

LADS HOME FROM OCEANSIDE OUTING

Enjoyment General, Nobody Was Homesick Declares Latest "Dispatch"

Members of the Y. M. C. A. camp at Oceanside who returned to Salem late yesterday after 10 days at the coast, heralded their return in a letter sent to this newspaper by Robert Pound, Jr., one of the camp members. Excerpts from Pound's letter follow: "This bunch of nature study 'nuts' leave lizards, frogs, bugs, klams, crabs, seaweed and bird feathers strewn all over the place. They set around and study the fool things to see what they are made of and how. However, Mr. DuBois, nature teacher, knows all about the things.

"Dick Chambers put some toads and insects in a box yesterday to study and today the insects were gone. Chambers claimed some of the boys swiped his insects but Mr. DuBois said the toads ate them up.

"Sharkey Arbuckle is the champion boxer for the hill kids and he likes the wood carrying class, too.

"Leland Pritchett, the parson's son, is the best natured kid and the biggest eater.

"None of the fellows is homesick, not even Ray Farmer or Jack Nelson or Mack Mason, who are the smallest kids in camp. You ought to see them cut wood and peel spuds and wash dishes. I hope their folks made 'em keep it up when they get home.

"Last night we had stunts and our tent got the first prize. Fred Remington's tent got first today on inspection. There were all kinds of stunts last night including a marshmallow and string race, blowing a nickel in a bottle to make it rotate, blind-folding, songs and takeoffs on the funny things at camp.

"Fred Blatchford has a class in wood carving and the kids are making all kinds of animals and roosters and chickens out of wood, and also donkeys and elephants."

WORK DAY REDUCED BY ACCIDENT BOARD

The six-hour day for all employees of the state industrial accident commission in Salem and Portland will go into effect August 1, Charles T. Early, commission chairman, announced yesterday. No further reductions in salaries are contemplated although the new work day will reduce the amount paid each man 25 per cent.

The commission adopted the new schedule as a method of keeping within its budget which is limited to 10 per cent of the receipts from employers and employees.

Field auditors in Portland who have been on half-time work will be given more employment while field auditors outside of Portland will be given full time work but on reduced schedules of pay. The commissioners themselves will accept salary reductions but will continue their present work schedule.

Commissioner Early pointed out that the reduction in the length of the working day was deemed the most equitable way to reduce operating expenses of the accident commission.

Early pointed out yesterday that all employers who engage in a hazardous occupation without giving the accident commission written notice of their operations were liable to the commission for costs of all accidents prior to the time of filing such notice.

In addition to the civil liability the employer would be guilty of a misdemeanor for each day he operates before the written notice is given.

Reedsport Fish Dealer is Fined

Clyde Chase, Reedsport fish dealer and among the state's larger packers, was fined $100 and costs in justice court here yesterday for dealing in fish without a license. Chase was arrested by state Police Officer Ben Claggett on warrant from the justice court here. He paid the fine.

PAID HONORS

Mrs. Isabella Greenway, National Committeewoman from Arizona, seems pleased at the honor shown her by her name being considered as a possible Vice Presidential candidate, though she confessed she hadn't much hope of attaining such a high office. Mrs. Greenway has long been an active member of her State's political organization.

Service Club's Operator Faces Count of Fraud

Allegations of fraud and the asserted use of fictitious credits by one V. E. DeCamp, San Francisco, service club operator, are made in a suit filed in federal court recently against the Insurance Security Funding corporation, F. D. Jones, local representative of the Oregon Motor association, received word of the suit yesterday. DeCamp's representatives operated recently in Salem, Jones said.

It is alleged in the suit that DeCamp attempted to bolster the finances of the Security firm and the automobile association by issuing $120,000 in fictitious credits for the purpose of concealing the insolvency of the defendant.

PARKING SPOT FOR TOURISTS FAVORED

Resolution From Lions Club To go Before Aldermen At Next Meeting

A resolution offered by the Lions club will be presented at the next meeting of the city council asking that the council set aside a parking district for tourists, as a move to encourage tourist trade. The recommendation is made on the grounds that tourists are not now able to find parking room in the business section, and that a similar plan adopted in other cities has been successful. The Lions members suggest for such an area the district south of Court street between High and Church and the north side of State between High and church. Suggested wording for the parking sign in these areas: "Tourist parking—stay as long as you like. Tourists only. No time limit." A second resolution passed by the club and to be presented to the city council asks that arrows be placed at all highway turns indicating the route of the highway. Despite the highway markers, tourists often pass by the highway turn, it is said.

At the Lions meeting yesterday President W. R. Newmyer reported on the annual convention held last week at Klamath Falls. Roseburg was selected as the convention place for next year. Ed Shea of Portland is new district governor for this district, and a Lebanon man drew the deputy district governorship. Newmyer said entertainment features provided by the Klamath Falls group were particularly outstanding. These included a trip to Crater lake, entirely enjoyable although the host Lions didn't succeed in drawing fine weather for the trip; boat races and rides, and the governor's ball.
