The Oregon Statesman

"No Favor Sways Us; No Fear Shall Awe" From First Statesman, March 28, 1851

THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING CO. CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, SHELDON F. SACKETT, Publishers CHARLES A. SPRAGUE . . . Editor-Manager SHELDON F SACKETT - - - Managing Editor

Member of the Associated Press The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper

Pacific Coast Advertising Representatives: Arthur W Stypes, inc., Portland, Security Bidg. San Francisco. Sharon Bidg.; Los Angeles, W Pac. Bidg.

Eastern Advertising Representatives: Ford-Parsons-Stecher, Inc., New York, 271 Madison Ave.; Chicago, 260 N Michigan Ave

Entered at the Postoffice at Salem, Oregon, as Second-Class Matter. Published every morning except Monday. Business office 215 S. Commercial Street.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

Mail Subscription Rates, in Advance. Within Oregon: Daily and Sunday, 1 Mo 50 cents; 3 Mo. $1.25; 6 Mo. $2.25; 1 year $4.00. By City Carrier: 45 cents a month: $5.00 a year in advance. Per Copy 2 cents. On trains and News Stands 5 cents.

Chaos in Higher Education

TIGHER education in Oregon is in chaos. It has become progressively worse under the administration of the board of higher education. Part of the responsibility lies in the wording of the law under which the board was established. But the larger portion rests with the board itself which for vacillation, errors in judgment and utter failure to function is almost without parallel in state history.

The people have been patient under promises that things would get better, that as soon as this was done or that was done everything would be all right. Instead affairs have grown constantly worse until only a wreck remains on the campuses of our higher institutions of learning. Nobody knows where he stands, what he is to do today or what he will be doing tomorrow. Authority is divided, responsibility is shattered. The board itself is so uncertain of its methods of functioning that committees got to fighting in open board meeting the other day.

Another incident of the board meeting on Tuesday illustrates the absurd division of authority which the board has made. The board made the executive secretary at Salem responsible for the operation of the properties. Dr. Lindsay knows nothing about the physical plant of a college so he hired a man as "director of properties" which of course means another job and another salary and another addition to the overhead of the system. The new director of properties goes to Eugene and fires the head janitor or somebody. The university administration was immediately vexed and demanded that the control of such persons be in the hands of the campus executive where it most assuredly belongs. The board, which suddenly has decided not to back up on its bum guesses, got its choler up and refused the request.

So now when Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall wants the heat turned on or off or wants a window opened on the third floor he will have to write (or telephone) the chancellor; and the chancellor will take the matter up with the secretary of the board in Salem, and the secretary will first get of his boyhood and early man- southern principles. out a questionnaire as to when the window was opened last hood, and they keep track of him.

"Entertaining as I do these dan of them being that "every principles, I would, if elected to man had a right to himself, and and for how long, what the reason is for wanting it opened now, how many cubic inches of air will be admitted if the wind is not blowing. Then after he gets the questionnaire he will take the matter up with the director of properties. And column, but under the title of ever. I would vote to PROHIBIT ever sanction they might receive the director of properties when he comes back from La Grande will take it up with the head janitor at Eugene and the window will be opened or closed; if Dr. Hall hasn't fainted in the interval or kicked the window out.

But such is the glorious SYSTEM which by steel bands | 1843. and copper rivets the state board of higher education is foisting on the people of this state. It is a system which breeds uncertainty, indecision, vexation, delay and COST. For while money is saved by pinching salaries of instructors more employes are added to the overhead offices; and a costly bureaucracy is being built up at the expense of the taxpayers.

It is such a condition of demoralization which the educational system of Oregon has come to. We are told now to of which he was one. He told 21st rule of the house of reprewait till we get a chancellor. Very well; we shall wait for Baldwin: "He (Dr. Thompson) is sentatives, generally known as some months before we get one. He will come in. It will take him a year or two to get acquainted with the situation and its problems. He will be faced with hostility at every turn; views upon the slavery question, certain resolutions to said house. he will encounter institutional and local jealousies; and he in which a large portion of our without permitting said Giddings will find his authority handicapped and crippled by the impossible scheme of administration which has been set up. It requires no stretch of the imagination to predict failure for your imported chancellor. His only hope of success would be to get the board entirely to revamp its type of administrative organization.

