

Juniors to Silverton Today; Sunday Game at Woodburn

SUDDEN CHANGE MADE IN PLANS

North Enders Cannot Play In Forenoon; Only one Home Game Left

On the eve of their departure for one exceedingly tough game at Silverton today, the Salem American Legion Juniors also faced the prospect of playing their Sunday game of this weekend's series on foreign soil.

The Woodburn team was unable to come here Sunday forenoon, the Senators have first call on Olinger field for the afternoon, suggestion of a midweek game was also unsatisfactory, as the north end team, so the upshot was that Salem agreed to play at Woodburn Sunday afternoon, though the Salem team will be the home team officially.

Both games will be played at 3 o'clock. The Juniors will gather at Olinger field and leave for Silverton at 1:15 today, and fans who are going and have room in their cars are asked to stop at Olinger field on the chance they may be assigned some players to transport, according to an announcement by Oliver B. Huston, manager.

Stayton Game Only One Remains Here

The same hour of departure and the same appeal for help in transporting players applies to Sunday and the Woodburn trip. This change in plans leaves only one game of the county series to be played in Salem, that with Stayton a week from today.

If past experience of the Salem team is any criterion, it will be at its best today and Sunday. In practices before last weekend's successful campaign, and even in warming up practice before the games, the boys looked "terrific" but they played like champions in both games.

Francis Gatchell will pitch for Salem today and will probably be opposed by Coomer, "rainbow" hurler who has had considerable success with his slow lob this season both for Salem high and in early Legion Junior games. Nick Serdotz is expected to be Coach Harold Hauk's choice to hurl against Woodburn Sunday, with "Lefty" Leffler opposing him. Jesse West and Gardner, the latter an ex-coast leaguer, will be the umpires at Silverton today. At Woodburn Sunday Deetz will team with Ralph Mason in the officiating task.

GOOD pitching!
Its importance to big league teams barging ahead toward pennantville was never more clearly exemplified than in the last few weeks of the major league pennant races. It is that string of wins there were four consecutive shutouts. A run of forty consecutive scoreless innings, one inning less than the American League record set by Cleveland in 1908. What difference did it make that the team was not hitting anywhere near its average? What matter that the great Babe Ruth was hitting under .300 for the first time in many years? Why, no matter at all, for the Yankee hurling staff was dishing up a brand of pitching that was almost impossible to beat.

Usually, during a prolonged winning streak, long, hard clotting, with home runs plentifully interspersed, is credited with most of the victories. But let the pitching fail and there goes the winning streak. All the hitting and run making in the world doesn't mean a thing if the other team is also hitting and scoring more runs. As the pitching staff goes, so goes the ball club, if you'll pardon an old saw.

George Pipgras, "Great Dane" of the Yankees, scored one of those four straight shutouts, the other three falling to the lot of the regular staff hurlers, Gomez, Allen and Ruffing. Incidentally Pipgras is well on the way to the form he displayed in 1930 when he accounted for fifteen winning games, three of them shutouts.

CURT COMMENTS

Mountain climbing is a thrilling sport, but doesn't combine well with baseball. And so all outfielders who have played recently on Olinger field will, we are sure, give three rousing cheers for Frank Bashor, who has been out there with grader and other implements the last few days, removing mountains and mole hills and whatnot.

So the outfielders will be able to covet Sunday without risking so many broken legs and will be able to keep at least one eye on the ball without risk of bumping into a bunker.

Who are these West Side boys who will play the Senators here Sunday, anyhow? Well, frinstance there's Jack Gordon, shortstop. He played that same position for East American Legion Juniors, state champions last year, and in the championship series with the Marion Juniors he was awarded the individual cup as the most valuable man on either team. He hit a three bagger and a single in the first game which Marion won, drove in the run that really decided the second game in East Side's favor, and in the third game got on the paths every time he went to bat, starting East Side to win. He covered so much territory that he handled 28 chances in the series.

Somebody hollered and the city and state committees took up the matter and ruled against Garbarino and Hobson, whereupon they walked out of the meeting and are reported to have declared they are dropping junior ball entirely.

Mention of Frisco Edwards, once again reminds us of something—that the late Three-Eye arbiter will waive the indicator here Sunday when the Senators and West Side play, and has been engaged to umpire all of the State league games here!

SARAZEN WINS BRITISH TITLE

Finishes 13 Under par, 5 Ahead of Mac Smith; New Record set

By FRANK H. KING
SANDWICH, Eng., June 10 (AP)—Gene Sarazen, little Hercules of American links, won the 1932 British open golf championship today with a record-breaking 283 and held firm the American dynasty on Britain's golfing throne.

His 70-89-70-74 for the 72 holes shattered par in every round except the last at this afternoon. He finished 13 strokes better than regulation figures for the championship layout, a long, treacherous course on the edge of the English channel.

Such remarkable golf, leaving the galleries of home folks awed, breaking the hearts of the British professionals, who fought vainly once more to stem an American tide that has swept them aside 11 of the past 12 years, carried Sarazen in a one man parade to the title.

Sarazen lowered by two strokes the tournament record of 285 set by Bobby Jones in 1927 at St. Andrews. He surpassed the best mark ever made in an American open, 286, by Chick Evans.

Only MacDonal Smith, perennial challenger, was able to keep the chunky New Yorker in sight and the best he could finish was five strokes back with 71-76-71-70-288, good enough to win any other British open in history save Bobby Jones' 285, but hopeless today.

Arthur Havers, whose victory in 1929 was Britain's, made the final stand of the home brood this morning with a 68, breaking the course record, but he found the chase after Sarazen too exhausting. His final round was five strokes back with 71-76-71-70-288, good enough to win any other British open in history save Bobby Jones' 285, but hopeless today.

