Popular Guest is Center of Much Entertaining

One of the most popular visitors to Salem during the summer months is Mrs. J. Lightner and her coming from home in California is always a signal for several pretty parties and much informal entertaining in her honor.

Mrs. Lightner is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Norrine Fick, and will also be remembered as the mother of Mrs. George Dorcas. Among the informal luncheons to be planned for Mrs. Lightner will be that of today at the Marion hotel when Mrs. C. D. Gabrielson will be hostess for a very small, informal luncheon for intimate friends of the honor guest. Covers will be placed for Mrs. Lightner, Mrs. W. E. Burns of Portland, Mrs. Frank Meridieth, Mrs. S. W. Thompson, Miss Lou Thompson and Mrs. Gabrielson.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. J. O. Lachmund will entertain with an informal tea at her home complimenting Mrs. Lightner.

About 20 of the honor guest's former friends are being invited in this delightfully planned afternoon of visiting and tea. Mrs. C. C. Gabrielson will preside at the urns. The hours have been set for between 4 and 6 o'clock.

Music for Fair Under Discussion

The Oregon Federation of music under the presidency of Miss Helen Galbreath, presented a group of talented musicians at the state fair this past year and an even superior program is being worked out by the committee in charge for this coming year.

Musicians in groups and individually will be presented from all over the state. The committees are now making plans and will have definite announcements to make in the near future.

The committee in charge is J. L. Wallin, advisory chairman; Mrs. Walter Denton, arrangements; Dr. P. O. Riley, communities; C. L. Burgraf, Albany; James Gault, Corvallis, Malvern Evans, Forest Grove, Miss Marjorie Trotter, Portland, and from Salem, in addition to Mrs. Denton, Mrs. Lena Belle Tartar, Miss Dorothy Pearce, Miss Ruth Bedford and C. E. Wilson.

The latter group met Monday night at the chamber of commerce for the first meeting and started plans for Salem day at the fair. Definite plans will be ready to announce at a later date.

Miss Helen Breithaupt entertained for the regular meeting of the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority at her home Monday evening. Bridge was in play and a delightfully informal time was enjoyed following the regular business meeting. Miss Maxine Ulrich and Miss Harriett Adams assisted at the refreshment hour.

Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS
Can you picture anything cooler than white for active or spectator sports? This model would be so chic made of pique, shantung, crinkly crepe or the new mesh weaves. It proves too, how satisfying and smart, sporty and very popular this season, tailors' frock. Pleats lend animation and swing to the skirt. It is one of those indispensable additions to your wardrobe.

STATE FAIR PLANS ARE TAKING FORM

Free Attractions Will be Stressed; Rodeo to Replace Races

There will be 275 classifications of exhibits in the land products show which will be held in connection with the Oregon state fair in September, Max Gehlhar, director of the state agricultural department, announced Saturday. The premiums in this competition aggregate in excess of $2100.

In cases where exhibitors in this show do not wish to reclaim their exhibits at the end of the fair they will be sold and the receipts applied toward defraying the costs.

The afternoon racing program and night horse shows, which were featured at previous state fairs in Oregon, will not be held this year, Gehlhar said. These events were eliminated because of the heavy expense entailed and the further fact that orders have been issued that this year's fair shall be placed on a self-supporting basis. Both the horse show and afternoon races were said to have resulted in a deficit at last year's fair.

The afternoon racing program probably will be replaced by a rodeo performance, while various ground attractions will be held in lieu of the night horse shows. There will be no charge for grandstand seats at this year's fair, with the exception of a few loges and boxes. Officials said a free grandstand is an innovation in this state.

All Available Space Will be Taken Soon

The program for this year's fair is already being arranged under the direction of Mrs. Ella Wilson, ex-secretary of the state fair board, and Mr. Gehlhar. Free attractions will be stressed, although there will be the usual number of ground shows and other concessions. Reports already received by Gehlhar indicated that all available space in the several exhibit buildings would be reserved within another month. There is a possibility, it was said, that the existing livestock barns will not be adequate to accommodate the exhibitors in this classification.

Eligible musical programs are being arranged by the Oregon federation of music clubs. These programs will be presented from a special list in the main pavilion. Miss Helen Galbreath, president of the association, will be in charge of these programs. The numbers will consist of massed band choruses, orchestras, bands and novelty ensembles. Civic organizations in the various counties of the state also are arranging special programs. These

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fischer left Tuesday for Portland where Mrs. Fischer will sing at the Commodore hotel at a banquet given for the International Walk-er League tour which convened at Los Angeles last month. Mr. Fischer will play her accompaniment.