The Statesman is profoundly interested in higher educa- sion of slavery in every shape "principles that no GOOD CITItion in Oregon; and in the prosperity of the institutions. We want to see the higher institutions of Oregon flourish and grow strong. Now we find morale shattered, faculties devoting their energies to filling out doctrinaire questionnaires, students disgusted. And we have lost all hope that the board will ever bring order out of chaos. Consolidation would end many of the troubles and would in the long run save money to the state; but consolidation is a terrible price to pay for the failure of the state board; and how long would it be before the voters would want to "unconsolidate":

We have no ready-made solution. It looks as though the state schools would flounder in the morass, would definitely retrograde and lose standing which they can ill afford to lose, until the people or the legislature do something to end the present demoralization.

Buying Washington Licenses

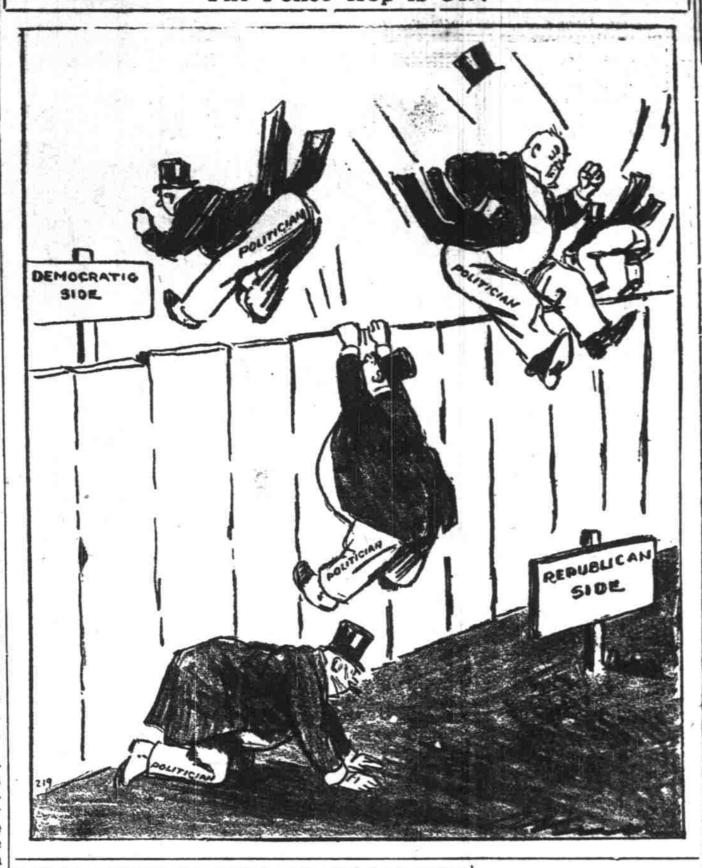

THE figures indicate that Oregon is suffering from a A squeeze play performed by motorists in this state, especially those who live in Portland where their identity may | glad to say that be concealed more easily. Washington has a $3.00 license fee and its license year is the calendar year. So now a motorist may get a half year license in Vancouver for $1.59. So the disloyal Oregon may go across the river, buy a half-year's license, come back, get a three months permit in this state. At the end of this time he can get a 9 months license in Oregon; or possibly he may drive back across the river and on return get a new permit good till January and thus beat the state of Oregon out of at least a half-year's license money.

While this state is selling only half as many licenses as a year ago, at Vancouver the demand for half-year licenses shows a big gain. The state police should get busy and round up a few dozen of these chiselers. If they were fined $25 apiece they would make a good example to several hundred Cyril G. Brownell of Portland has been charged with the crime of robbery of the initiative petitions for university consolidation. The complainant is Dr. MacPherson, one of the sponsors of the initiative. This step bears out the comment of The Statesman on Wednesday that the lifting of the petitions was not a hoax but a "deal." The arrest of Brownell does not end the matter. He is entitled to and will receive a fair trial. But the probe needs to go further, if Brownell is guilty of the offense. What was the inducement that led him to take petitions? If money passed, who put up the money? Perhaps that is another question that may prove "embarrassing".

Tonight the Dufwin Players will appear at the Elsinore, presenting a New York comedy success, "Rough Women". We do not know anything about the players or their vehicle, though they are said to have played it a thousand times in Portland. But it will be a treat to see a professional company again. In fact it would do the people of this town good to dress up and go to the the-ay-ter ence more and see a real show with flesh and blood performers.

The Fence Hop is ON!

to be heard in his own defense,

Children with diabetes usually sity for strict diet, and they require

These little patients should be taught to eat slowly and chew their food carefully, and it is best for them to rest before and after meals.

If insulin is given, the child should rest after it is given, before eating.

