

YOUNG FARMERS TO VISIT STOCK YARDS

Full Day's Program Planned For Portland Trip Stayed For Thursday

SILVERTON, Aug. 15.—Plans for the Future Farmers' Market day to be held at the Portland Union stock yards, have been announced. All Smith-Hughes students who are interested in marketing hogs have been invited to go as guests of the Portland Union stock yards. The market day has been set for August 18, and the boys are to arrive at the stock yards at 8 o'clock that morning.

They will watch hogs sold to the buyers and explanations will be made of each sale by the buyers or commission men. The next procedure will be the handing out of the checks made out to the boys. At 11:15 a competitive contest will be held at which time the boys will estimate the weights of hogs.

At 12 o'clock the boys will be the guests at luncheon at the stock yards. During the luncheon hour a state meeting of the F. F. A.'s will be held. This will be followed by a visit through the Swift & Co., packing plant where the boys will watch the hogs killed and dressed, ready for the market.

Around 150 boys are expected at the stock yards for the day. Between 16 and 18 hogs will be taken by the Silvertown boys. Those taking hogs to the market from here are Elmer Thompson, Clifton Strom, Herbert Jones and Palmer Torvond.

ADAMS ENDORSED AS BANK RECEIVER

SILVERTON, Aug. 15.—Petitions endorsing E. E. Adams, former cashier of the defunct First National bank at Silvertown, for receiver, appeared on the streets at Silvertown over the weekend. H. B. Latham, cashier at the bank when it closed, is also a candidate. It is rumored that pressure will be brought by some to obtain an outside man. The receiver will likely be appointed this week.

While driving a company truck over the North Second street crossing, George Winchell, of the Portland General Electric company, and T. E. Preston, were struck by a train which was switching there Saturday. The truck was damaged considerably, but neither Mr. Winchell nor Mr. Preston were injured with the exception of a shake-up and minor bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scheeler and two sons, Jimmie and Earl Scheeler, spent the weekend at Silvertown, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Crabtree. Scheelers, who are former residents of Silvertown, are living at Tillamook where Mr. Scheeler owns a large wrecking house. Mrs. Scheeler, as Miss Rider, taught in the Silvertown schools.

Daily Health Talks

FLIES have been known to mankind through all time, but it is only within the last thirty years that medical science discovered them to be carriers of disease. Before this discovery flies were regarded as a nuisance, of course, but they were regarded as harmless and were permitted to breed in enormous numbers. This was excusable when no one suspected the relationship between flies and disease. It is not excusable today, but unfortunately many still tolerate flies and do not seem to realize the dangers of these insects.

Science has decided that the fly may possibly transmit the germs of more than thirty diseases. Typhoid fever, diarrhea and other summer complaints, it is thought, may be caused by the fly, and though not definitely proved, many authorities believe the germs of infantile paralysis are carried by the fly. Most individuals instinctively avoid filth. Because of their fear of germs and disease, they refuse to buy food that is not clean. Yet these same persons tolerate the disease-carrying fly in their homes.

The home may be scrupulously clean, but if flies are present, germs are present. Bear in mind that even if there is only one fly in the house it is potentially dangerous and should be destroyed. I cannot over-

Defenbach, Idaho historian, thinks a Dorion Woman monument should be erected at Boise, because she was with the members of the Wilson Price Hunt party of overland Astorians who were the first white men to see the site of that chief city and capital of Idaho.

Barry, capable Oregon country historian, thinks a Dorion Woman monument should be placed at Duncan, Umatilla county, where her child, born December 30, 1811, on the trail on Powder river was buried nine days later. Either there or near Meacham, where her winter camp was in 1814, after she had escaped from the massacre by the Dog Rib Indians in which her first man, Pierre Dorion, Jr., was killed.

Barry calls the Dorion Woman the first Oregon settler—dating from 1811. This is not valid. Some of the members of the Lewis and Clark expedition of 1805 became settlers—prominent among them Baptiste DeLoar, the first settler near the site of Salem, next place in history, by hardships and dangers overcome, the greater place belongs to the Dorion Woman. Also prominent among them was William Canning, whose name appears on the Champoug monument as William Cannon.

Barry also says the Dorion Woman's child born and buried on Powder river and at Duncan respectively was the first white person to be born and buried on the old Oregon Trail. That claim is valid; though the child was three-quarters Indian. The father, Pierre Dorion, Jr., was half Indian. But his father was white; Canadian French. The father was an interpreter for Lewis and Clark, and the son acted in the same capacity for the Astor overland party.

Sacagewea (present approved spelling) was the woman of the Lewis and Clark party, and the companion of Pierre Dorion, Jr., was the woman of the Astor overland party. They both gave great aid. Each is entitled to a high place in history; but in hardships and dangers overcome, the greater place belongs to the Dorion Woman. They were born in the same year, 1786. The Dorion Woman appears to have died at 64, and Sacagewea at about 64.

It now appears that eight children were born to the Dorion Woman: Baptiste, Paul, the child that died and was buried on the trail, Marguerite Venier, and Frances, John B., Marie Ann and Mary Tourpin. Either Marie Ann or Mary seems to have been the third wife of George Gay, prominent pioneer, once the richest individual in Oregon, and the other

Irish Trio Puts On Revival Series For Presbyterians

WOODBURN, Aug. 15.—The "Irish Trio," a group of young evangelists from California, is conducting a series of meetings at the Woodburn Presbyterian church this week. The three young people are singers and instrumentalists, also. Meetings are being held every night at 8 o'clock. There are also children's meetings every morning. They are Evangelist Duff, Haldine Duff and Evangeline Duff, brothers and sister.

Dr. J. J. Handsaker, secretary of the national council for prevention of war, was unable to speak at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday as was planned, and Dr. Norcross, a colleague, came instead. Dr. Norcross' talk was interesting and instructive.

TIMES TURN TURTLE

With Talkative Vein; Scribe is Audience INTO "LOG ORATOR"

By W. R. GWINN

LAKE LABISH, August 15.—Yesterday the Labish correspondent distinctly saw a turtle sitting on a log in the Pudding river. He says this without reservation. He had not been scoffing. Since the advent of the depression he has been a teetotaler. The turtle, then, was a very handsome one.

He had a long neck, and the neck was gaily colored. Long yellow gay stripes alternating with more sedate hues. His shell was dun colored and marked off into six distinct precepts. He was about a foot and a half long and rather more nonchalant than any turtle has right to be.

He sat there on the log, impudently sunning himself and snapping at flies. The flies, he confessed in an exclusive interview, were hardly so fat as they had been in '28, but on the whole, passable.

When queried, he stated emphatically that better times were just around the corner. Which corner, he wasn't certain. But, in proof he cited a recent drop in the river. It was only temporary, he said, and the river was bound to rise.

TWO ARE SERIOUSLY HURT IN CAR CRASH

NORTH HOWELL, Aug. 15.—Two persons were seriously injured Sunday evening when cars driven by L. A. Esson and Perle Pickens crashed at the W. H. Stevens corner. The injured are Mrs. D. L. Burch, of Portland, a guest of the Esson family, and Miss Dorothy DuRette, of Fairfield.

They were rushed to the Silvertown hospital for treatment, and Mrs. Esson and Mr. Pickens were also taken there, as each was cut about the face with broken glass.

The Pickens car was badly damaged and the Esson car was also damaged, but in condition to be towed home. The parties had all been attending the homecoming picnic at the North Howell grange hall and were on their way home when the accident occurred.
