Oregon Grape Jelly Is no Longer Myth For Island Women

GRAND ISLAND, July 30.—Mrs. Will Umbanhour, after having heard of such an experiment, tried her luck at making some jelly from the berry of the Oregon grape. The finished product proved satisfactory and has a beautiful color.

As to taste, it has one peculiar only to that of the Oregon grape, with a much more tart flavor than that of the ordinary grape.

After hearing of Mrs. Umbanhour's success a neighbor woman experimented by making a jelly with a combination of Oregon grape and apple juices which indeed proved a delight, and with a more mild flavor than that of the grape alone.

Looks at the Orient; Ringel, ed., America as Americans See It; Bolitho, Albert the Good and the Victorian Reign; Atherton, Adventures of a Novelist.

Dutton, The Samaritans of Mokolai; Bronson, Jason Lee, Prophet of the New Oregon; Mahan, Marie Louise, Napoleon's Nemesis; United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission; Special news releases relating to the life and time of George Washington; Bruhn, Elementary Lessons in Lip Reading; Bruhn, Lip-reading for the Deaf; Kinzie, Lip-reading for the Deafened Adult.
