Cogitations Along the Way . . .

WHAT are the which one mutters at a tea party? The question from a worried debutante-Here might be an "example" answer from conversation overheard at a tea party-"The girl is really very worthy and it is a splendid thing that she is getting this chance"-the topic went on into philanthropy and was not gossip. "Children are such interesting things these days" and from here ensued a discussion of the abilities of a small girl. "By comparison with factory canned fruit and home canned fruit I have come to the conclusion" and then followed an interesting and intelligent discussion of household canning problems.

This and more made us wonder if perhaps the scathing remarks about "tea cup Mrs. Marie McCall prattle" might not be quite a Is Dinner Hostess bit over done, and that perhaps women get equally as much intelligence showered ed with small quilled dahlias, yelupon them at tea parties as low tapers in sliver candlesticks, men do at luncheon or dinner and yellow nut baskets, was carclubs. Salem Women Busy With Plans for Entertaining Rotary Women

Women's Organizations Make Ready for G. K. P. Club Hostess Approaching Fall Activities in Busy Committee Meetings

Year Book Committees of Women's Club and Daughters of American was paid Mrs. W. E. Pickens Revolution Among Very Active Club Groups

WHILE the personnel of the clubs vacation here, there and you, forgetting the responsibilities and plans for club activity there are the special committees which stay home and labor making plans for the coming year, deciding upon year books and printing, and in general laying the foundation for the coming year's activities.

The Salem Women's club and the Daugh ters of the American Revolution are two of the largest women's organizations in the city and the work of mapping out a course of the bowl action for each group entails the consideration of a large membership in placing committees and dividing work for the year.

The Women's club under the presidency of Mrs. Hannah Martin for this year is having its work planned out by the year book committee of which Mrs. W. I. Staley is chairman.

The work of the club carried on in general by departments is now quite well planned and department heads are Meet in Silverton at work making plans for the various activities under each province.
