Recollections of two previous seasons, between the same teams will crowd into today's picture when the Salem Senators and the Bend Elks meet on Olinger field; the tail-end Elks who have just come to life and the Senators, fighting to maintain striking distance of the leaders.

One of these recollections has to do with a 1 to 0 game which the Senators won from the Elks a few weeks ago at Bend, in which the same hurlers, "Squeak" Wilson of Salem and Clyde Wauder of Bend, battled through the tightest mound duel of the State league season to date. Each allowed eight blows but the only scoring came on a three-bagger by Hubert Ashby and a squeeze play that brought him home in the first inning.

The other recollection goes back to the Willamette Valley league of 1928, in which the Senators and the Bend team, then known as the Eagles, fought their way to the front and then battled in a three-game series for the title. The final game was played at Eugene and was no pitchers' battle though Curtis Davis, now a headliner on the mound staff of the San Francisco Seals, was one of the pitchers.

Bend won that one 11 to 10 in ten innings, though outbid by Salem 15 to 11. Of that Salem team, only "Frisco" Edwards and Harold Olinger remain in this year's roster; Bend has three men who played yesterday, Pete Almy, W. A. Wood and Rex Eubanks. It was a great day for spectators to see the south side of outfielders going north.

Two Players Sign Up With Senators

For today's game, the Senators have added Kenneth Manning and Carl Wood to the club roster. Manning has been playing first base for Woodburn in the Cascade league and Wood, a cousin of "Doby" Wood, relief pitcher, has been outfielding for Amity. Both are heavy hitters and may prove valuable in the games that are to come. They were signed up just in time to get under the wire, new registrations being barred after today.

Hopes of the Senators that the two teams ahead of them in the standings, Eugene and West Side, will be brought down a peg today are not overly bright as the West Side is playing Albany, the fifth place club, and Eugene is meeting the Schapp's team, formerly the Pacific Outfitters, who are tied with Salem for third position. However, it was this team which handed Eugene one of its two defeats, Salem furnishing the other.

No matter how those games turn out, however, the Senators just have to win today to retain much chance for the pennant. On the other hand, the Bend sluggers who handed Schapp's a neat drubbing last Sunday, will be mighty hard to stop.

PARIS, July 30—(AP)—A nimble, crafty pair of American youngsters, Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, teamed to perfection today to win a bitter three hour doubles battle with France scores the first American victory in three matches, and revive United States hopes of Davis cup victory that all but died yesterday.

Through five long sets, always improving as the duel wore on, the crack doubles combination downed Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon 6-3, 11-13, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4, before a frantic French crowd of 10,000 and carried the 1932 fate of the historic trophy over into the final pair of singles matches tomorrow.

There it will be the monumental task of Allison and his singles compatriot, Elisworth Vines, to come back from the defeats of the opening day to win both matches if the United States is to regain the cup after five years in the hands of the French.

THAT mystic something which for a better name is called color—a person has it or hasn't it—and which is demanded of prize-winning luminaries, seems to be just as much in demand in other fields of sport. The track star, the auto racer, the baseball player, the gridiron star who has it, stands out from the throng.

For the next few weeks athletes from all over the world will be competing at Los Angeles for Olympic honors. And among the hundreds gathered from all corners of the earth there are bound to be men and women—who will win the appellation—colorful!

From Ireland comes the giant, Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, with the reputation of being the Emerald Isle's greatest all-around athlete. The Doctor specializes in the hammer-throw and he is credited with tossing the 16-pound weight a distance of 184 feet 4 inches in practice, just about five feet short of Pat Ryan's record throw in the United States championships of 1913.

Dr. O'Callaghan competed in the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam, and at the time was comparatively a novice, but he managed to win the event with a throw of 51.39 meters. Since then he has improved and it would not be surprising if he won the event again this year with a toss surpassing Ryan's record heave.

O'Callaghan is a giant of a man, possessed of tremendous strength, and he has that knack—which spells the difference between class and mediocrity—of applying strength and speed when it does the most good. And the good Doctor has personal-ty—too.

And then there is our own Ben Eastman, "Big Ben," regarded by the experts as unbeatable at 400 meters. In fact his record performances have won for him exemption from the trials in this event. Eastman will also try for the 800 meters. "Big Ben" is a colorful performer and when he faces the starting line all eyes are focused upon him.

From Finland come the colorful Jarvinen brothers to carry on the athletic traditions of the famous Jarvinen family. Matti, javelin champion, Akilles, decathlon champion. A picturesque pair.

A great show, this 1932 Olympiad, and certain to be the finest athletic exhibition ever seen on this continent.

H. Sisson, president of the Midwest Wrestling association, to Onas Olson, secretary of the Salem boxing and wrestling commission.

Still referring to the Robin Reed-Henry Jones title clash here recently, Sisson adds: "It is my opinion that these two men are very closely matched. I would like to hear from them as to their willingness for a 'no time limit' match."

It will be interesting to note whether Jones will be an easy man to find with challenge, or will follow the rule of most champions and refuse, until persuaded by the call of big money, to meet any but "setups" with the belt at stake. You have to hand it to Robin Reed. He wasn't hard to sign up, and the guarantee he held out for here were not really big money for a champion.

Tuesday night the new title holder will make his first appearance as a champion, at the arena when he meets "Doc" Nelson, the chiropractic specialist and ex-gridder. Fittingly, the belt will be handed over to Jones formally on that occasion.

Some of the fans thought Olson should have passed it right up through the ropes to Jones when Vern Harrington lifted Henry's hand. But there was considerable red tape to be gone through before that could be done. Jones had to enter an

WOODBURN JUNIORS TO PLAY 2 GAMES

WOODBURN, July 30.—The Woodburn Legion Junior baseball team will perform two times Sunday. In the early afternoon, beginning at 1:30, the district champions play the Starton Juniors, who have padded their lineup with several older and better ball players. At approximately 3 p. m. the Juniors will play their second game, this one with the Monitor Grange.

