

GOVERNOR SAYS MERGER WRONG

Goes to bat Against Plan To Consolidate Higher Schools of Oregon

"It is obvious that the consolidation would cause a great loss in connection with the Monmouth normal school, valued at $712,454.86, as it would be extremely difficult to find a profitable use for this property.
"With respect to the losses at Eugene, it is apparent that on the basis of the present enrollment figures, the new teachers' college could not hope to have an enrollment exceeding 600 or 700, with the result that it would be required to operate a plant with 30 large buildings, a central heating plant and a 100-acre campus with overhead that would be prohibitive. . . .
"Furthermore, it has been the history of consolidated schools that the university functions submerge all other functions. The probable result of the proposed consolidation would be the loss of identity of the Oregon State Agricultural college.
"Proposed Measure Unwise, Concludes
"I reiterate, therefore, that after a careful study of the matter, I am of the firm opinion that the proposed measure would not be conducive to savings to the taxpayers, but on the contrary would result in large economic losses, greatly increased taxes and decreased efficiency in the functions of the university, the college and the normal schools.
"In my opinion the taxpayers of the state and higher education will be better served by the merger of the management of these higher institutions of learning under a single chancellor, as contemplated by the act creating the state board of higher education.
"Advices have been received by me that the group now espousing the consolidation measure threatens to oppose the meritorious tax program sponsored by the Oregon Taxpayers' Equalization and Conservation league and myself unless the president of the league refrains from expressing an opinion against the educational merger legislation.
"I sincerely regret that any such threats have been made, and I sincerely hope that they will not be carried out. These tax measures were framed and designed for only one purpose, and that is to give genuine tax relief to the owners of farms and small homes which tax burdens have become so excessive that they have become confiscatory. Although we may have honest differences of opinion, we should not allow either passion or prejudice to enter into our disagreements and should consider all proposed legislation solely on its merits."

tleground tonight to add his strength to the campaign for Speaker Garner. The Texas' statement of yesterday for repeal is regarded as placing him definitely in the race for at least several ballots, if it goes that far.
Significance was attached tonight to a switch by Senator Long, of Louisiana, from the resolutions to the rules committee. Long, a supporter of Governor Roosevelt, is advocating abrogation of the two-thirds rule. He put himself in a position to press this point.
In one of the most spectacular breaks for freedom in several years, the trie reached the outskirts of the city before being overtaken. They scattered in a field, but were soon surrounded and taken by a large squad of pursuers.
They were Robert M. Landis, 19, convicted of the slaying of a Spokane detective in 1929, James McCourt, 25, convicted of the murder of an officer in Seattle the same year, and Donald F. Collins, 19, serving time on a charge of assault and battery.
Under gunfire, Landis ran into a barn before being caught, and was wounded in the foot.

active manager of these properties until the sale of the water company in 1927.
For 16 years he resided at the R. S. Wallace orchards and during that time was active in organizing the Brush College Sunday school and community club.
In 1911 he was appointed by Governor West as a member of the state board of horticulture and served as president of that body for 14 years.
In 1919 he helped to organize the Western Plant Quarantine board and was continuously a member until he resigned in 1929, acting as president of that body for one year.
For 25 years he was active in building and maintaining the Salem hospital, serving as secretary of the board of directors and

HOOVER WILL WIN SAYS FLOYD COOK

"I find the White House well informed on Oregon happenings. Cook added. "Hawley's defeat surprised the administration because the power Hawley held was considerable and the White House observers could not understand why Oregon would turn down a man who was in a position to do so much for the state. Charles McNary is one of the most powerful men in Washington."
Cook said Newton D. Baker was regarded by the majority of observers as the strongest candidate the democrats could name. He is thought to favor above Roosevelt, Smith, Garner, Ritchie and Murray in experience and ability. No one can do more than guess on the outcome of the democratic convention, Cook observed, saying a bitter war was certain between the Smith and Roosevelt forces.
No action will be taken Cook said, on the protest of Newell Williams of Salem, who charged that the recent meeting of the Marion County Republican Central committee was illegal for the reason that it was not held within 20 days after the primary election.
Cook announced his decision after conferring with Attorney General Van Winkle, J. C. Perry, retiring chairman of the local committee, and other persons prominent in republican circles in this part of the state.
"The statute referred to," Cook said, "apparently was designed to give the state chairman authority to appoint a temporary chairman only in counties where the precinct committeemen fail or refuse to get together for organization."

FUGITIVES CAUGHT AFTER WILD CHASE

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 22.—(AP)—Three youthful prisoners, two of them convicted murderers, escaped over the penitentiary walls today after knifing another inmate and raced in a stolen truck through the city here before being recaptured. One was wounded by gunfire.
In one of the most spectacular breaks for freedom in several years, the trie reached the outskirts of the city before being overtaken. They scattered in a field, but were soon surrounded and taken by a large squad of pursuers.
They were Robert M. Landis, 19, convicted of the slaying of a Spokane detective in 1929, James McCourt, 25, convicted of the murder of an officer in Seattle the same year, and Donald F. Collins, 19, serving time on a charge of assault and battery.

Disabled Vets Ask Relief for War Cases Only

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 22.—(AP)—Disabled American veterans, in their 12th annual convention here today decided to confine their efforts during the coming year to advocating relief only for those world war veterans who were disabled before their discharge from the service.
By the change in policy the D. A. V. withdrew its support from general relief programs which would include benefits for veterans classed as non-service-connected disabilities, or, in other words, those who sustained injuries or contracted diseases after their discharge.
To make the pool deep enough for diving, however, a dam of sacks full of sand is to be built. Gus Moore, one of the playground directors, last night made a request for many gunny sacks for this purpose. Persons having sacks to donate may communicate with him by telephoning 2588 during the forenoon. Children from the playground will call for the sacks.

Driverless Auto In Wild Descent Kills Pedestrian

OREGON CITY, Ore., June 22.—(AP)—Samuel D. Simons, 59, of Oregon City, was killed here today when he was struck by a driverless truck.
Alvin Davis, driver, jumped from the truck when he attempted to slow down and found the brakes would not hold. The truck on a steep hill, gained momentum, and traveled more than a block before striking Simons, who apparently did not see it approaching.
Simons is survived by his widow.

DREDGING STARTED FOR OLINGER POOL

Much to the joy of the hundreds of children who play at Olinger field each afternoon, dredging operations were begun yesterday afternoon to make a swimming pool in the creek coursing the south end of the grounds. By tonight it is expected a satisfactory "swimmim' hole" will be completed.
To make the pool deep enough for diving, however, a dam of sacks full of sand is to be built. MARCY IS SPEAKER AT M. E. CONCLAVE

PORTLAND, Ore., June 22.—(AP)—Dr. James Ding, president of the Anglo-Chinese college at Foochow, China, in an address before the 80th annual session of the Oregon conference of the Methodist Episcopal church tonight said that Japan's recent aggression against China has forced people of the latter country to turn to militarism and communism for protection of their interests.
He added that neither militarism nor communism will solve the country's problems, but that "the church holds the key."
The difficulties of being a district superintendent at present were outlined by Dr. Milton A. Marcy, Salem, who added. "But it does make one proud of the lay and ministerial personnel of our church."
