'WINNER TAKE ALL' IS ELSINORE SHOW

Prize Ring Vehicle Gives Cagney a Difficult Role Which Will Please

Salem has not yet seen James Cagney in "Winner Take All," but Gerald Breitman, an eastern reviewer has and here is part of his opinion of the show which carries one of those "hard" roles for little boy Cagney.

"It's a fast-moving tale of a prize fighter who got floored by punches and night life, went west for his health, met a fine upstanding young widow (who used to be one of Texas Guinan's girls) on that ranch where the coyotes howled at night and lonesome hearts were drawn together, pledged her his troth, then went back east and fought her as he climbed to the top and fell for a Park avenue blonde who slugged him.

In the end, of course, it all comes out right, but before that time arrives there are some brisk punches and some fun-making on Park avenue, where Prize-fighter Jim plays el toro in the teapots.

How much of an actor is Cagney is a matter that sage critics dispute, though I for one can't help but recall that he did a splendid bit as the blind boy in that stage play of Mary Boland's some years back. However, it is true that his screen roles have been all of a piece. Apparently, his bosses say he shall go out there and be tough—and is he tough!

He carries with him a veritable smell of the shower room, of sweating body and sodden leather. He walks like a punch drunk fighter. He does things with his eyes and his lips. He gets an intimate inflection and accent into his voice. He might quite conceivably be some one of the lads in Jimmy Johnston's stable at the Garden.

A good enough portrayal is rendered by Marion Nixon as the girl, and a better by Virginia Bruce as the Park avenue blonde who took him up only to throw him down. Guy Kibbee as Pop, the boy's manager, isn't up to himself, but good, anyhow.

But it's one of those pictures where the seconds do not count too much. It's the principal who must put the punch in it. And Cagney packs a wallop."

'HIGH PRESSURE' AT GRAND TODAY

"High Pressure," William Powell's second picture for Warner Bros., comes to the Grand theatre today. Advance reports from coast previewers hail this film as a new departure for the popular star, an entirely different type of role.

For his last few appearances Powell has played the part of a ladies man or gigolo. Before that he specialized in playing Philo Vance, the famous detective, or other characters mixed up in underworld doings. At all times he was polished. In "High Pressure," however, he is reported to be a man of action, a fast talking, fast working super-salesman, a part of combination Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford and Raffles.

He shifts from Wall Street stock rooms to Park avenue boudoirs without even changing his pace. Supporting Powell in this fast tempo drama are Evelyn Brent, who played opposite him in "Interference," one of the first talkies; George Sidney, the popular comedian returning to the screen after a long absence; Guy Kibbee, Evelyn Knapp, Maurice Black, Bobby Watson, Frank McHugh, Polly Walters, Ben Alexander, John Wray and several others.

'HELL'S ANGELS' IS AT HOLLYWOOD

One of the most daring love scenes ever screened provides the romantic background for the thrilling air scenes in "Hell's Angels," Howard Hughes' super-spectacle of war-time aviation now playing at the Hollywood theatre.

Amazing and unconventional love scenes are depicted for the first time with unvarnished realism, presenting a war-time heroine in a frank and astounding characterization.

Canby; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knight of Portland. Visitors at the George Yergen home were Mrs. R. E. Everding of Portland and Mrs. M. B. Fuller of Camas, Wash.

House guests at the home of J. W. Sadler during the week, were Mrs. John Taft of Des Moines, Iowa, Mrs. Will E. King of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Settlemier of Woodburn and Mrs. George Fisher of Gladstone. Interesting contact at the Walter Fry home were Mrs. James Ridenour, Tuslatin; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goodwin and family, Mrs. Martha Henke and Mrs. McClendon of Portland. Mrs. Charles Eiler and her daughter Evelyn arrived Monday from San Bernardino, Cal., and are enjoying the comfortable summer climate of Oregon as compared to the hot days in the south where the thermometer registered 110 degrees.

Mrs. Alice Nelson of Portland has been visiting at the home of her mother Mrs. Edith Carpenter.

