'SO BIG' COMING SUNDAY, ELSINORE

Barbara Stanwyck Star in Well Known Vehicle; Cast Prominent

"So Big" is Barbara Stanwyck's newest Warner Bros. starring picture, which will open Sunday at the Elsinore. It has been given one of the most elaborate productions ever devoted to any product of the Hollywood studios, and as the story covers a period of years the many characters appear in the costumes of the eighties, the nineties and the nineteen-hundreds. Some of these characters are played by such prominent actors as George Brent, Bette Davis, Mae Madison, Hardie Albright, Robert Warwick, Alan Hale and Dorothy Peterson—not forgetting by any means five-year-old Dickie Moore. Bustles and pantaloons and leg-o-mutton sleeves, those strange ways in which former generations got themselves up, are seen to the life in "So Big," and then they gradually disappear as the plot moves down the years to the life of today.

"So Big" has achieved an outstanding success in all the cities where it has thus been shown. It has attracted not only the ordinary picture-going public, but thousands of Edna Ferber's book.

'IRON MAN' COMES TO GRAND THEATRE

"Iron Man," starring Lew Ayres, will be the attraction at the Grand theatre today. This Universal film is considered one of the strong pictures of the season. It is a great love story from the pen of W. R. Burnett, who is also the author of "Little Caesar." Both novels were selected as the "book of the month," and have been tremendous sellers. "Iron Man" tells the story of the rise and fall of a prizefighter. It is a powerful story, rooted deeply in American life, and with a passionate, if unusual, love theme.

Tom Browning, who was responsible for the filming of most of Lon Chaney's successes, directed "Iron Man."

Francis Edwards Faragoh, who received great credit for his work in preparing the adaptation and dialogue of "Little Caesar," also wrote the script and dialogue for this W. R. Burnett story.

- GRAND Today—Law Ayres in "Iron Man." Wednesday—Betty Compton in "The Gay Diplomat." ELSINORE Today—Barbara Stanwyck in "So Big." CAPITOL Today—Walter Huston and Dorothy Jordan in "The Wet Parade." HOLLYWOOD Today—Wallace Beery, Clark Gable in "Hell Divers." Wednesday—Marlene Dietrich in return engagement, "Morocco." Friday—Bob Steel in "Nevada Buckaroo."

at the Hollywood today, combines the most remarkable airplane maneuvers ever staged by the navy with a dramatic plot that, with all its romantic qualities, has something heroic in it.

Filmed at Panama during the naval maneuvers, aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga, and at North Island, "Hell Divers" has all the sensations of the great naval concentration in which the entire battle fleet figured.

Hundreds of planes wheel and dive through breath-taking stunts in formation. The bombing planes, known as "Hell Divers," hurl themselves straight down two miles in less than half a minute, to catapult bombs at a ship target.

TEACHERS RETURN HOME ORCHARD HEIGHTS, May 28.—Two teachers whose homes are in this neighborhood have completed their terms and are home for the summer. They are Mrs. J. B. Best, teacher of the Fir Grove school and Miss Ethel McDowell who taught the lower grades at Pratum. Both Mrs. Best and Miss McDowell have been re-hired for next year.

Drama of Prohi Battle at Capitol on Sunday; Three Historic Periods Covered

The chaos, fervid excitement and intense drama of modern times provide a sensational background for "The Wet Parade," opening at the Capitol Sunday as one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most important releases. The picture covers three national periods, the pre-war era, the war years during which the prohibition enactment was passed and the modern period in which flagrant disregard of the law has given rise to innumerable dramatic conflicts and has resulted in such typically modern phenomena as racketeers, crime waves, political corruption, kidnapping rings, speakeasies and graft in hundreds of forms.

The picture strikes the pulse of life as it is lived in the United States today. Its episodes are such as may be read about in the daily news columns and editorial pages, but as was the case of such M-G-M hits as "The Big Parade" and "The Big House," its great theme merely serves as a background to the intimate and stirring love story of the plot. This story concerns the daughter of a southern aristocrat whose attempt to live up to the reputation of southern gentlemen and the impoverishment of his family and eventually causes him to commit suicide.

The unusually strong cast also includes Neil Hamilton, as Miss Jordan's brother; the amusing Jimmy Durante, who, as a revenue agent, contributes numerous laughs to various episodes; Wallace Ford, remembered for his excellent work opposite Joan Crawford in "Possessed"; Myrna Loy, Joan Marsh, John Miljan, Emma Dunn, Frederick Burton, Clarence Muse, Clara Blandick, Reginald Barlow, John Larkin, Gertrude Howard, Forrester Harvey and John Beck. The production was filmed under the direction of Victor Fleming.

15 EIGHTH GRADE PUPILS GRADUATE

SALEM HEIGHTS, May 28.—A large attendance greeted the eighth grade graduating class of the Salem Heights school when the exercises were held at the community hall Thursday night. The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion with a profusion of spring flowers which were set off by suffused stage lighting. After the march of graduates and the opening piano solo by Miss Edith Findler, Dr. D. Craig, chairman of the board, addressed the graduating class on "Loyalty."

This was followed by the evening's musical program after which, County School Superintendent Mary L. Fulkerson gave the class an interesting and instructive talk on, "The Fellow Who Rocks the Boat" admonishing the young folk that it was the rower and not the rider or "the fellow who rocked the boat" that reached his or her objective. The superintendent then presented the class with certificates of graduation.

Following this the flower girls presented each member of the graduating class with a beautiful bouquet. Cecile Wiegand, principal and eighth grade teacher, was presented with a beautiful corsage bouquet by her class. The chairman in behalf of the school board then thanked her and expressed the board's deep appreciation for the excellent work and record she has achieved while teaching in this district.
