Games Today
West Side at Salem, 2:30, Olinger field.
Albany at Eugene.
Pacific Outfitting at Bend.

Three teams may stay in a tie for first place in the State league after today's games, but two of them won't be the Salem Senators and the West Side Babes. These two meet here at Olinger field and one is bound to drop. Eugene and Pacific Outfitting, the others in the four-way tie, are playing the tall ends, the Outfitters invading Bend and the Townies entertaining the Albany Aleos.

The Senators beat West Side here 5 to 4 early in the season, one of only two defeats the Babes have suffered.

Carrying out the same policy that used to cause him to wear that old shirt, Leo "Frisco" Edwards, manager of the Senators, will make no change in the lineup today. Dwight Adams will be available gain but "Frisco" plans to keep Walt Erickson on first base for the present. Walt turned in a couple of circus plays last Sunday, sprinting around in front of tow hard drives that appeared to be away.

The rest of the team will look just as it did last Sunday when it pulled the Eugene Townies down on a level with the rest of the leaders. "Squeak" Wilson will be on the mound. He has allowed just nine hits so far this month. Charles to Oppose Wilson on Mound

Manager Ray Brooks of the West Side team, which received a big boost in Gregory's column in the Oregonian this week, has indicated that Treadway Charles, who was driven off the mound by the Senators here early in the season, will climb the hill again today and Brooks is confident that he will stay there through the nine innings. Charles hasn't started any league games since that unsuccessful attempt, due to a sore arm; but recently he held the traveling Wichita team which played here last week, to three hits, indicating that his arm is now in proper shape.

SOLONS RALLY TO DEFEAT MACKMEN

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—A ninth inning rally by Washington today enabled the Senators to nose out Philadelphia 6 to 5.

OLYMPIAN

Ready to fight for Uncle Sam on land or sea. Moffett is the 125-pound representative of Uncle Sam.

CURT COMMENTS

The other night in Medford Ivo Lomski pulled one that suggested he had learned something from the wrestling racket during his brief switch-over to that field of endeavor. He was knocked down in the first, second and third cantos and then put his opponent, Jack McCarthy of San Francisco, to sleep in the fourth, bouncing one on his chin while the Golden Gate boy was talking to his second.

The hot races being waged in a number of baseball leagues suggest a leaf copied from the wrestlers' book also, but you never suspect baseball of anything like that, even when it's a hard pull to get people through the turnstiles. Our own State league is all knotted up, but would any of those boys give away anything? No answer necessary.

But cheer up, America. This has nothing to do with sport except that the football clubs, alias colleges, which are looking forward to slim pickings this fall, may take heart.

We don't claim prophetic vision but we have rather a comprehensive ticker tape, so to speak—the Associated Press leased wire—unrolling before our eyes every night. And little items from here and there hint that a gradual improvement in business is coming about. Lacking any definite causes for improvement—though for that matter there were no definite causes for the slump—the solution seems to be that people are just getting tired of talking depression and beginning to engage in "business as usual."

PORTLAND, Ore., July 23—(AP)—Although outbid by the visitors, the Portland Beavers-Ducks used the stick effectively at the right moments tonight and shut out Hollywood, 6 to 0.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23—(AP)—Ray Joiner held the Seals scoreless after the first inning today and the Oaks won 5-2. Both teams got 12 bingles, but Joiner kept the home team's safeties well scattered, while the Oaks slipped over a run in alternate innings for awhile, then clinched things with two in the seventh.

Fuzzy Huff started the Oaks scoring in the second, clouting out three-bagger, and then romping home after Pinnell's sacrifice fly. Fuzzy also occasioned the last push, when Donovan threw his grounded wild, letting in Brubaker and Blackery. Brubaker had singled, and then gone to third on Blackery's double.
