

WORK HURRIED ON STRUCTURE

Auditorium of new Church Of Dallas Christians Will Seat 600

DALLAS, Aug. 13.—Work on the new Christian church is being pushed forward rapidly despite the uncertain weather. The pouring of the cement for the basement was completed last week and the forms have been taken away and dirt filled in around the foundation up to ground level.

A crew of men under the supervision of Oscar Holmes is now engaged in building the framework of the building which will be of wood. The building will cover a space of approximately 104x68 feet and will be 15 feet from the sidewalks. There will be a full basement which will house the dining room, a class room, the kitchen and furnace room. The main floor will have several small class rooms which can be opened up to enlarge the main auditorium which is also on this floor.

Balcony is provided. On the second floor there will be class rooms one of which can be opened up to form a balcony for the auditorium. When all the class rooms are opened to enlarge the auditorium it will seat approximately 600 people. The main dining room in the basement will seat about 250 people at tables and a smaller room can be opened up to seat about 75 more.

The new church is being built to replace the one which was destroyed by fire late in May. Two pianos and organ and some dishes were saved from the fire.

The building committee of the church spent several weeks visiting churches in Oregon and Washington in order to get ideas for their new church. The plans were finally drawn by Walter E. Kelly, Portland architect, and accepted by the committees and congregation of the church.

The new basement is a foot deeper than the old one and was dug four feet deep. The first floor is four feet off the ground, making about an eight foot ceiling in the basement.

The members of the committee plan to complete the rooms necessary for the church, the church and Sunday schools, and the outside of the building as soon as possible with the money on hand. The part not finished now will be completed as soon as funds are available.

ST. LUKE'S ANNUAL PICNIC IS SUNDAY

WOODBURN, Aug. 12.—All is in readiness for the annual picnic of the St. Luke's parish, which will be held all day Sunday, August 14, in the city park. Preparations for this year's picnic, which always enjoys large attendance, have been nearly completed.

There will be something of interest going on all day, according to Father Rubis, who sponsors the yearly picnic. Activities will get into full swing at 10 a. m. and continue all day. The Woodburn Junior American Legion baseball team plays the strong St. Paul Miller's team in the afternoon on the Legion field. The game will begin at 3 p. m. Popular prices will prevail.

Walter L. Toose, lawyer of Portland, but well known in Woodburn, will be the speaker of the day. At noon the women of the parish will serve a chicken dinner to those who have not brought their lunches. There will be the usual games and concessions. There will be stands selling ice cream, soft drinks and confections.

All profits from the picnic will go to the fund being accumulated for the construction of a new church for St. Luke's parish. If the weather is good, it is expected that the number of people in attendance will total 2000 or over.

IRRIGATION HELPS CUT DAIRY COSTS

Third Annual Valley Tour Of Watered Acreage is Set August 18-19

How irrigation is serving throughout western Oregon to cut down production costs of dairy and other products and frequently raise quality as well, will be viewed by those who make the third annual Willamette Valley Irrigation tour, scheduled for August 18 and 19. This trip is sponsored jointly by the irrigation committee of the Oregon Reclamation congress and the Oregon State college extension service.

The tour is open to farmers, business men, bankers or any others interested in this new phase of agricultural development in this section. The trip will start at Portland and end at Eugene, with everyone free to join at any point where most convenient and drop out whenever necessary, says Arthur King, extension soils specialist, who will be in charge.

Those leaving from Portland will start Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock from Broadway and Stark streets, going at once to Hillsboro to join the Washington county party. The Asamberg party, after visiting two or three places between there and the west end of the county, the party will go on to McMinnville where the chamber of commerce is preparing another all-irrigated-products dinner.

Whenever stops will be made in Polk county under the leadership of County Agent Peck before the party goes on to Corvallis for the night. Friday morning will be devoted to inspection of the irrigation trials on the experiment station, some of which have been carried on for 25 years.

Just before noon the party will continue to Eugene where County Agent Fletcher will guide them on a tour of inspection of a number of irrigated truck farms. The number of stops has been greatly reduced from the number visited last year, in order that a better idea may be had of a few typical irrigation systems.

It is estimated that irrigation has increased 50 per cent in the county in the past year, despite shortage of money for improvements.

PRUNE HARVEST TO BE SMALLEST EVER

CORVALLIS, Ore., Aug. 12.—(AP)—With production in the northwest estimated at from only 15 to 25 per cent of a full crop, the smallest total crop of prunes in recent years is indicated early in August, the weekly prune review of the U. S. D. Bureau of agricultural economics cooperating with Oregon State college indicates.

Strange and utterly inexplicable variations of yields with fully laden orchards adjoining absolutely barren acreage with little or no relationship to such comparative factors as elevation, cultivation, spraying, pruning or previous bearing, are reported. The best

MARKET IS FOUND ON MELON SURPLUS

GRAND ISLAND, Aug. 12.—The melon growers of the Grand Island community are happy indeed to have found a market in Portland for some 19,000 crates of surplus melons, which represents approximately half the annual output in the district. Producers and buyers were brought together through the efforts of Glen S. Macy, president of the McMinnville chamber of commerce.

After a meeting was held at McMinnville in which representatives from 157 of the more than 160 acres of melons grown in Yamhill county were present, it was indicated that the local melons would be handled exclusively on the Portland market.
