Fail to Reach Moscow, but May be Continuing to Omsk; Mark set

minutes ahead of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, the American air-men whose round-the-world time of a little more than eight and one-half days they are trying to beat, when they started along the brightly lighted flying route toward Koenigsberg.

They wouldn't waste time to telephone to friends in New York and they argued sleep.

"Tired? Not a bit of it," said Mattson, when they landed here at 5:40 p. m. (11:40 a. m. E. S. T.) Little in Way of Provisions Taken

"What we want is a good long drink of water," said Griffin.

They had properly hefty steaks to sustain them before they hit the air again, but did not take much with them in the way of provisions.

When they took off at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. E. S. T.) they faced a hop of 950 miles. Ahead lay good weather.

Mattson and Griffin were mightily pleased when they landed here. Here's why:

They already had a margin of two hours and 55 minutes on Post and Gatty.

They had crossed without a stop to Berlin from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, in the excellent time of 18 hours and 41 minutes, and they had become the first trans-Atlantic fliers to "hit Berlin on the nose."

They had made a record of 10 hours and 50 minutes from land to land in their Atlantic flight. Exact comparisons are not possible, but that probably is the best time ever.

erected by citizens in that community.

Judge McMahan, in refusing to issue the injunction, said he was satisfied the plaintiffs had a remedy at law, if and when such a merger should become a matter of reality. He said he felt the court had no right to restrain the circulation of petitions.

L. B. Sandblast, Portland attorney who attracted national attention as a republican delegate at the Chicago convention, drew the papers for Dunlap and Harding, both of whom originally signed the merger petitions. In their complaint they asked that their names be stricken from the petitions.

the council meeting was the refunding of the dance license fees to St. Paul's parish as the dance given was a benefit dance, and a continuance of the question of removing a pier at the new bridge site, left in the hands of the street committee at the June meeting.

Heaviest losers were Oliver S. Olson, jeweler, and Tom Renn, proprietor of the Club House billiard hall, the former estimating losses in tools and equipment at $4500 with about half this amount in insurance, and the latter placing his loss at $3500.

HOP GROWERS MAY FORM COOPERATIVE

First, federal aid to the growers will mean that they will not have to draw upon local banks for aid, thus leaving this source free for other uses.

Second, federal aid will mean that growers will not have to sell their crops, or part thereof, hurriedly to cover short-term needs, thus forcing hop men to sell at low price and consequently aid in weakening the market.

The cooperative is being formed because the general understanding is that individual growers cannot have recourse to the federal funds, those being loaned to an organization. If the present organization gets approval, after further consultation with a wide group of growers, it will be the first cooperative unit formed by hop men.

Growers and dealers on the small committee which met yesterday were also T. A. Livesley, Louis Leachmund, James Linn, Frank Needham and H. A. Corroyer, all of Salem; J. W. Seavey of Portland and Dean Walker of Independence. Representatives of three banks were also present: William Walton and E. F. Slade of Salem and R. M. Walker of Independence.

Heaviest losers were Oliver S. Olson, jeweler, and Tom Renn, proprietor of the Club House billiard hall, the former estimating losses in tools and equipment at $4500 with about half this amount in insurance, and the latter placing his loss at $3500.

Defendant in the action was William Street, 2273 Lee street, whom Miss Bonner accused of larceny of a handbag. The case was dismissed after both sides had leaders called him by long distance telephone.

A platform containing declarations contrary to the stated beliefs of Senator Borah was adopted over the objection of a group that has been besieging the Idaho republican to accept the party's presidential nomination.

Foremost among the planks to which Borah would object was one calling for American adherence to the world court. The senator was a leader in the fight against entering the court in 1926 and occupies a similar position now.

FIND W. U. DEFICIT GREATLY REDUCED

Willamette university ended its fiscal year of 1932-1933, on June 30, with a reduction of its deficit from $7900 to $4200 according to figures released at the school yesterday. Its entire operating expenses were met in the past year out of student fees and endowment income and sufficient savings were effected to bring the debt down $3700.

University officials said yesterday that further economies effected in the 1932-1933 budget made it seem likely the remaining deficit would be wiped out by June 30, 1933. The small deficit remaining now comes largely from capital expenditures necessitated in 1930-1931.

Willamette university's financial standing is said to be among the best of any smaller university in the country. When the fiscal year ended there were no bills payable outstanding and no wages or salaries due. The books are kept on a cash received and disbursed basis and no bills receivable for student fees or other income are counted into the fiscal year statement.

Little change has been noted by the dean in the last month in the number of seniors placed in jobs since graduation. Decision by the supreme court on the high school tuition law will help somewhat in clarifying the position of school boards in hiring new teachers and may lead to additional jobs.

Heaviest losers were Oliver S. Olson, jeweler, and Tom Renn, proprietor of the Club House billiard hall, the former estimating losses in tools and equipment at $4500 with about half this amount in insurance, and the latter placing his loss at $3500.

DIARY MISSING SO LARCENY CHARGED

Because she was in quest of a diary which had the ups and downs of three and a half years recorded therein, Miss L. M. # SEASIDE ACTIVITY Y. CAMP FEATURE

Dwight Adams Completing Arrangements for big Outing Next Week

At the Salem Y. M. C. A. camp at Ocean side next week, seaside attractions will take a prominent place in the boys' activities, Dwight Adams, boys' secretary and camp director, announced yesterday. During the afternoon activity periods, hikes will be taken to the lighthouse, to Bayocan, and overnight to Sand Lake, Portland Boy Scout camp. Trips will be made after clams and crabs and safe surf bathing will be a daily event.