Mrs. Gordon Wilson who with Mr. Wilson left Monday to make her home in Portland was the inspiration for several pretty affairs this week, for which Salem matrons were hostesses for social gestures farewell.

Miss Helen Boardman will entertain members of the Beta Chi sorority who are in Salem this summer, at her home, this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Dotson and daughters have returned from a week's motor trip to Rockaway and Seaside.

Hubbard—Mrs. George Grimps entertained with an attractive bridge party at her home Saturday night complimenting the members of her bridge club. High scores were won by Mrs. Walter McManis and Mrs. Albert Smith. Those who enjoyed a pleasant evening were Mesdames Neva McKeefe, Elmer Stauffer, Walter McManis, Charles Moore, Waldo Brown, Julius Stauffer, C. H. Cleaver, Albert Smith, L. A. Braden, Orle Boje, Ivan Stewart and Hugh Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Dotson and daughters have returned from a week's motor trip to Rockaway and Seaside.

PRINTS FOR SUMMER FASHION'S FAVORITE

According to Dame Fashion, the printed word is not a whit more important than the printed frock to the woman who desires to keep up with the march of mode this Summer. There are prints in all models to suit every taste and they provide a colorful note in evening, walking and sports outfits. Printed fabrics are having more popularity now than they had earlier in the season, and there is much to be said in their favor. Prints always look cool, besides at all times appearing feminine and dressy, especially when fashioned on the new lines laid down by the style moguls. Above are three outfits which recently made their debut on the Hollywood boulevards, winning instant popularity. At left is Helene Barclay, M-G-M actress, in a youthful number which may be worn for walking or traveling. The gayly-printed frock is set off with a cape jacket of the darker tone of the printed pattern. Note the dress length. It comes to just below the calf. In center, beautiful Lela Hyams, also of the screen, shows her favorite costume for the Olympic games. It is a one-piece frock of printed blue and white plaid, set off with white accessories. This outfit will be popular during the international games. At right is a lovely afternoon frock, the choice of Ruth Mannix, film player. It is of black, grey and white printed chiffon, set off with a black butterfly belt bow. Black accessories add charm to this ensemble, as does the veil-edged black hat.

will be free to the public.

Dog fanciers from all parts of the northwest are expected to manifest interest in the bench show which will be one of the outstanding attractions at this year's fair. Edward L. Scarry will be in charge. This will be the first all breed dog show to be held in connection with the state fair here since 1924. Valuable trophies will be given to owners of the winning dogs. Children have been requested to enter their pets in this competition.

Attractions Will Be up to Standard

Gehlhar declared that while the expenses of conducting this year's state fair would be cut to the bone, the attractions would be up to standard. The main gate ticket will admit fair-patron to both the grounds and the grandstand. The afternoon rodeo performance, which was introduced at the state fair for the first time last year, will be held on the race track in front of the grandstand.

A crew of workmen already is at work cleaning up the grounds, repainting buildings and otherwise placing the plant in shape for this year's fair. The large open space in front of the administration building is to be landscaped, and new flower beds are to be installed.

As a result of the necessary retrenchment in expenditures at this year's fair the grounds will be officiated by Salem police. The Salem fire department will provide the necessary fire fighting equipment. In previous years most of the police officers came from Portland, while the equipment required for fire fighting purposes came from Corvallis.

Juvenile Contests Will Draw 1000

More than 1000 boys and girls will participate in the various contests for juvenile contenders. H. C. Saylor of Corvallis, state club leader, will be in charge of this part of the state fair. The boys and girls will be housed in their own pavilion, where they will spend fair week at the expense of the state. The juvenile events in- for a week at the Gervais Girl Scout camp near Santaly.

housekeeping, sewing, home-making, and judging. The livestock exhibits in the boys' and girls' division will be unusually large at this year's fair.

The two boys and two girls winning highest honors at this year's state fair will spend a week at Crater Lake lodge in 1933 as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Price. Awards in the boys and girls contests are numerous and valuable.

The band to be employed officially at this year's fair probably will be announced within the next two weeks.

PIONEER WOMAN VISITS

NORTH HOWELL, Aug. 1—Mrs. Ed Hynes of Portland, a former pioneer resident of North Howell, is spending a few weeks during harvest with her sons, Frank and Ed Hynes of this district. Cella and Eleanor Jefferson, Ida May and Dorothy Summers, and Lois Coomer left Saturday for a week at the Gervais Girl Scout camp near Santaly.
