

Woodburn Leads District Race; Beats Newberg 14 to 6

ALL PITCHERS USED IN FRAY

Nicholson Clicks Homer to Lead Team at bat; Next Game Sunday, Home

Woodburn's American Legion Junior baseball team is away out in front in the district race following a decisive victory over the Newberg team, 14 to 6, at Newberg Wednesday.

With Jimmy Nicholson, Jr., setting the pace, the Woodburn boys pounded out numerous hits off Morrison, the Newberg pitcher, and were aided by the Newberg team's frequent bobbles. Though he was hit hard, Morrison seemed to be about the best player Newberg had.

Young Nicholson hit a homer and four other safe blows out of six trips to the plate. Vogel, Woodburn catcher, tripled and there were a number of two-baggers.

Coch DeGure of the Woodburn team sent all of his pitchers, Lettler, Landsem, Serdotz and Davidson, to the mound for a few innings to give them all some experience, and all came through acceptably.

Woodburn has now defeated both of its district foes decisively, having beaten Hillsboro on its home diamond last Saturday 17 to 5. However, home games with these same teams are still on the district schedule and Woodburn will have to win at least one of them to be in the clear. The Woodburn team is undefeated, either in its own class or outside of it.

What may prove the clinching game in the district race will be played at Woodburn next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 with Hillsboro the visiting team.

Rocket is Found In Grant School; Dodges Transoms

When teachers arrived at Grant school Tuesday morning, they discovered a spent skyrocket sticking in the wall of one of the rooms. It was reported at the school superintendent's office yesterday. The errant rocket, they found, had soomed into the building through a south window, passed through two transoms, to drive into the wall on the opposite side of the building.
No fire started but the plaster around the rocket was blackened.

Tax on Checks Causes Turn to Cash Payments

The two-cent tax on bank checks is responsible for large sums of currency and silver being presented merchants in payment for first of the month bills, several business men indicated at the Salem Retail Credit association meeting yesterday noon.
Bookkeepers for a number of firms said very few checks were being made in for June merchandise, and that instead customers were bringing in the cash.

THE KILLER OF CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES

That Cleveland brawler boy, Johnny Risko, has done it again. Just when promoters were figuring on matching Mickey Walker and Jack Sharkey for the championship John put up a smashing Bulldog out of the running. Risko's victory over Walker was surprising but the Cleveland heavyweight was running true to form in knocking off championship contenders. An "in and out" Johnny, in the opinion of many, lifted Gene Tunney in a ten round no-decision fight before

CURT COMMENTS

The C. J. says so-and-so pleaded guilty. Judge McMahon ruled him. Next fellow will probably plead blankety-blankety and somebody else will be sent to jail in his bedstead.

The Sporting News the other day said the White Sox boss was trying to make a first baseman out of Billy Sullivan because of his hitting ability, but that Billy didn't seem able to stop anything but a perfect throw. Fans around here had the impression Billy used to make the infielders look good by grabbing anything that came his way in direction. Just good to show the difference between big league ball and semi-pro ball.

Runners in the big leagues let no grass grow under their feet and infielders have to cut loose without aiming and first basemen have to take them any old way. It's a big jump from semi-pro and college ball to the American league and Billy is doing quite well to be in there at all.

Billy will stick up there in some position because he can slug. Our other home town boy in the American league, Howard Maple, faces a different prospect. Just a fair hitter, he's staying on the Washington payroll because he can do a lot of catching, and he'll make a place for himself only by becoming one of the smartest catchers in the business. Howard can do it, but it will be a slower process.

And then on the third hand—by the way, wouldn't a man with three hands go big in the wrestling trade—on the third hand, we say, consider our big-leaguer-to-be, Andy Peterson. He'll be up there, but will he be a pitcher or an outfielder? He can do both fast enough to suit anybody.

Those two prospects are entirely different. An outfielder who can cover ground and hit finds himself a niche and stays there for years in comparative security, with no notoriety except when he smacks a home run or perhaps 40 of them. A pitcher hears his name in the roar of the crowd and gets in the headlines, but leads a precarious existence, comparable to that of a college football coach.

It's a queer game anyway. If the batters don't hit they get the sack and if they do the pitchers get the sack. After while they all get to carrying rabbits' feet.

Reed and Jones to Appear Upon Mat Tuesday But Not Together; Card Signed up

Robin Reed and Henry Jones will appear in the next wrestling show at the armory—but not as adversaries. Reed will meet Pat Finnegan and Jones will tangle with Jack Salisbury, a newcomer from Salt Lake City, in a double main event next Tuesday night, it was announced Wednesday.

Appearance of the two men who drove 8000 fans frantic at the fairgrounds Fourth of July night in their title match which settled nothing excepting that Reed retained the world welterweight belt, is sure to attract a lot of interest, especially since they are both matched with capable opponents.

In addition, the Reed-Finnegan set-to may turn out to be something of a grudge battle, for Reed is understood to be none too well pleased with Finnegan's performance as temporary referee in the title bout.

Boxing Board to Insist 'Experts' Do Broadcasting

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—The New York state athletic commission's decision that none but "boxing experts" could broadcast accounts of boxing matches in this state in the future brought statements today from the major networks mildly threatening war and definitely charging "a serious blow at the freedom of broadcasting."

ALCOS NEXT TO OPPOSE SOLONS

Relief Pitcher now in Sight; Frisco Edwards may Sign as Manager

Preparing to meet the Albany Alcos here Sunday in the last game of the first round of State league play, the Salem Senators are putting in some extra practice ticks this week and in addition are considering some changes calculated to strengthen the lineup for this game and the second round which will start the following Sunday.

The team's principal weakness so far has been lack of a reserve pitcher, and that need is expected to be filled by the signing of "Doby" Wood, Albany boy who played for Willamette university in the 1931 season and won all but one of his northwest conference games.

However, the Senators are planning to hold a business meeting after tonight's practice and at that time, it is understood, a proposition may be offered to Leo "Frisco" Edwards to take over the field manager's job. Frank "Burly" Bashor, present catcher-manager, is in favor of this change, despite the fact that the team under his direction has been rather successful to date. Bashor admits that Edwards knows a good deal more baseball than he does and has the added advantage of knowing most of the hitters the Senator flingers will face.

Whether an arrangement suitable to Edwards can be worked out remains to be seen and there is no certainty that a change will be made.
"Squeak" Wilson, the Solons' regular moundsman who suffered from a sore arm in the last game with Pacific Outfitting but had to stay in there because there was no relief pitcher, rested last week and doctored his arm and is limbering it up regularly this week, so that he should be ready for the task of stopping the Alco sluggers here Sunday.