Both games will be played at the Legion ball park. The games, of course, are primarily practiced affairs for Woodburn, but since both teams present formidable appearing lineups, the boys may run into considerable trouble.

This will be the last appearance of the Woodburn team before it takes part in the state tournament in Portland.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 30.—(AP)—Portland increased its coast league lead to four full games tonight with a 3 to 2 victory over the San Francisco Mission. The full-game advance was made possible by Seattle's victory over the second-place Hollywood Stars.

Portland scored two runs in the fourth on three hits and a walk but the Mission tied it up in their half of the six with the two hits and two walks.

The winning Portland run came in the sixth when Palmisano scored on Higgins double.

WOODBURN JUNIORS TO PLAY 2 GAMES

WOODBURN, July 30.—The Colored Giants team from Chicago, one of the most famous of touring teams in the United States, will furnish the opposition for the Woodburn Cascade league team here Wednesday afternoon, August 3, in a game to be played at the Legion ball grounds.

The Woodburn team recently won the Cascade league title by defeating Turner, southern half winners by a score of 11-3. All indications are that the Colored Giants are anything but a setup. They have lost only a few games during their country-wide tour this year.

RECORD-SMASHERS OF UNITED STATES OLYMPIC TEAM

With the conclusion of the Olympic final tryouts and national championships at Palo Alto, Cal., even the most pessimistic-minded man who takes the trouble to scrutinize the results will have to admit that the Olympic outlook for Uncle Sam is distinctly rosy. World's records fell before Uncle's nephews like leaves in Vallombrosa. Above are some of the boys who made athletic history. William Carr of Pennsylvania shattered the 400-meter mark in 46.9 seconds; William Gruber of Southern California made the highest pole vault ever, by clearing the bar at 14 feet, 4 1/2 inches; Leo Sinton, New York, hurled the shot 82 feet, 8 inches, smashing another world mark; John Anderson of New York did likewise with the discus, heaving it 165.54 feet; Jack Keller of Ohio State tied the world's record of 14.7 seconds in the 110-meter hurdle; Kenneth Churchill, of the Olympic Club, broke the Olympic record for the javelin throw by heaving the spear 223.22 feet, and George Spitz of New York tied with two others with the great high jump of 6 feet, 6 1/2 inches. So it looks as if Uncle Sam is sitting pretty.

Our Reporter at the Olympics . . . Swim Stadium

Interesting sights at Olympic Village and Olympic Swim Stadium

Dean Cromwell, former Salem boy, coaches the United States sprinters. He's the best sprint coach in the country.

Kitamura, Japan's 1500 meter champ is one of the best long distance swimmers I have ever seen in action. He has speed plus endurance which is a rare combination. The farther he swims the faster he seems to go. (These Japs are always smiling athletes.)

The Japanese diving team members cut the water clean as an arrow. The girls do not seem to have the poise and grace the U. S. diving team possesses, but how they can dive, and they seem quite young.

I met Doctor Patrick O'Callaghan, M. D., champion hammer thrower for Ireland. He has a fine physique plus a pleasing personality and lots of wit. He's quite a Blarney and yet serious and very popular with all the men.

Eleanor Holm, United States back stroke champion, is the prettiest of all the girls. Georgia Coleman, diver, has the most personality and is quite a popular gal.

Thousands of visitors lined the outside wire fence of the Olympic village looking in at the athletes who seemed to enjoy the visitors curious stare. The foreigners proceed to pull off all kinds of funny wise cracks in their own language about the "monkeys" outside the fence.

The German and French teams are all as much hopped up over seeing Beverly Hills and Hollywood as the U. S. is over the Olympic Games. Hope springs eternal in the human breast. The Olympic village has close to 1500 athletes housed up to date.

I saw a French athlete earnestly copying down what he took to be the street and number on the Olympic Village bus door so he would get back on some bus. It said "do not stand on the runboard."

The divers are the youngest of all the contestants. Some of the Japanese and Dutch divers are only 14 years of age.

GRAND SILVER SALE HERE REACHES END

The F. & W. Grand Silver stores which has occupied the Roth building on Liberty street for over a year, terminated its business here yesterday and will vacate the store today. The concern recently went into receivership and the goods have been sold at retail to liquidate the stocks.

Prospect that the room would not be vacant long is entertained by the owners, the Roth company. Negotiations are under way, according to Edward Schunke of the owner's company, for leasing the room to another national chain organization handling similar lines of merchandise.

When the F. & W. Grand Silver stores came in they took a long-time lease on the building at a high rental and spent considerable money in remodeling the building. The location is considered one of the best in the city.

Leonard T. Cross, manager and receiver, will go to Portland to file his report in federal court. His future plans are uncertain.

Masonic Dining Room Place of Credit Meeting

Beginning next week, the Retail Credit association will hold its weekly Wednesday luncheon meetings in the dining room on the fifth floor of the Masonic building, Roy H. Wassam of the association said yesterday. The new place will afford more room and will permit dancing following any evening banquets which may be held. Bart Cravy, caterer, will serve the luncheons.

Dallas Team to Oppose Wigrich

DALLAS, July 31.—Baseball fans will have another opportunity to see an all star team from Dallas perform against an outside team Sunday when the Wigrich team from Independence comes here. The game will be played on LaCreole field and is scheduled to begin at 3:30 sharp. No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken up to defray expenses. The local team will be composed of the leading players who took part in the 1932 twilight league contests here.