Miss Genevieve Cooper and her friend Mrs. Kraft of Seattle and Mr. and Mrs. Will Moreland of Portland have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kraus, a picnic was arranged to which Mrs. Charles Beck, Mrs. J. S. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kraus and family, Mrs. George Kraus and Miss Orietta and Miss Georgia Kraus were invited.

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW GROCERY

MT. ANGEL, July 9—Excavating of the basement for the new Oswald building at the corner of Main and Charles streets, contract for which was let last week to Mills and Garvis Construction company of Portland, was started this week by Tom Wild of Mt. Angel. Wild has sub-contract on the basement job.

The new building will be one story, with exterior giving appearance of gray sandstone, and will have three entrances. Plans call for heating system, special chutes for handling of wood, fruit and vegetable display window with sprinkler, cooler system for fruits and vegetables.

The Woodlawn plan of goods display will be used by the firm, which will be known as Oswald Red & White Ben Franklin League store. The contract calls for completion of the building by October 1.

ANGELINE MINCH IS SUMMONED BEYOND

HAZEL GREEN, July 9—With the death of Mrs. Angeline Minch Wednesday another pioneer has passed. Mrs. Minch was a daughter of Nelson Ransome Doty, a pioneer of 1844 and a native of New York. Mr. Doty was a lieutenant in the Cayuse war. Her mother Elmira Looney crossed the plains by wagon train in 1849 spending the winter at Sacramento, coming to Oregon in 1850.

Mr. and Mrs. Doty took up donation land claim near Jefferson.

West Salem News

WEST SALEM, July 9—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Birch and grandson, Bob Mather, have moved into Kingwood Heights, in the new Spanish type residence belonging to Elmer D. Cook on the Kingwood Heights road. Mr. Birch has been the janitor of the West Salem school buildings for the past several years.

Mrs. J. M. Hamby and daughter, Miss Dorris, of Garibaldi, who resided here for a number of years, but who have been living at the coast the past two years, where Mr. Hamby is employed, visited at the William Andrews home here this week. The Hambys still own the residence where the Darrel T. Bradfords live on Gerth avenue, and visit here occasionally.

No Services Today
There will be no morning services at the Ford Memorial church Sunday morning, but in the evening Dr. M. A. Marcy, district superintendent will preach. John Knight, Miss Josie Knight, Canby; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knight of Portland. Visitors at the George Yergen home were Mrs. R. E. Everding of Portland and Mrs. M. B. Fuller of Camas, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Marlan Moore were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Moore and daughters, Nita Marie and Patricia Colleen, all of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moore and son, Donald and daughter, lived until her marriage to Jacob Minch in 1882. Until her husband's death she lived on a farm in Liberty district and in later years made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Inez Wilson of Salem. She was of a kind and cheerful disposition doing kind deeds for the needy.

Mrs. Minch's children are Elmer D. Roy and Mrs. Inez Wilson of Salem, Harley of Blodgett, Mrs. Ethel Spillman of Pineville. She leaves also several grandchildren, a brother William Doty of Jefferson, half sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Horn, Pilot Rock and Mrs. Frances Spangfield, Goldendale, Wash., half brother, James A. Looney, Glendale and many nephews and nieces and friends mourn her passing.

She was buried Saturday afternoon in I. O. O. F. cemetery, Salem.

Bull Turns On Boy; No Bad Injury

JEFFERSON, July 9—Gilbert Looney who resides on a fruit ranch near the south city limits of Jefferson, escaped serious injury Thursday when he was attacked by a Jersey bull.

He had been taking the cattle to the pasture, and started to go around behind them, when the bull turned on him, tossing him up in the air. Gilbert landed on his back and the bull turned and walked away. Besides being badly bruised and shaken up, Gilbert received no other injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hampton and family who have been living in Mrs. Frances Cornell's house on North Main street for several months, will soon move into their new home in the Smith addition, across the railroad tracks south, which they purchased from Mrs. Margaret Clement.