A definite schedule should be arranged for each day, for diabetic children who are taught habit and routine overcome many of the handicaps of this disease. School work should be encouraged, but Not all cases of diabetes require insulin-only those where sugar persists in spite of rigid diet. Great

The Giving of Insulin

The amount of insulin given at the beginning of treatment is grad-

the child receives a minimum amount. Never give insulin unless never forced.

properly used.

diabetes. They have excellent appetites also, yet lose weight. If these signs are present the child should be taken to a physician for examination, and a test made for sugar.

Answers to Health Queries

M. E. Q.—What should a girl of | weight for one of this age and height 18, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weigh? | as determined by examination of a the same food as diabetic adults.

BITS for BREAKFAST

By R. J. HENDRICKS-

When politics was hot:

eer and wit, who was "Specs" or Annan Baldwin in his Marion, In-A. J. Baldwin, Salem auction-

The letter informed Charles Baldwin that Dr. L. G. Thompson congress, and as the field was er by word, resolution or petilarge and the time short, the doc- tion, on all subjects connected tor was placing great reliance with the administration of the upon the activities of his friends, government, and I look upon the a true whig, and the following the 'gag' rule, and the resolution letter I have just received from | censuring the Hon. Mr. Giddings him will acquaint you with his of Ohio, for having presented citizens feel a deep interest:

"He says: 'While I would not claiming to have attained the interfere with the domestic insti- maxim of human liberty.' tutions of the slave states insured to them by the constitution of the United States, yet I am opposed that he looked upon that as a to, and would oppose the exten- plain and fearless statement of and form. I have been long of ZEN should condemn," and he the opinion that individuals of added that any one interested both political parties have DIS- might see the original letter of

HILDREN as well as adults

Dr. Copeland

the excess sugar

accumulates in

In former

in childhood was almost always

fatal, but I am conditions have improved amazingly. As a result of the discovery of insulin, and with a careful pre-

a normal adult life.

child with this disease may grow

Because the disease is not expected to develop in children, it is often overlooked. It should always be suspected if a child drinks an unusual amount of water and urinates

frequently and copiously, for these are characteristics of children with

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

may suffer from diabetes. As in the adult, the body of the afflicted child is unable to deal properly with the sugars and starches. They readily understand the necessary of the distance of the readily understand the necessary of the distance of the sugars and starches.

(History minded people will

Dr. Thompson.

recall or at least be interested in the incident of the application of the famous (or infamous) gag GRACED themselves by truck- rule of the lower house of conling to the dictation of southern gress of that day. The friends of neighbors, and honestly believe slavery were in the saddle then, Annan Baldwin in his Marion, indiana, home, keeps in touch with the present time are owing to the truckling of northern men with truckling of northern men with of a series of resolutions in the lower branch of congress, the burcousin to the Bits for Breakfast States under any pretense what- they might be at home, and what-"Marion in the Mirror." In a re- the traffic of human flesh in the from the federal constitution." cent issue she printed a letter District of Columbia, and I were void beyond their boundarfrom S. A. Russell to Charles would also vote to REMOVE ies. It was a note of defiance that Baldwin, grandfather of A. J. THE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT brought a vote of censure-with Baldwin. The date was June 8, to a free state if that disgraceful the gag rule clapped on, so that traffic could not be done away Mr. Giddings had no chance to even have a hearing.)

Some people who listened in " 'I believe it to be the right on the talkfest yclept the demoof every American citizen to encratic national convention at joy and express an opinion, eith-Chicago a few days back imagined they were getting absent treatment to something hot. But they were mistaken. That is, compared with the political battles waged in the rectic years preceding the war of 1861-5, by the side of which the affair in the windy city was an old fashioned quilting party.

The columnist of the Marion Mirror added: "Charles Baldwin was one of the early settlers who operated the underground railroad, in connection with Mos-Mr. Russell told Mr. Baldwin es Bradford, Nathan Coggehall men who believed in freeing the colored people from the bonds of slavery, and Grant county play ed a prominent part in aiding the escape of hundreds of slaves from their southern masters."

As noted above, Charles Baldwin was the grandfather of A. J. Baldwin of Salem. Nathan Coggeshall was a great uncle of Mrs. Alice Edmundson of this city; her grandfather's brother Mr. Baldwin remembers that Levi Coffin, a prominent Quaker preacher, was the chief passenger agent of that particular branch of the famous underground railroad, besides being the general manager.

A great uncle of President Herbert Hoover was one of the and actually were to other directors. He was a member of the wholesale drygoods concern of Shipley, Hoover & Co., Cincinnati, across the Ohio river from Louisville. The runaway slave would be secreted at Cincinnati, and thence spirited away under cover of darkness to Richmond, Wayne county, Indiana; thence by the same processes transferred to Marion, Grant county, in that state; thence to Wabash, Wabash county-and from there to Michigan, and across Lake Michigan into Canada. There, on British soil, ipso

New Views

Do you favor capital- punishment for men guilty of first-degree murder? Why or why not?