H. M. DuBois of Portland, member of the advisory council of the Oregon Audubon society, yesterday notified Adams that he would conduct the camp nature study program. He will offer classes on birds, animals, plants, marine life, insects, stars, rocks and trees. On several evenings he will present nature study lantern slide talks in the hall at Ocean side.

To put the camp in order for the arrival of the boys on Tuesday morning, an advance guard of leaders will go there on Saturday. J. Burton "Burt" Cray, camp cook will go there at this time. Edward A. Beach, Y building superintendent, will assist in installation of the new camp water system.

The camp this year will run from July 13 to 21, with older and younger boys attending at the same time but segregated according to age. Leaders will include: R. E. Boardman, Adams, "Bill" Ross, Fred Remington, Wesley Roeder, Joe Hershberger, Frank Bashor, James Schon, Everett Clarke and Wilson "Dit" Slegmund.

Reveille at the Y camp will be blown at 6 o'clock in the morning. The next 45 minutes will be devoted to dressing, flag raising, setting-up exercises and washing. Schedule for the day will run as follows:

6:45, Bible study; 7:00, breakfast; 7:45, camp duty; 9:30, tent inspection; 10:00, classes in nature study and crafts; 10:45, free play and swimming; 12:15, lunch; 12:45-2:00, quiet; 2:00, general activities, hikes and fishing, games; 4:30, swimming; 5:00, free play; 6:00, dinner; 6:45, camp store open, group games; 7:30, campfire; 9:10, taps.

Thirty-one boys were registered yesterday, more were expected, including 12 from Corvallis.

LUTHERAN MISSION FESTIVAL PLANNED

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, Missouri Synod, will hold its annual Mission Festival next Sunday at Wendland's grove with morning services to begin at 10:30 o'clock.

At that hour Rev. J. Westendorf of Vancouver will deliver the sermon in German and Rev. H. W. Gross, the local pastor, will deliver a sermon in the English language. Special music will include a duet, "Gott Ist Unsere Zuversicht" by Mrs. William Fischer, soprano, and Rev. Gross, organist; and a duet, "Praise and Thank the Lord" by Mrs. W. H. Fischer, soprano, and Miss Hilda Rohlf, alto.

Afternoon English services will begin at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. R. Heins of Lebanon as speaker. Mrs. Fischer will sing "God So Loved the World" and a quartet will sing "Lift Up Your Hands." In the quartet will be Mrs. Fischer, Miss Rohlf, Rev. Gross and William O'Neill.

MANY APPLYING TO ENTER WILLAMETTE

One hundred and twenty-five student applications for entrance to Willamette university have already been approved, Dean Frank M. Erickson announced Wednesday. The number compares favorably with the total applications received at a corresponding date in former years.

While some shrinkage is expected in the number of approved students who enter, late arrivals each year before have made up for this decline. The demand for student jobs is constantly increasing on the part of applicants, the dean said.

Little change has been noted by the dean in the last month in the number of seniors placed in jobs since graduation. Decision by the supreme court on the high school tuition law will help somewhat in clarifying the position of school boards in hiring new teachers and may lead to additional jobs.

DISABLED VETS NOT BACKING MARCHERS

While not opposing a local contingent to the "bonus army" at Washington, D. C., the Salem chapter of the Disabled American War veterans will in no way back the "marchers." It was announced after last night's meeting at the armory. The chapter repudiated interference made by a local veteran to the effect that it would give official consideration to organization of a group of veterans to join the "army" at the national capital.

"We will not fight the idea, but we will have nothing to do with it" declared Archibald MacDonald, executive committee member.

The national officials of the D. A. V. will not approve of local chapters sponsoring "bonus marchers," it was said. Meanwhile a group of veterans is preparing to leave here soon, probably next week, by freight train for Washington. Some have been out soliciting funds to pay for their meals on the trip.

"Stub" Martin, the veteran who is said to be organizing the bonus contingent, is not a member of the D. A. V. Commander H. F. Field said last night.

ENTERTAINER CLUB AWARD ANNOUNCED

Barbara Causey yesterday won the first Entertainers club emblem granted at Olinger playground this season by making her fourth appearance on the council program. The emblem is a felt "O" bearing the inscription, "Olinger playground Entertainers club," Rosanna Krueger, a Salem visitor from Portland, gave a tap dance for the program.

Soderstrom, Seguin and Mike Miller were highest, in order, in yesterday's bean bag game for older boys. In the younger group, winners were Melvin Gamble, Walter Bushnell and Ed Soderstrom.

Ether Arnold, lifesaver, announced that her classes in first aid and junior lifesaving would be held Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons at 4:30 o'clock.

First Call for Flax Pullers is Issued Locally

First call for flax pullers was received at the U. S.-Y. M. C. A. Employment office yesterday. Ten persons were obtained to start work at the Haldeman and Son place on Wallace road next Monday.

Seventy-four persons were placed during the day, mostly as cherry and loganberry pickers. The height of the season for hiring of pickers is past, Assistant Manager Dotson reported.

Two men were given common labor jobs, two wood cutting and one farming yesterday in addition to the pickers.

DO YOU INHALE?

"We've spilled the beans" in the smoker's interest

DO you inhale? "You've spilled the beans!" said the cigarette trade when first we asked this simple question—a question which long had been treated with silence that would "shame a Sphinx!"

Why? Wasn't the subject vital enough to pursue? Or, was there a hidden reason for the general avoidance of the question by others?

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has chosen to raise this question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do—and so, in the smoker's interest, Luckies have not feared to "spill the beans."
