In 1919 they moved west, coming to Monmouth, where for several years Mrs. Prime had operated a student home for women of the Oregon Normal school. INTEREST GROWING IN PHOTO CONTEST

Kennell-Ellis and Oregon Statesman Cooperate in Annual Event

But five weeks remain before the child photos taken in the Kennell-Ellis studios and Oregon Statesman second annual contest will be placed on display at the state fair here. Last year over 600 pictures were exhibited.

The contest is without charge to the children photographed and entries are eligible to compete for one of the 12 valuable prizes in the four classes. The age limits for entries are five months to five years. Classes include babies five to 12 months old, boys one to five years, girls one to five years, twins under five years.

Choosing of the particular print to be used in the finished photo will be left to the child's parents. Pictures taken last year proved a great attraction at the fairgrounds exhibit.

Children may be entered in the contest, free, by appointment. For appointment parents may telephone the Kennell-Ellis studios, 7830.

Miss Doris Bacon is handling the baby photo contest for the studios, Ralph Kietzing for the Statesman.

APPLE CROP THIS YEAR IS SMALLER

Pears and Potatoes Yield About Same as 1931; Less in Oregon

Pear and potato crops almost exactly the same as last year for the country as a whole and an apple crop considerably smaller are in prospect according to August government crop estimates just reviewed by the market news service of the state college extension service.

The pear crop is placed at 22,149,000 bushels compared with 21,437,000 bushels last year. Oregon's crop is estimated at 2,889,000 bushels compared with 2,886,000 bushels last year.

The country will raise 367,399,000 bushels of potatoes the government estimates, compared with 375,518,000 last year. Oregon is expected to harvest only 4,620,000 bushels compared with 4,660,000 last year. Leading commercial sections in this state, however, are raising just as large an average this year as last, say private reports to the extension service.

Total apple crop of the United States is now placed at 133,324,000 bushels of which 90,513,000 bushels are commercial. This compares with 111,506,000 bushels last year for the total crop and 104,196,000 bushels for the commercial. Oregon's total for this year and last is given at 4,950,000 bushels and 3,150,000 bushels respectively. Thus Oregon is probably to have a larger crop than a year ago, while the country as a whole will have a much smaller crop.
