

DRESS-UP DAY IS EVENT AT LINCOLN

Boys and Girls Aren't as They Seem; Winners of Prizes are Listed

The land of make believe was moved to Lincoln playground for the annual dress-up day program yesterday. Boy became girl, girl boy. Boys and girls paraded as beetle, frog, angel, actress, Humpty-Dumpty, old man and old lady. Parading together went the old-fashioned girl, the college deb, Greta Garbo, the colored lady, the Scotchman, and the school teacher. Even Huckleberry Finn came out of his story book for the occasion. Daddy, mother and baby, the happy family, were there, and cooks, fairies, brownies, gypsies, clowns, dancers—all the personages boy and girl could imagine.

The picture book parade of characters each of the 46 entrants announced by Gardner Knapp over the Cherry City broadcast car, marched in review four times before the judges, Grace S. Wolgamott, Tom Wolgamott and Mrs. Richard Polk.

Winners and their prizes were: Most original costume—Virginia Mason, school teacher, red and white print for a dress; Junior Mason, Humpty-Dumpty sweater. Prettiest costume—Mary McKay, dancer, voile for a dress; Charles Gabriel, representing George Washington, black and white leather belt. Funniest costume—Donna Unruh, old woman, gingham for pajamas; Lewis Pickle, cook, and Jack Nelson, colored woman, tied, sweaters.

Girls' prizes were donated by Miller's boys' by Bishop's. Following the costume parade and story hour, in charge of Margaret E. Nelson, a treat consisting of buns, wienies and popicles was served some 250 children through the courtesy of Stensloff's, Cherry City Baking company and Salem Maid Ice Cream company. Director Nelson was assisted by Mrs. Robert Parent, Mrs. Walter Spaulding and Mrs. LaMoine R. Clark in distributing the treat.

Children participating in the parade, and their costumes, were as follows:

MOLLISON RELATES ATLANTIC CROSSING

I couldn't see the water below me and I didn't know whether or not the wind was switching and causing me to drift off my course.

"I allowed seven degrees for drifting and my calculations must have been just about right, because when I came over land this morning it wasn't ten minutes before I sighted Harbor Grace."

Fatigue and lack of gasoline decided Mollison to come to come to earth in James Armstrong's pasture at Pennfield ridge.

"I would have tried to go on to New York, although I was terribly tired, if I had had enough gas to get me there. Ten more gallons would have been sufficient, and I think I would have been able to make my destination today."

COPCO RATES WILL BE PROBE SUBJECT

Hearing on the rates and charges of the California and Oregon Power company, which operates extensively in southern Oregon, will be held following completion of the investigation of the rates, practices and service of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, Charles M. Thomas, public utilities commissioner, announced Friday.

The telephone hearing has been set for September 20 in Portland and probably will last several weeks. Prior to this hearing Thomas has set one involving the rates and charges of the Tillamook unit of the Mountain States Power company.

Claude Lester, chief engineer for the public utility commission, estimated that six months would be required to complete the investigation involving the California and Oregon Power company. Records of the company as far back as October, 1915, are to be examined by engineers for the utility commission. Three engineers are now employed on the job, and others will be added as soon as other hearings are completed.

Two engineers are now at Medford investigating the records of the California-Oregon Power company, while another is in the field preparing an inventory of the company's properties.

COUNTY ROAD LEVY IS PORTIONED OUT

The annual Marion county road levy, annually consisting of 94 per cent of the money taken in from a four and four-tenths mills tax, from the last half of 1930 and the first half of 1931, has been apportioned to the cities and towns of the county. Since only 37 per cent of the taxes are in for 1931 an apportionment of 46 per cent is being made.

Only four cities are not included in the apportionment: Stayton, which receives the road tax as Road District No. 23; West Woodburn, which has no officers; Salem, which is exempted by charter from levying a general road tax, and Gervais, in which city the tax will be applied on a road work bill.

Following is the apportionment for the cities and towns of the county:

1930 Tax	1931 Tax
Aumsville	$8.01
Aurora	283.21
Donald	109.29
Hubbard	426.24
Jefferson	448.24
Mt. Angel	324.22
Scotts Mills	124.79
Silverton	3,566.25
St. Paul	102.84
Sublimity	120.11
Turner	300.44
Woodburn	1,176.17

A PREVIEW OF MILADY'S FALL MILLINERY

The all-important (to milady) question of what the new hat styles was answered at the display of Fall and Winter chapeaux at the show of the Retail Millinery Association in New York. Here are three of the many charming models shown there. While the turban remains most popular, even these have been "dressed up." On the left is a charming black plush creation, tipped off by the jaunty little "wings" fluttering above the wearer's left eye. The model in the center is of French design executed in black velvet with unusual draping in the front which permits a glimpse of gold hair ornament. The large comes into its own in the model on the right, which is also of black velvet. And if these do not suit your fancy there are new berets and sailors.

BURGLARY LOOT IS RECOVERED, 2 HELD

Recovering a quantity of the loot from the Star Bottling company and Brookside confectionery burglaries, city police yesterday morning arrested Gilbert Taylor, 20, and Harvey Brooks, 18, transients, and charged them with the two crimes, the former committed last Sunday and the latter on Monday night. The arrests were the result of a tip given the officers yesterday morning.

When arrested, the two youths were carrying a gunnysack containing the adding machine taken from the bottling works, police said. Other loot recovered consisted of two gallon jugs of syrup, a box of tire taps, eight pairs of leather gloves, cigars and cigarettes. Canned goods, stolen from the confectionery along with the tobacco, were taken from the youths by other transients, according to the officers.

Young Brooks was arrested here three years ago for stealing a bicycle. Juvenile authorities freed him then on condition that he go to a brother residing in Washington.

The pending suit is that of the Cascade Investment company. Defendants named are Governor Meier and Police Superintendent Gray.

Van Winkle says that in the case of the Portland Van & Storage company, begun in 1930, the outcome was adverse to the plaintiffs both in the circuit court and the state supreme court. In this action an injunction restraining state officers from collecting the litigated fees was granted, but subsequently the state tried to get the fees without success.

First of Apple Pickers Called

Two apple pickers, the first called for at the U. S. Y. M. C. A. employment office this season, were sent to work yesterday for a wage of 10 cents a box. According to Assistant Manager Dotson, this is considered good pay. Other horticultural workers this summer have been receiving unusually low remuneration.

Six other persons were placed yesterday, four as woodcutters, and one each as farmer and laborer.

MURDOCK HONORED ON 53rd BIRTHDAY; IS Co-op Manager

MONMOUTH, Aug. 19. — Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Murdock entertained at dinner Sunday complimenting their oldest son, F. E. Murdock, on his birthday anniversary. He was born August 14, 1879, near Raymond, Neb. He is one of Monmouth's most active citizens, being manager for the past 11 years of the local cooperative creamery association.

When he took the position he says there were a truck driver, a buttermaker and himself, who did

RICE MAILING OUT BOND STATEMENTS

City Treasurer C. O. Rice today will mail over 500 statements for installment and interest payments amounting to $39,111.23 due on 4 per cent Hancock Improvement bonds. The semi-annual payment, a recent innovation by state law, will be due September 1.

Of the $39,000, $12,310.75 is for interest. The average individual payment is around $35, of which about $17.50 is the bond installment. This money is placed in a sinking fund to retire the bonds, which are payable in 20 semi-annual portions.

The city, also, will make a payment September 1 amounting to $6229.33, its monthly assessment for paving of street intersections. Of this sum, $1484.28 is for interest. Heaviest city bond and interest payments come in the fall and early winter months, the period following completion of paving jobs.

Next installments will fall due March 1, 1933.
