SELF-SERVICE IS PLAN OF STORE

Largest Unit of Organization To be Opened in Salem, South Commercial

The opening of the pay 'n Takit food store on South Commercial street will occur tomorrow, marking the first store of this group to be located in Salem. Indicating a high degree of confidence in the future of Salem this store is said to be the largest store in the organization. The store is operated on the self-service model; and the design and method are reputed to be the result of many years of experimentation on the self-service plan, incorporating the latest ideas which have proven successful in this form of operation.

The store will occupy a new building erected for its particular occupancy by D. E. Jarman, Salem capitalist, and is located at the corner of South Commercial and Kearney streets. The corner lot is covered with asphalt for a parking space for cars, the building being on the inside lot. Construction was of reinforced concrete. Both exterior and interior are modernistic in style and coloring. The store was designed particularly for self-service operation. "The store policy," according to George C. Solterbeck, district superisor, "is to purchase locally insofar as possible foods and products for sale at the store. This is true for the stores of the group and will be applied here." The store manager is Ed Schreder, who has been highly successful as a manager in the Portland stores of the organization, making friends with his motto of "Customer comes first."

George C. Solterbeck is district supervisor with headquarters in Salem. He has been in charge of plans for the opening, and has previously served as district supervisor for the organization.

In charge of the meat department is Mr. Forman, also experienced with the group. All employees will reside in Salem and the payroll will amount to around $350 a week. "We will be ready for business Friday morning," stated Solterbeck Wednesday. "It has kept our crew busy a good many days to get things in shape for the opening. This will be one of the finest food stores in the country and will extend to customers the benefits of the self-service principle."

was noticeable that a large group spent a pleasant day in Helmick state park only four miles south of Monmouth. The local grange members gathered there for a picnic dinner at noon; and many other local groups of friends and families were also observed there. No accidents and no drownings were reported, so the day's pleasure was not marred.

A national park at Manchester, Tenn., where a prehistoric stone fort is located, has been proposed by a bill in congress.

SNIPER SURRENDERS AFTER KILLING ONE

WASHINGTON, July 6—(AP)—A sniper whose death-dealing rifle held most of Washington's police force at bay around a house near the capitol for several hours early today finally walked out and surrendered after killing one policeman and wounding at least two others.

After gunfire and tear-gas bombs had failed to dislodge the man, who gave his names as Nicholas Long, and his sniping rifle fire prevented all approach to the house, the man walked calmly out onto the front steps, his hands above his head.

Police approached with guns drawn and took him into custody. At police headquarters when he was asked why he set out upon the escapade which attracted thousands of spectators, and brought every available police detail, finally augmented by expert riflemen from the marine barracks, he said he did it "just for fun" and because he "wanted to start some fireworks."

Long had been shot once in the arm, but otherwise showed meagre effects from the tear-gas bombs and gunfire which had been directed at him during the siege.

E. A. Swanson, rookie policeman, was killed, another officer shot four times and a third slightly wounded.

CHERRY WAGE FOR GIRL STUDENT FINE

MONMOUTH, July 6 — Local cherry growers are about through with the harvest of their main crop—Royal Anne. D. A. Hoag reports the sale of his nine tons through Willamette Cherry Growers' association.

He employed 18 pickers this year, about double the number used in former years, which expedited the work satisfactorily. Three-fourths of a cent per pound was paid for picking. Some pickers made $2.25 daily. One young woman student, who, because of other work was obliged to start late and quit early, picked 1,044 pounds in 3 1/2 days which netted her $7.83.

Celebrate Fourth Monmouth residents celebrated the Fourth by going on picnics, attending the fairgrounds observance at Salem and elsewhere. It
