

HOLMAN-EINZIG TROUBLE AIRE

Purchaser Uttered Naughty Words, say Affidavits Of State Employees

Holman everything I've said—I mean every word of it." He had used such a loud voice and coarse manner in making his remarks that the confusion attracted the attention of the employees who were busy engaged in their duties in the office or general office. After Mr. Einzig's departure, Mr. Ridehaugh came into the private office to inquire as to what had happened, and later Mr. Davis also remarked about the incident, part of which I understand he overheard.

Holman supplemented Miss Austin's letter by a declaration that "Oregon merchants and manufacturers" have complained at the treatment received from Einzig. "I have never been satisfied that Einzig's personal conduct was such as to inspire confidence," Holman added. "To my knowledge Einzig has used language and conducted himself in a manner unbecoming a gentleman."

No statement was forthcoming from the governor's office here and Governor Meier himself had no comment to make at Geahart. Meier is known to have been devoted to Einzig and to have been instrumental in the release of Carle Abrams as purchasing agent and secretary of the board of control, in order to give the position to Einzig.

In event Holman continues to demand Einzig's scalp and the governor refuses to follow him, open warfare may come between the governor and the state treasurer, who thus far have been fairly in accord on matters of state policy.

Whether Hal E. Hoess, secretary of state, would vote to oust Einzig is not known. He did not vote to make him secretary to the board of control. Whether he would openly oppose the governor and side with Holman is a matter of conjecture.

Einzig had no statement to make last night other than to indicate he had not received treatment at the state hospital and had compensated Dr. Bates for services rendered.

It was found here yesterday by The Statesman that several doctors at the state hospital did some private work for a consideration with the full knowledge and approval of hospital authorities.

At the statehouse yesterday there were rumors of impending political warfare with statements made that there might be statements and proofs offered if Holman continued his attack on Einzig to show that the state treasurer had frequently used the facilities of state institutions to entertain his friends. Reports were also current that Holman has been regularly in Portland, spending much of his time there conducting his own affairs.

JAPANESE FORCES IN HONGKEW AGAIN

SHANGHAI, Aug. 24.—(AP)—While the Chinese "Blood and Iron society" intensified its agitation for an anti-Japanese boycott today, Japanese soldiers in steel helmets appeared again in the streets of Hongkew, one of the Shanghai districts which was fought over early this month.

Japanese naval officials announced they had increased their guard because of the growing anti-Japanese boycott.

Japanese headquarters assured their large national colony in Hongkew that "every precaution will be taken to insure the safety of Japanese residents against the harmful mischief of unruly elements."

A boycott by the Chinese against Japanese goods was one of the factors leading up to the clash between Chinese and Japanese troops in Shanghai early this year which evolved into a large scale military operation before it was settled.

One step in the renewed boycott agitation was a warning issued to merchants through the chamber of commerce. The chamber was told to warn merchants "before the Blood and Iron society has to act."

Spanish Revolt Leaders Facing Death Sentence

MADRID, Aug. 24.—(AP)—General Jose Sanjurjo, ranking general of the Spanish army and a veteran of Morocco conquest, and three other army officers fought for their lives today in supreme court, where they are standing trial, their part in a monarchist revolt two weeks ago.

The eight military and civil judges of the mixed tribunal retired tonight to deliberate a verdict after defense attorneys pleaded for leniency and the attorney general demanded the death penalty on a charge of rebellion.

State Hospital Inmate Escapes

Genevieve Hinshaw, 23, who originally was committed to the state hospital here from Multnomah county in 1927, escaped from her room on the third floor of the building early Wednesday. Hospital officials said she probably received help from the outside, and a former inmate of the institution is suspected.

State police were notified of the escape.

SOLAR ECLIPSE DRAWS SCIENCE TO NEW ENGLAND

DR. OLIVER J. LEE CAPT. BARNETT HARRIS.

For ninety-nine seconds, on August 31, the moon will be crossing the path of the sun, below it and from such an angle that total darkness will momentarily envelop a stretch of country a hundred miles in width, reaching from a point slightly north of the Canadian border down through New England to Provincetown, at the tip of Cape Cod, in Massachusetts. Atmospheric and temperature tests will be made by many scientists, including Dr. Oliver Justin Lee, Associate Professor of Astronomy at Northwestern University, and photographed by men trained in telescopic photography, including Captain Barnett Harris of the U. S. Army Signal Corps. Besides the scientists, a regular army of amateur astronomers are headed New Englandwards to view the treat that comes rarely in a lifetime. Cameras of all descriptions are being overhauled for the event and Old Sol is due for the greatest bombardment of his career.

