Princesses Also of Native American Stock; Plans For Event Ready

PENDLETON, Ore., Aug. 13—(Special)—Two thousand Indians will gallop forth to do homage to Queen Talla-we-ton-mi and her four Indian girl attendants at the Pendleton Round-Up, September 8, 9 and 10.

The queen, appointed several weeks ago to wave her scepter over the arena of the wild west exhibition, has just named her princesses. They are Princesses Hia-tok-qu-yicht, known as Wandering Maiden; Te-a-mu-la-lote, Summer's Rainbow; Wet-a-lone-mi, Rippling Water; and Whets-wo-we-poo, A Stream at Dawn.

All are full-blooded Indians and live on the Umatilla reservation which adjoins the town of Pendleton. This is the second time in 23 years Indian girls have been chosen for this coveted honor. Queen Talla-we-ton-mi won the Indian girl beauty contest five times in succession. Princess Whets-wo-we-poo was winner in 1911 and Princess Wet-a-lone-mi won second prize in 1931.

Famous tophands of the range, coming from all parts of the country, will lay their trophies at the feet of these charming daughters of the first Americans — if they are as valiant as the Knights of King Arthur's round table.