Christian is N.W. Champ Three Times

INGLEWOOD GOLF CLUB, Seattle, June 10 (AP)—Grinding out parts and bits in the annual machine-precision, Neil Christian, professional of the Waverly Country club, Portland, today posted a dizzy score of 284 for 72 holes to become the first man to ever win the Pacific northwest open three times.

The stocky Portlander, who captured his other two crowns in 1924 and 1929, and tied for first place last year only to lose out to Harold A. Eldred Zimmerman, fellow townman pro, set a terrific pace at the start of the tournament and never relinquished his lead.

He was under par on all four 18-hole rounds, counting 70 and 71 yesterday, and 71 and 73 today, over the par 73 Inglewood course. He was eight strokes below par for the whole distance.

Vance Page Writes One For Book; Hurls One-Hit Game, Hits Homer, Triple, Double

LOS ANGELES, June 10 (AP)—Vance Page put on one of the greatest performances in Pacific Coast league tonight as he pitched Hollywood to its fourth straight victory over Los Angeles, 4 to 1, to clinch the series.

He held the slugger Angels to one lone hit, and himself batted out a homer, a triple and a double, and scored three of Hollywood's four runs. He hit his homer in the third inning. In the fifth, he tripled and came home on Galleta's infield out. In the seventh he doubled and scored on Brannan's single.

Only three Angels managed to get on base. Summa doubled in the fourth, and scored on two infield outs. Campbell was safe on an error, and Summa was hit by a pitched ball in the ninth.

Yankees Sweep First Round of Wightman Meet

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 10 (AP)—Three Californians, Helen Wills Moody, Helen Jacobs and Anna Harper, swept the Wimbledon courts for three straight victories today without the loss of a set to give the United States a running start in the annual Wightman cup tennis series with Great Britain.

Mrs. Moody, American and French singles champion, was decidedly erratic as she downed Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whitlingstall, 6-2, 6-4. Miss Jacobs played some of her finest tennis in trouncing Dorothy Round, 6-4, 6-3, and then teamed with Mrs. Harper to win the doubles match of the day from Miss Round and Mrs. L. R. C. Mitchell, 6-4, 6-1.

Lott and Grant To Be Finalists

MEMPHISS, Tenn., June 10 (AP)—With a fiercely fought victory over Berkeley Bell, of New York, George Lott of Chicago, the favorite, today advanced to the finals of the national clay courts tennis tournament, in which he will face Bryan Grant of Atlanta tomorrow. FINNEGAN WILL OPPOSE JONES

Recent Failure to Appear Not Pat's Fault; two Main Events due

"Off ag'in, on ag'in Finnegan!" Wrestling fans here didn't have much use for Pat when he apparently walked out on them a couple of weeks ago and failed to meet Henry Jones for their third match on the armory mat.

But it now develops that Finnegan was in the clear on that deal—just a little slip-up somewhere—and so matchmaker Harry Plant has wiped the matter off the slate and arranged to bring Finnegan back next Tuesday for a no-time-limit bout with Jones.

And that's not all. It's a double main event, with Art Smerts, who made many friends in his first appearance here against Jones this week, pitted against Bulldog Jackson.

Jackson has been packing them in at Portland and Seattle, being in much better condition than when he first wrestled here, and this bout, also scheduled a no-time-limit affair, will be practically on a par as an attraction with the Finnegan-Jones set-off.

ADVERTISING STILL HIGHLY PRODUCTIVE

But Must be Backed up by Sound Business Policy, Coast Chief Avers

When advertising is used carefully and is backed by sound business policies it brings results nowadays the same as it has always done. Roy A. Hunter, president of the Pacific Advertising Clubs association told the Salem club yesterday at a luncheon meeting.

Hunter is on a tour of the coast clubs advertising the 29th annual convention of Pacific coast advertising clubs which is to be held July 6, 7 and 8 in Vancouver, B. C. Mr. Hunter is a resident of that city.

"Never was there a time when organization work in trades and industries was so necessary as now," Hunter declared. "The man who keeps alive in his business must get new ideas; the convention is an ideal place to secure them."

Hunter said the forthcoming ad club convales would be a "brass tacks convention" where men in every phase of the business would conduct forums on the peculiar problems of their line of work. He said headlines had been secured for the general assemblies of the convention while special entertainment features had been worked out for the afternoon and evening sessions.

Hunter whimsically described the trend to "over-organization" today but he defended the trend by saying men rose to their best through group activity. "The mutual exaltation and gains from a club, lodge or society results in better endeavor," he stated.

Hunter was introduced by Ted Robinson, vice president of the coast association and former president of the Portland Advertising club.

Earl Potter sang two well-received vocal numbers. His pianist was Miss Plummer.

ANOTHER CASE OF DIPHTHERIA NOTED

The total of diphtheria cases occurring in Marion county this year was raised to nine yesterday morning when two cases, pre-school children living just south of the city limits, were reported to the county health department. Both suffering severe cases, neither child had received immunization treatment. They had been ill for three or four days before the cases were reported.

Tracing of contacts with the two children, five-year olds, showed that most of the persons exposed were immediate relatives. Interest in this morning's toxoid clinic, for diphtheria immunization, is heightened by announcement of the two cases. Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, expects that a larger number of children than usual will attend. The treatments are given between 8:30 and 10 o'clock.

Gordon Supplies Church in South

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gordon have stopped in San Anselmo, Cal., where Mr. Gordon will serve as stated supply to the local Presbyterian church during the summer months. If plans work out he will enter San Anselmo seminary this fall to take a theological course. They have spent the past year in New Mexico in Indian mission work. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Davis.
