubbard won 7 to 0 from Canby in a baseball game played there Monday afternoon.
