Unexplained Connection of Taxi man With Sharpe Woman Under Probe

"I cannot be certain one way or the other just now."
The retired professor then asked that he be allowed time to refresh his memory and then confront Brinkert again.

The second main line of police inquiry regarding Brinkert revolved about the fact that he was one of the few persons who had an opportunity to know the Lindberghs were at their Hopewell home on the night of the kidnaping. This was established by police upon information from Miss Sharpe that she had had a telephone conversation with Brinkert during the afternoon of March 1 after a cold developed by the infant had caused the Lindberghs to reverse previous plans and inform the Morrow household they would remain at Hopewell.

New Rochelle police, assisted by two investigators from New Jersey, worked in relays in their intense questioning of Brinkert.

Detective Roy P. Turner, of nearby White Plains, N. Y., was credited with bringing about the apprehension of Brinkert through the tracing of a telephone call the taxi man made from New Rochelle to a White Plains friend.

At Tronton, N. J., Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, state police head, said handwriting experts would seek to determine whether there was similarity between the handwriting of Brinkert and that appearing in ransom notes received by the Lindberghs.

CONGRATS!

There must be something in the popular belief that sailors have a way with them. No sooner had Midshipman William H. Holmes received the sheepskin at Annapolis graduation ceremonies that automatically made him an Ensign in the U. S. Navy than he was the recipient of this swell congratulatory note from Miss Frances Stone. Both are of Oklahoma City.

TULE FLOOD FIGHT APPARENT FAILURE

KLAMATH FALLS, June 10—(AP)—One hundred tired flood workers tonight turned their battle to a new front against the Tule lake flood waters, feverishly endeavoring to save a 400-acre tract enclosed by a weakened levee.

Hope of patching up the 100-foot break in a private embankment was abandoned as the waters rushed over 1000 acres of valuable grain land on the Cox brothers' government leases.

Scores of men waded in mud to save the remaining Cox holdings and to prevent inundation of the extensive Haskins and Kanders ranches to the south.

Crews were gathered late Thursday night in Klamath Falls and Merrill to reinforce the farmers and ranchers who responded at first word of the break, but efforts to bolster the dykes failed.

Timbers and sandbags were swept away as quickly as they were placed in the gaps, and government officials expressed belief today the rush of the waters would continue until the depth of the submerged area rose to equalize the Tule lake sump.

CHURCH SERVICES IN PARK PLANNED

The 12th annual series of Sunday afternoon worship services in Willson park will begin on July 10, C. A. Kells, veteran in charge, announced yesterday.

These services are sponsored by the churches of the city and the Y. M. C. A., through the Salem Ministerial association.

The services will be conducted as last year, with one church responsible for the program and speaker each Sunday. The series will run for eight Sundays, ending August 28. Whether or not the various churches hold the regular evening services during this period, will be decided by each group.

Always well attended, the services this year will draw large outdoor congregations, if advance interest continues, according to Kells.

PORTLAND, June 10—(AP)—The Oregon Pioneer association will hold its 60th annual reunion here June 15. The women's auxiliary is planning a banquet for the afternoon of that day.

JUDGE REFUSES TO RECOMMEND ACTION

In Goldstein's letter to Carson, date June 7, he writes: "It appears that the expense caused to Marion county for the trial of each case approximates $3700. I do not feel warranted in causing this additional expense to be borne by Marion county for the trial of Fetty without your consent."

"Goldstein then asked Carson to refer the matter to Judge McMahan for his advice. In the conclusion of Judge McMahan's letter to Carson, he writes: "I think that any recommendation made by you would perhaps be followed by Judge Walker, and that the public would be satisfied with whatever decision you might make in the case."

Last year, employees under Commissioner Walter Low mowed many of the vacant lots but in most cases did not remove the grass.

FAMILY HAS FAITH GIRL NOT INVOLVED

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., June 10—(AP)—Despite suspicions of police that Violet Sharpe, waitress in the Morrow home, had guilty knowledge of the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow today reiterated her faith in the woman's innocence even after the servant had committed suicide.

All members of the Morrow household had grown fond of her since she joined the staff of servants nearly two years ago.

The shock of the latest tragedy in the Lindbergh case—the suicide of Violet Sharpe—was softened for Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh by the thoughtfulness of her family. Colonel Lindbergh and other members of the family hastened to her side, broke the news gently and saw that inadvertently she did not visit the part of the house where the body of Miss Sharpe lay.

Absolve Logger Of Threatening Loan Firm Head

PORTLAND, Ore., June 10—(AP)—George Diskz, 40, Aberdeen, Wash., logger, was found not guilty in circuit court here today on a charge of pointing a pistol at members of Jay S. Moltzner's family.

Diskz was arrested after going three times to Moltzner's home in an effort to recover about $2600 tied up in the Guardian Building & Loan association when it was taken over by the state corporation department.

Moltzner, the complaining witness, was recently sentenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary when convicted of unlawfully loaning money of the Building and Loan association, of which he was manager-director, without security.

WAITRESS OFFERS IMPORTANT CLUES

played by Mrs. Morrow, the slain baby's grandmother, for a year and a half. She has been questioned repeatedly since the child was stolen March 1.

In the early examination of Miss Sharpe she refused to tell where she had been the night of the crime. She wouldn't talk about a telephone call she had gone out with that night. She wouldn't reveal the name of the man she went out with. And insofar as she did talk, her statements were conflicting.

Police concentrated on breaking down her defiant resistance. Yesterday they began to break through. They brought her pictures of men whose names had been found in her room. She pointed to the picture of Brinkert. He, she said, was the man she had talked to on the telephone; he was the man she had gone out with that night. She was so nervous her questioners feared to press her further except with a physician in attendance.

Shortly before noon today the police went to the Morrow home and told Charles Springer, secretary to the late Senator Morrow, to have the maid prepare herself for further examination. The young woman went to her room and poured crystals from a can marked "poison" into a glass, let the crystals dissolve, and drank the deadly draft.

Rider and Horse Tumble 75 Feet; Injuries Severe

THE DALLES, Ore., June 10—(AP)—Jake Raider, 23, of Wasco, was brought to a hospital here tonight to be treated for serious injuries sustained when he tumbled over a 75-foot embankment the breaks of the John Day river, while he was riding horseback.

First intimation of the accident was given neighboring farmers when the horse, scratched and bruised, limped to a ranch house. Raider lay helpless 16 hours before the farmers discovered him. Physicians said he received a skull fracture and other injuries that may prove fatal.

NO OUSTER DEMAND FACES GAME BOARD

Complaints of a constructive nature to the state game commission were presented informally to Governor Julius L. Meier Friday by the Multnomah Anglers' club, but no demands were made of the governor to dismiss the chairman and three members of the state game commission.

This was the statement the governor made over the telephone from his office in Portland following a conference with the sportsmen. Reports here and at Portland stated the sportsmen were to demand the resignation of the commissioners.

Governor Meier did not say what the complaints made were, but emphasized that there was no discussion of dismissal. The reports published during the day in a Portland paper were that sportsmen were to demand

Car Men Favor Reduced Hours

PORTLAND, Ore., June 10—(AP)—Portland streetcar men declared themselves in favor of a 6-hour day by a vote of 786 to 110 today. The move, which needs only acceptance by the Portland Traction company to put it into effect, was taken to save the jobs of 225 men who might otherwise have been removed from the payroll because of extended one-man car operations.
