

CHARITY SETUP IS NOT DECIDED

Further Meetings Planned To Consider Merging Organizations

The minds of those who subscribe to relief funds for the year.

"4. That the Associated Charities at all times shall stand ready to give an account of its service and cost to donors and to the public.

(Signed) "T. A. Livesley, for Associated Charities, Letter Criticizing Service Activities

As prelude to the resolution, a letter was addressed to Community Service, of which excerpts follow:

"Deep appreciation is hereby expressed for the confidence which you evidently have in our organization as put forth in your proposed plan.

"We regret, however, that after sincere thought and consideration of your proposed plan, as submitted to us, that we still find ourselves unable to accept it. It is not that we lack confidence in the sincerity and integrity of your board nor is it a lack of reliance in the ability of your men.

"But this; that we have an organization which has served the unfortunate in the community for many years and faithfully performed a service that will live. Our men we dare say have enjoyed a full share of public confidence.

"In the next place, The Community Service in a statement of policy in writing at the beginning of last year's work. That this organization (Community Service) having been appointed by the Salem chamber of commerce as a financial agency for the purpose of helping to finance the existing very worthy organizations. Hence the six rules of operation adopted by each of the participating organizations.

"Your committee succeeded splendidly in raising funds for the above purpose, a grand total of $13,912.22. That was very well done. But out of that total amount the Associated Charities only received $2550. And had it not been for the very liberal gifts from many sources. . . we would not have been able to operate as efficiently as we did.

"Then again; along in the winter. . . the Community Service evidently changed front, reversed their policy and entered the field to administer relief. . . And in event there was any relief in relief it was caused largely by the Community Service itself, using other investigators and by not reporting their relief to the existing organizations which had been charged with the work.

"The Associated Charities therefore keenly regrets that the Community Service has at least for the time being reversed itself from its high and original purpose as a financial agency and of growing into a community chest organization putting all relief and benevolent organizations of Salem on a budget basis."

MEXICO WANTS NO BONUSER COLONY

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The department of agriculture indicated today it was not inclined to permit American World War veterans to colonize lands in Mexico as requested last week by Doak Carter, leader of one wing of the American bonus expeditionary force, from Huntington, West Virginia.

Officials were represented as believing the colonization suggestion was largely a gesture growing out of the veterans' failure to receive a bonus from the American government.

The attitude here, as expressed at the department's offices, was that Mexico probably would not gain by permitting the veterans to enter the country, because there was no indication the men had any money or resources to develop an agricultural tract. It was also explained that Mexico's first obligation was to its own people, many of whom remain to be repatriated from the United States.

MADISON'S SIXTEEN RECORDS ACCEPTED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Acceptance of 16 men's swimming records and 15 for women, including the 16 for Miss Helene Madison, Seattle, was announced today by Dr. Leo Donath, president of the International Swimming association.

Miss Madison's marks range from the 100-yards to 1600-meters, and include all but one of the free style distances between these two points. This is the 800-meters, held by Yvonne Godard, France. The names of Johnny Weismuller, and Arne Borg, for several years now professionals, are prominent in the men's list. Clarence Crabbe, who won the 400-meter free style final of the 10th Olympiad today was credited with one mark, the half-mile, at 19 minutes, 29.4 seconds, and was deprived of a chance of getting credit for a world's record in the 400 because the mark he beat by inches had a mark of 4:47, which was accepted.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A last minute move to halt the removal hearing of Mayor James J. Walker before Governor Roosevelt tomorrow failed today as the mayor set out for Albany amid cheering, shouting crowds. After a brief hearing in the Bronx, Supreme Court Justice John E. McGohean dismissed the application for a writ of prohibition to prevent the governor from hearing the charges. The move was not made by the mayor, but by the secretary of the Bronx chamber of commerce, a "home rule" advocate.

WRITERS PROTEST VETS' TREATMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A delegation of five writers left sharply-worded protests at the White House today against the evacuation of the bonus army from Washington by federal troops. They failed to obtain an audience with President Hoover.

Theodore G. Joslin, a secretary to the president, informed the group Mr. Hoover did not have time to see them. Speaking unofficially and as a fellow writer, Joslin told them it was their duty to spread the truth and if they did so they would relate that the president did his duty in sending the troops against the rioters.

"It has come to my attention," Green said, "that apparently in anticipation of the modification of the Volstead act, representatives of some brewing concerns are buying barrels and kegs in Germany and other foreign countries. They are doing this knowing that thousands of American workers skilled in this trade, are idle."

Harvest Lagging In Soviet State, Officials Admit

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A serious lagging in the grain harvest, combined with difficulties encountered by the government in making collections from the peasantry, was officially acknowledged today.

600 that Mr. Brownell offered to pay Mr. Getz for his influence in getting the bill side tracked.

"Who was to pay the watchman $1000 down and furnish him a job in Eugene for his part in stealing the petitions.
"What was the 'mysterious' influence that was going to guarantee the return of the school of commerce to Corvallis?
"And don't you think a smoke screen has been used long enough to hide the real issue involved in this matter and that hereafter it ought to be fought on its merits as an economy measure?
"Do you know that . . . the outlook for higher education is in a state of disturbance and confusion, and that consolidation is the only practical solution? If eventually, why not now, and end forever the factional differences that divide this state on nearly every important issue, disrupt the legislature, divide communities, enter into contests for governor and congressmen, color the press, embitter neighbors, lessen community and state efficiency and make it impossible for many other important measures to be considered on their merits alone. Consolidation would remedy all these evils, save the tax-payer money and give us a better system of higher education. I invite your organization to consider these things, forget personal and selfish interests and unite with us in putting over this measure."
