

CHILDREN DISCOVER RATTLESNAKE AT JORDAN

Youngster Finds Bees Anything but Friendly; Harvest on Soon

SCIO, July 21—When Louie, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Bender of near Jordan, tried to make friends with a hive of bees near his home, the bees rewarded his amiable intentions by stinging the child in nearly 40 places. The boy was confined to his bed for a day.

A rattlesnake was killed Monday near Jordan. A group of children was playing near a saw-mill when the snake was discovered. Clyde Rogers and Van Hande killed it.

C. E. Jennings recently sold his 30-acre farm near Scio to R. J. Krebs.

Threshing in the Scio region will start within a short time and will be in progress for several weeks. Wheat and oats will yield heavily, according to reports from various sections of the county.

Rumors of recent rich strikes in the Crown mine at Elkhorn have stirred the interest and enthusiasm of those connected with the enterprise. New machinery for reducing the ore is said to be in prospect.

Rev. Victor Loucks, wife and two children, are expected here from California the latter part of this week. The Rev. Loucks will preach in the Baptist pulpit in Scio the second and fourth Sundays of each month. Services will be conducted by him July 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Laffler of Scio, Mrs. Della Scheffer and son Billy and E. H. Earle, all of Los Angeles, left Thursday for Weiser, Idaho, where they will visit at the home of Mrs. Laffler's daughter, Mrs. Melvin Sweet, former Scio girl.

Joe Lytle returned Tuesday from an eastern trip and was accompanied by his sister Mrs. H. C. Gans, who will visit here for a time. She has been in poor health but is somewhat improved.

Workmen are repairing and remodeling the Scio hotel annex, formerly occupied as office quarters by S. Philippi & Son, and the rooms will be occupied by J. A. Sweeney and family.
