Corn in Good Demand For Expert, Keeps Moving Ahead

CHICAGO, June 23—(AP)—Stirred by a brace of big possibilities, wheat and corn showed an undertone of strength today, though wheat sagged at the last whereas corn advanced.

Increased uneasiness over likelihood of black rust damage formed the chief mainstay of wheat values, with an auspicious outlook for corn export business putting backbone into the corn market. Export demand for wheat at the seaboard, however, was a distinct disappointment, notwithstanding cable advices that some good business with France had been done in American hard winter wheat already afloat.

Wheat closed nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8 lower, corn 1-4-3-8 up, oats unchanged.

Today's closing quotations:

Wheat: July old, .48-.48 1-8; July new, .47 7-8; Sept. old, .50-1-2-5-8; Sept. new, .50 1-4; Dec., .53 1-2.

Corn: July, .30 1-4; Sept., .32-1-8-1-4; Dec., .32 3-8-1-2.

Oats: July, .20 1-4; Sept., .20-5-8; Dec., .22 5-8.

American can Selling Proves Disturbing Element of day

NEW YORK, June 23—(AP)—Financial markets were without noteworthy change today. Dullness prevailed in stock and bond trading, with trends still poorly defined, although support for shares was firm enough to bring a small fractional net gain in the averages.

Further selling of American Can, which made a new low and closed with a loss, disturbed a sluggish early upturn but the creeping advance was resumed before noon. Final prices, however, generally were under the day's best, leaving fractional gains for Steel Common and Preferred, Allied Chemical, Case, Consolidated Gas, North American and Sears Roebuck.

American Telephone held above yesterday's low and closed nearly a point higher. Several rails had fractional losses. Sales totaled 472,000 shares.

The New York Reserve bank announced the long-expected cut in its rediscount rate, which is now established on the 2½ per cent level of the British and French central banks.

HOP MARKETS ARE STEADY FOR WEEK

CORVALLIS, Ore., June 23.—(AP)—The New York hop markets were about steady during the past week with prices unchanged, according to reports from the O. S. C. extension service cooperating with the U. S. D. A. bureau of agricultural economics.

Pacific coast 1931 hops were quoted at 18 to 19 cents with common to prime at 15 to 17 cents.

The Oregon hop markets were very quiet with 1931 clusters quoted to the growers at 12 cents and fuggles at 11 cents.

The report said that Oregon new hop crop prospects have improved greatly, although much damage had already been done by mildew before the recent warm weather. The crop is three weeks or more late and production is expected to fall short of last year by 10,000 to 15,000 bales, with favorable weather from now on.

Very little contracting was done during the week. The present market tone was reported steady with light offerings from growers and only moderate demand.
