Occurrences and Gossip at the center of Oregon's state government

RALPH HAMILTON, formerly a resident of Bend, but now a practicing lawyer in Portland, was in Salem yesterday conferring with state officials and employees. Hamilton served as speaker of the house of representatives in the state legislature four years ago, and has held numerous other offices of public trust. Ralph was the most consistent pipe smoker in the legislature.

Fred Buchtel, at one time a member of the old public service commission, but now a public statistician in Portland, spent yesterday in Salem conferring with Henry M. Hansen, state budget director, and other officials here. He said the recall election in Portland was bitterly contested, and was the most interesting event of his kind ever held in the metropolis.

Allan Bynon of Portland, recently nominated for the office of state senator from Multnomah county, was a visitor in Salem yesterday. Bynon previously served as a member of the lower house, prior to losing in Portland several years ago. Bynon lived in Salem where he practiced law. He always was favored with important committee assignments, and was an active legislator.

Edward Bailey, prominent Lane county attorney, at one time democratic nominee for governor, drifted into Salem yesterday and spent several hours visiting with old-time friends. Ed previously served as a member of the state bonus commission and was in the state senate. Mr. Bailey indicated that he was through with politics, and hereafter would devote his entire time to his law practice.

General Riley of the state military department, will represent Governor Meier at the dedication of the new Rogue River bridge at Wedderburn next Saturday, it was announced at the executive department yesterday. R. H. Baldock, state highway engineer; C. B. McMullough, state bridge engineer, and the three members of the state highway commission, also will attend. McMullough will have an important part in the ceremonies.

Awarding of numerous road contracts recently has stimulated condemnation proceedings in many counties in Oregon. J. M. Devers, attorney for the state highway commission, announced yesterday. Devers returned here late Tuesday from Arlington, and will leave today for southern Oregon. Most of the condemnation suits are in connection with highway routes.

William Evans, of book store fame, paid the capitol press room a visit yesterday for the first time since the primary election. Bill was one of those who "also ran" for councilman. He has no allits to offer, however, and has sent congratulations to his opponent. Evans declared that he had obtained his fill of politics, and hereafter would be found in the ranks of the private citizen.

Governor Meier, upon his return from a recent week-end trip on his desk a report showing the comparative wages paid employees of the state printing department and in commercial shops. The governor said he had received complaints that the wage scale in the state plant was higher than in the private printing offices. If this is true, an adjustment will follow, the governor indicated.

Frank Davey of Silverton, who was defeated for the republican nomination for state representative at the recent primary election, was a caller at the capitol press room yesterday. Frank is an old time newspaper man, and has many friends in the fraternity. Davey at one time served as speaker of the house of representatives in the Oregon legislature.

Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer, has indicated that he soon will tell the people of Salem why he ran behind his opponent here at the recent primary election. Milton Scherping of Portland, carried Salem over Holman by approximately 200 votes. Holman won over Scherping in the county by a large margin. It was reported that the state employee had something to do with Holman's defeat in the city of Salem.

Newell Williams dropped into the capitol press room today, and explained why and how several successful candidates at the primary election, put it over. Williams said the singing of a Salem quartet had much to do with the election of Dr. L. E. Barlick for coroner.

The state police department which was organized last August now has more than 50,000 complete criminal records, Charles P. Pray, superintendent, announced. The criminal identification bureau is conducted at the state penitentiary, with Joe Murray, Bertillon expert, in charge. Many of the original records were received from the criminal identification bureaus at Sacramento and Seattle.

Many state employees are watching with interest Oregon's proposed program of power without cost to the taxpayers. The only power plant thus far proposed under the program was estimated to cost $150,000. No bidders has as yet

RECORD CROWD AT H. S. STYLE SHOW

Esther Gibbard Wins Creech Cup; Other Awards for Work Announced

The fifth annual style show and tea honoring Salem high school girls and their mothers was given in the school auditorium and gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The show by the Home Economics club, the tea by the Girls' League. An estimated crowd of 600 persons attended, the largest ever known.

At the style show in the auditorium, winners of the home economics honor pins and of the Julia Creech cup were announced. Mrs. Eula S. Creech, head of the department, presented the pins to Dorothy Krebs, Beth DeLapp, Clara Jane Harms, Doris McCallister and Wilma Johnson, seniors, and Carolyn LaDue and Lucille Hackett, juniors.

Honorable mention was made of Marjorie Sanders, Doris Davis, Hazel Clark and Lolalde Pickens, seniors, and Dorothy Beckley, Mary Lois Driggs, Jean Gardner, Ruth Morris and Dorothene Corey, juniors.