Tom Wood, salesman: "Yes, most certainly, it's the only way to cut down crime."

these signs are present the child should be taken to a physician for examination, and a test made for sugar.

Regulate the Diet

If diabetes is found, the child's diet should be regulated by the family doctor, and if sugar continues after a strict diet has been followed, it will be necessary to use insulin. R. Goldsmith, salesman: "Of course—to help break up the gangster rings and clean up the W. A. Sampson, grocer at 975 Market: "That depends on how it comes up. In some cases, I believe in capital punishment wheth- "Truth crushed to earth shall rise not."

2.—What are the symptoms of tuberculosis?

A.—She should weigh about 123 pounds. This is about the average pounds. This is about the average contains a specific flush. Ted Tanton, laborer: "I don't believe in capital punishment in any case."

The Murder of the Night Club Lady By ANTHONY ABBOT

SYNOPSIS Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Loin Carewe, "The Night Club-Lady", and her guest, Christine Quires, are mysteriously murdered in the former's apartment. Scor-pions were the instruments of death. The police suspect Guy Everett, the last person to see Christine alive. Lola had blackmailed Everett. He, however, claims that Christine dis-covered a plot to bill Lois and forward covered a plot to kill Lola and feared for her own life because of he knowledge. Police Commissioner Thatcher Celt learns that a young Paris bank clerk, named Basil Bou-cher, loved Lola. After robbing a bank to buy her a ruby, Basil disappeared. His parents sold medical laboratory specimens. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, became hysterical at the mention of Basil, calling her daughter a beast and saying Lola never loved him. Edgar Quires, Christine's brother, left his Rochester home for New York following the receipt of a telegram the day of the murders. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Suspicion also points to Dr. Hugh Baldwin when it is disclosed that he purchased scorpions. He had stated heart failure caused the deaths. Colt, calling to question Baldwin, finds him dead - from a scorpion bite Mrs. Baldwin reveals that she knew her husband was involved with Lola In Baldwin's desk the Commissioner finds a statement in which the doctor explains he accidentally poisoned Gaylord Gifford, Lola's husband. Lola's knowledge of this placed Baldwin in her power. She forced him to! supply narcotics which she used to victimize her friends and later black- done criminal things too long. of this letter-I truly die by my mailed them. Then she ordered him There was no moral strength left own hand." to obtain a scorpion to commit a for me to draw upon." murder. Baldwin learned that Vincent Rowland, the lawyer, was be- in this extraordinary manuscript. A Hugh Baldwin lay dead at our feet, hind Lola's blackmailing and real- smaller sheet of paper was laid be- Had he actually taken his own life, ized his knowledge of their activities tween the leaves. On the top, I read: in horror and remorse? There marked the doctor for death.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE TOLD Lola that I wanted to see her alone. She consented and took me into the boudoir. I told | I her that I had the scorpions in two one end-" boxes in my overcoat, which I had thrown over my arm as I entered her in the strong black script: bedroom. She became very eager and entreated me to let her see them, sides myself? Often I debated that But I hesitated. I explained to her question. But she had so many irons Tony," he began, "that Doctor Baldhow dangerous they were. I told in the fire, it might easily be some- win could have saved three lives. her that she ought not to take risks one I did not even know. I felt his own included, had he had the squarely in the eyes and told her was like a man walking in a night- Street and tell me the facts. I could that murder was a game that was mare. Then, only a day or so before have protected that man from

as frankly and laughed. She de- boxes I had given her. manded the scorpions and full instructions as to how to manage them. I gave her the boxes with of having stolen them back. I had been to the apartment which she started for the door. Just as my hand had given me, for often she wanted portant," Colt replied. "It happened was on the knob, she called to me. | me to come in and see her without to be blackmail, instead of jewel most detestable distinctness. 'One of these days I may be sendsick all of a sudden. Understand?"

too well. But I had no idea of the supply man, Ricardo Villafranca. devilish reach of that woman's imever happens, I can tell you right call to come to Lola's apartment teresting suspicion - for Baldwin that's sick. When you do, look on remember. Then stick your hypo understand?

against such a fiendish, damnable trouble and then in self-defense I be the man to take bold, decisive the woman is Lola Carewe.

was a coward—the worst coward pose me—I do not care to live. Disin history I was in too deep. I had regard all I said at the beginning Distrit of servitude dropped off.

cessories after the fact.

in retrospect, they are amazed that American statesmanship of the time was so futile as to allow matters to come to that pass-costing in money alone

many times the values of all the slaves, to say nothing of the cost

in lives. Yet one hears constant complaints at our present statesmanship, which in many respects, despite its many failings,

is far superior to the period,

preceding that armed struggle.

