BUSINESS REVIVAL IN EAST REPORTED

Reports brought back to the coast from the east by President Epton of the Portland Retail Credit association indicate that the last six weeks have seen noticeable revival of activity in eastern industrial centers. This information was conveyed to the Salem Retail Credit association meeting yesterday by Mrs. Madeline Callin of McMinnville, formerly of Salem, who two weeks ago heard Epton report to the Portland association upon his visit in the east. Epton, while in the east, appeared before congressional groups in the interests of proposed amendments to the bankruptcy act. Reports on the Salem association's picnic last weekend also featured yesterday's meeting.

Wheaton College Quintet Appears At Local Church

The Wheaton college quintet of Wheaton, Illinois, will present a musical program at the Immanuel Baptist church, corner Hazel and Academy streets tonight at 8 o'clock. Personnel of the group consists of Clarence Wynyarden, bass and cornetist; Stratton Shuffelt, baritone and vocal soloist; Glenn Smith, second tenor and trombonist; Donald Graham, first tenor and song leader; and J. Ellwood Evans, speaker-leader. All these young men are students of Wheaton college. Their program will consist of negro spirituals and gospel songs by the quartet, interspersed with instrumental music and personal testimonies followed by a short gospel message. This group has a wide reputation for both vocal and instrumental work having traveled over 50,000 miles since 1928.

RECORD CROWD AT OLINGER PLAYFIELD

Doll Dressing, Boats and Airplane Construction Prizes Awarded

Warmer weather yesterday brought out to Olinger playground the largest crowd of the season, with 600 boys and girls enjoying the play facilities and group events.

Doll dressing and airplane and boat making day was observed yesterday, with a number of good entries on hand. In the doll dressing contest, for the older girls first place went to Elizabeth Ovelman, second to Marjory Walker, and honorable mention to Elizabeth Ovelman and Patsy Ramsdell. Elizabeth had three entries. For the younger girls, Sylvia Wolfe was awarded first, Maria Sanford, second, and Phyllis Walker and Laverne Harrison, honorable mention. Mrs. Blanche Allen was judge.

Boys entered in the contests in the older group first and second places went to Lowell Joseph on his two airplanes; and third to Mike Miller. For the younger boys, first place went to Bob Sederstrom, second to Irving Bahlberg and third to Richard Hathaway.

Girls entering dolls in the competition were: Laverne Harrison, Delores Parker, Genevieve Winslow, Donna Belle Savage, Josephine Seton, Elizabeth Ovelman, Sylvia Wolfe, Mary O'adek, Patsy Ramsdell, Edith Roe, Jean Newman, Marie Sanford, Lola Roe, Dorothy Malley, Lois Jean Nichols, Viola Harvey, Frances Dixon, Irma Rettig, Mary Jane Frolich, Phyllis Walker, June Lind and Marjory Walker.

Foys entered in the contests were: Don Morley, Bobby Lorenz, Irving Bahlberg, Bob Sederstrom, Arns Hansen, Glen Nichols, Howard Smalley, Richard Hathaway, Tom Morley, Mike Miller and Lowell Joseph.

BUILDING ACTIVITY IS AHEAD OF JUNE

Building activity in Salem for the first 20 days of July shows a substantial increase over the same period in June, with 50 per cent more permits issued, representing double the construction cost.

So far in July, 39 permits have been issued by Building Inspector Bushnell, compared to 27 for the first 20 days of June. The July permits to date, including the four issued yesterday, total $15,629, with the total for the first 20 days of June only $7309.

Permits were issued yesterday as follows: H. E. Kennedy, reshingle roof at 196 W. Washington, cost of $75; Cyler C. Patton, repair Railway Express quarters at 557 Court street at cost of $150; G. Kightlinger, alter dwelling at 25 E. Miller street, $100; and F. D. Bowman, alter dwelling at 647 Center, $10.

H. Burke Files Guilty Plea to Forgery Charge

When he pleaded guilty to uttering a forged instrument, H. L. Burke was yesterday bound over to the grand jury by Miller Hayden, justice of the peace. Bail was set at $2500, failing which raise Burke is in the county jail. Burke is alleged to have forged names of several persons here on small checks, including one which he used name of Nelson Brothers, on which complaint was made by P. L. Elfstrom.

WILLIAM HAMMOND, director of operators' license division of the department of state, was discharged from the Oregon City hospital yesterday following an emergency operation for appendicitis. Bill was getting along fine which has been good news to his many friends here. Bill will remain at his home near Oregon City for a time.

The state highway commission meeting yesterday lacked a lot of its past interest and news value. Without a chairman, and with but two members on the commission, perhaps a lot of delegations and business were held over until a full commission would be present. The governor did not name Scott's successor prior to the meeting.

And in connection with the highway commission, Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, announced yesterday that during the past year receipts of the state highway fund amounted to more than fifteen and a half million dollars, but about a million and quarter less than a year ago. The decrease was due largely to fewer license plates sold and less gasoline consumed.

But Hoss is somewhat optimistic. He believes the sale of licenses will increase more in the next two weeks than a year ago, and take up the great slack. Up to yesterday a few hundred over 98,000 licenses had been issued, which is a little more than half the number issued the same time a year ago.

Many automobile drivers now have their license money ready, but for some reason or other will wait until August 1 to buy licenses, Hoss believes. He is hoping they buy prior to this time so as to avoid the great rush for plates July 30 and August 1. He believes those who could least afford to get plates already have purchased them.

James Stewart, member of the state land board, took the day off here yesterday to enjoy a visit in Portland and perhaps to substitute a little city life for the many duties he has in the state capital. Jim shared the trip with his son, Blair, who is visiting here from the east.

Yesterday was the first real summer day enjoyed here for about a month and as a result, already the picnic fever has risen higher. Among the picnics heard about is that of the state printing department, to be held at Hagers Grove on July 30. A large program is planned for these state printers.

And here's one for the Los Angeles chamber of commerce to copy: The necrology committee of the state editorial association last week reported that it was noted many of the absentees from the Oregon ranks had removed to California and died there. Hereafter editors better remain in Oregon, it appears healthier.

HIGHWAY RECEIPTS GREATLY REDUCED

Drop of More Than Million Partly due to Repeal of Market Road Law

State highway fund receipts collected by the secretary of state during the fiscal year ending June 30 of this year, aggregated $15,574,205, or approximately $1,242,212 less than the receipts during the corresponding period last year. Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, reported in a statement issued Wednesday.

The decrease was due to collection of only one-half of the one-half market road tax amounting to more than $500,000, decrease in motor vehicle licenses of $446,000 and loss of more than $500,000 in the gasoline fuels tax. The market road tax was repealed by the 1931 legislature. Hoss' statement showed that bond sales increased a half million dollars this year over a year ago.

Receipts set out in the statement follow: Market road tax $562,580, cooperative county work $203,172,