Esther Gibbard was presented the Creech cup for 1932, by Miss Mildred Christensen, as the outstanding girl in the home economics department this year. Award of the pins and cup is based on the girls' dependability, cooperative spirit, character and ideals, leadership, friendliness, cheerfulness and good scholarship.

At the style show, 32 attractive garments made by the girls were presented in interesting fashion. Continuity for the show was written by Esther Gibbard. Display of the garments was made on the stage in a setting of a modernistic tea room, called "The Sign of the Pewter Cup." Officers and others of the club sat at the tea tables during the presentation.

More than twice as many garments were shown this year as at the first show four years ago. Types were: pajamas, school dresses, blouses and skirts, afternoon dresses, make-over garments, suits and coats, and graduation dresses.

The committee which had charge of the show included Lucille Hackett, chairman, Clara Jane Harms, Dorothy Beckley, made an appearance.

C. C. Hulet, ex-master of the state grange, and unsuccessful candidate for congress in the first district at Friday's primary election, spent part of yesterday in Salem. He conferred with state officials. Mr. Hulet lives in Albany.

Coming Events

May 23-26 — Pacific Synod annual convention, at American Lutheran church.
May 25-26-27 — Oregon Farmers' Union convention, May 26—Red Hills grange, entertaining state grange officers, Saturday, 8 o'clock.
June 26 — Missoula state picnic.
August 14 — Dakota picnic.

Dora Davis and Margaret Ziellinski. The stage setting was prepared by the high school stagecraft class.

At the tea served in the gymnasium by the members of the Girls' League, a musical program was presented by Helen Purvine, violinist, and Helen Benner, pianist.

INTERESTING CHECK CASE SLATED TODAY

The state's case against James Anderson and H. A. Thiessen, charged with giving a check without sufficient funds, will be heard before Justice of the Peace Miller Hayden at 10 o'clock this morning. W. L. Hutchinson is private prosecutor.

The case involves a check for $158.85 on the Oregon Feed and Flour company, signed by Anderson and counter signed by Thiessen, and made to one L. O. Herrold, assignee, who endorsed it to Hutchinson.

The defense will rely on the legal propositions that the check in question was given for an existing obligation and was originally postdated to the knowledge of the payee and is expected to further contend that the action is being prosecuted for the purpose of compelling payment from the officers of the Oregon Feed and Flour company of an obligation of the firm which is now otherwise uncollectable in view of the fact that the corporation some time ago made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors.

Home talent featured the Rotary club program Wednesday noon when the promised speaker failed to arrive. The circular to all the clubs announcing the unanimous nomination of William McGilchrist, Jr., for district governor was read. The nomination will be ratified at the international convention in June.

COUNTY ROAD WORK EMPLOYS 100 MEN

Operations on the county roads are increasing following the recent heavy rains. At present there are about 100 men at work on road construction and it is expected that this number will be augmented as summer comes on.

All four county tractors are again at work after having been held up by the rains. Roadmaster Johnson sent one to the Talbot-Buena Vista road, another to the Grabenhorn-Fringe road, another in district No. 3 1/2 near Woodburn and the fourth to district No. 15 1/2 near the Silverton golf links. Johnson also reports that work has been started under Bill McMillan on the Victor Point road south with a crew shooting stumps on Market road No. 79.

SCHOOL DISTRICT CANDIDATES EYED

A movement is on foot among the younger business and professional men of Salem to sponsor a candidate in the annual school election which will be held on June 20. At this election, two school board positions will be filled. Terms of Mark D. McCallister and E. L. Wedder will end at that time and it is understood neither will run for reelection.

The first nominating petition to be filed is for Mrs. David Wright, prominent in women's club affairs. The board now has one woman director, Mrs. R. S. Keena. Petitions are being circulated for the nomination of Dr. B. F. Pound, past president of the Marion county Parent-Teacher association.

Kenneth Perry, young professional man, is being talked as the candidate of the Young Men's Republican club.

Mrs. Mildred Robertson Brooks

Dear Friends and Fellow Citizens:—

I take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude for the magnificent vote you gave me in the primary election for the Office of County Recorder. I assure you that you will receive honest and efficient service and courteous treatment from my deputies and myself during my term of office. I thank you.

Do you inhale?

Almost an "untouchable" subject in cigarette advertising

...yet 7 out of 10 smokers inhale knowingly—and the other 3 inhale unknowingly!

REALLY now—how often have you wondered why the subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising?

Why the mystery? Why the silence? We all inhale—knowingly or unknowingly! Each and every one of us breathes in some part of the smoke from our cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to bring up this vital question—

For Luckies have the answer! Luckies assure you the clean, pure cigarette you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

"Fifty million smokers can't be wrong!"

"It's toasted"