IN HOSPITAL HERE

Wynn, who lives east of Gervais, is quite ill at his home. He has

The eternal years of God are hers;

But Error, wounded, writhes in

-BRYANT.

pain, And dies among his worshippers."

GERVAIS, July 21 - George

while I was writing this."

And at the bottom of the page I read: them? "Everything has happened-now

"Whom did she mean to kill be- ighted it. of any kind. Then I looked her comforted by this reflection. But I manhood to come down to Center New Year's, Lola telephoned me in everything, disgrace in his own "She looked me in the eye quite a rage. Someone had stolen the profession included strict instructions and then I a key to the apartment which she of something real-something im-"'Look here, Baldwin,' she said I was weakening. She made me him, say I. I have had the Rockin her soft and always lovely voice. promise to get her more scorpions. Ribbed Securities Corporation looking for you on a hurried matter. I would obtain two more scorpions, shop affair, and the officers have mean, somebody may be sick-taken But I explained that it would again all shipped to South America." take weeks. The specimens had to "I nodded. I felt I understood all be sent for. I would have to see my to relight his pipe.

"Well,' she drawled, "if that -my terror-when I received a across the floor. "It reveals the innow what is expected of you. When just a few hours ago. But my conyou get here, you'll find somebody sternation was increased tenfold when I entered the room and saw their arm for a bite. On the arm, the victim was Lola Carewe herself.

"I was in a panic. There she lay. needle right in the bite. Do you I looked at her arms. She herself had been bitten by the scorpion. "I do not know to this day how I The mark was plainly there. In self- the premises last night. Right! If stood there without crying out defense I said she had had heart Rowland were frightened, he might scheme. Yet she was looking at me, performed the trick which she had action. That has always been his smiling, serene, beautiful. Yes, I taught me. I put the needle into the thought, the devil is a woman and bite, and thus obliterated all trace. spectacular affairs, always. More-"Vincent Rowland did not an- Christine Quires - by the same swer when I bade him good-night, I deadly scorpion bite? I do not And yetwent home in the depths of despair. know. But I am going to get one I tried to forget about it. I plan- more scorpion. After what I have sentence uncompleted, while he ned a trip out of town. I would not done tonight - and the knowledge knelt by the body and stared at it be there when I was sent for. But I that Lola's papers will surely ex- moodily.

Here, abruptly, the writing end-Here there was an interruption ed. There was no signature. Doctor "I have just been called to Lola's seemed little doubt of that. But apartment-this New Year's Eve- the accusations-veiled and specific which he had left behind-what of The letter was not the end of am back here—there can be only the mystery. It was the beginning of a larger and more baffling problem. Thoughtfully and deliberately, Thatcher Colt filled his pipe and

"It is a melancholy probability,

"Looks like this blows up Dougherty's jewel-ring idea,""I remarked. Colt nedded.

"But Dougherty was on the trail attention to my call. She thought ting somewhere, More power to "To calm her, I promised that I ed up this morning. It was a bucket-

Here the Commissioner paused

"That letter of Baldwin's is "However, I kept delaying, but really very upsetting, about Rowfinally did it. Imagine my surprise land," he resumed, as he sauntered seems to have no real proof as yet -that Vincent Rowland is a rogue. Suppose he is? Is he a murderer? "If he were the one he had every cause to be the other," I argued. "And some semblance of opportunity-that is to say, he was on method in his court-room battles,-"But who killed her? Who killed over, he might figure that these very three people stood in his way.

He stopped short, leaving the facto, he was a free man. That been in a hospital in Salem under kles, Calif., and Mrs. A. M. Jones is, by the fact itself of being in observation. Two of his daugh- of Longview, Wash., are with a British possession, his chains ters, Mrs. J. C. Adams of Sprec- their parents.

DIVERSIFY Have Money

ORE farmers every year are following the Diversified Farm movement. Why? Because over an average of five years they make more money than a one crop farmer. This bank encourages a greater diversified movement

.. our officers will gladly advise with you. START SAVING REGULARLY NOW We Welcome YOUR Banking Business

UNITED STATES SALEM, ORE. AIX mber Federal Reserve System A Strong Bank, Thoughtfully Manage

