CLINIC ACTIVITIES INCREASE IN YEAR

Clinic examinations conducted by the Marion County Health unit for the first six months of 1932 have increased in most divisions over the same period a year ago, reports Dr. Vernon Douglas, county health officer. This is due to intensified activities before the start is reduced in the fall. The most marked difference is shown in examinations given school children which last year numbered 1793, but was this year increased to 2524. Reports show the most noticeable defects of these children to be dental decay, nose and throat trouble, and goitre. Parents present at these examinations numbered 976.

Infant examinations this year increased from 231 to 236, while that of pre-school children went from 349 to 357. Examinations were given 161 milk-handlers. Decrease was noticeable to pre-natal examinations. Field visits dropped from 393 in 1931 to 114 in 1932. This is due to a smaller number of staff, states Dr. Douglas, who also adds that it is important the number of field visits again increase.

Parents of infants, school children, and pre-school children are urged to take advantage of the clinics and have their children examined during the summer months.

Cancellation is Not Acceptable Andrews Claims

The United States business man is going to oppose vigorously any reduction of the debts European nations owe us, Frank C. Andrews, former president of the Portland chamber of commerce believes. "Let payment be postponed if necessary while times are bad—but cancellation—never."

Andrews says the American public is not going to stand having Europe shoulder her debts on to this country's back with resulting heavy taxation to meet our own national debt. Andrews was in Salem this week on business. He advocates a special session of the legislature to afford auto owners some license relief. He ran for the nomination for the senate in Portland this spring but was defeated. For several sessions he has served in the house.