JUDGE NOMINATION CONVENTION TODAY

two here, is a Marion county resident.

Some talk was heard in Salem yesterday that a dark horse candidate might be brought out this afternoon against Judge Lewelling. The talk was based on John Lewelling's recent decision on the pending suit of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company which was adverse to the city. The rumor here was to the effect that ardent municipal ownership supporters might seek to have a candidate chosen for judge who would be more favorable to their cause. No actual candidate to oppose Lewelling was named.

A number of leaders at the bar in Salem yesterday expressed themselves as favoring the selection of a candidate at the primaries. Only one nominee may be chosen by the convention.

The convention today is provided for by the recently enacted non-partisan judiciary law, the meeting being held only when a vacancy occurs late for selection of a candidate at the primaries.

MOTORMAN SCOOPS CHILD FROM TRACK

LORAIN, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Clinging from the pilot of a speeding limited of the Lake Shore electric interurban line, Motorman Bill Lang today scooped from beneath the wheels of his car three-year-old Lella Smith.

Lang, a veteran motorman, had brought the limited about a curve when he noticed what appeared to be a bundle between the rails.

Looking sharply, he saw it was a baby—Lella, playing with her doll "Mivra."

Applying the brakes to the car, traveling 55 miles an hour, Lang flung himself through the door and onto the pilot barely in time to snatch up the baby.

were able to rejoin the strikers' caravan.

The county officers made their chief attack at the western outskirts of Mulkeytown, although a line of deputy sheriffs deployed along the highway to the west also joined in the offensive, pelting the tires of the strikers' automobiles with bullets and wielding clubs as the cars moved slowly along the traffic-jammed road in retreat.

To Renew Efforts
Late tonight the main body of the strikers had stopped at Pinckeyville and established camp in the Parry county fair grounds. Leaders said there would be another attempt to invade Franklin county. They did not say when the attempt would be made.

Pinckeyville is about 20 miles from the Franklin county line. Upon arrival of the strikers, Sheriff Albert C. Davis deputized approximately 1000 citizens of Parry county, and announced the strikers would be allowed to remain there until tomorrow morning and then be ordered to leave Pinckeyville.

Bullet holes were in some of the automobiles in which the strikers arrived.

TEAR GAS USED TO CLEAR ROAD

Four Officers Injured as Vapor-Exuding Auto is Stopped, Attacked the car denied they had fired shots which were heard during the melee, asserting they came from strikers.

Woman Reporter Caught in Ruckus
Numerous strikers were said to have suffered from effects of the tear gas and Mrs. Genevieve Mauck, Council Bluffs reporter, was among the onlookers caught in the attack.

Three other women also suffered from effects of the gas. Immediately after the return of the police squad car, Sheriff Lainsch dispatched an additional force of 30 deputies to supplement the 100 already gathered near the scene, and announced the tear gas attack would be renewed. He expressed concern at the presence of guns among the farmers.

Meanwhile, 13 men arrested in this afternoon's clashes between deputies and highway pickets were sentenced to 30 days in jail or ordered to pay $100 fines by Justice of the Peace Jack De Witt.

SCARTHS TAKE OVER LOUGHMILLER MILL

SILVERTON, Aug. 24.—W. Scarth and Sons of Portland, closed a deal this week whereby they are taking over the Loughmiller mill at Silvertown, which was sold to Crown mills two weeks ago. The new owners took possession Wednesday and will open for handling of wheat and all other grains by the first of next week.

Mr. Scarth, the father, has been an employee of Balfour and Guthrie of Portland for years. James A. Scarth, one of the sons, an insurance man, is here and acting in the capacity of manager for the present. The other son, W. P. Scarth, will arrive in the near future.

In an interview today, Mr. Scarth said that the new company would handle Crown products, but was not otherwise connected with the Portland concern.

Under his plan, the counties would issue bonds to be security for the R. F. C. loan. He pointed out that the tolls might be lifted when the participating counties request, but it would be on their responsibility, as the state, under the constitution, may not assume the burden of any unpaid county debt incurred for the bridges.

SAWYER SUGGESTS PLAN FOR BRIDGES

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Judge Robert W. Sawyer of Bend submitted to the state highway commission here today a plan for building self-liquidating toll bridges on the Oregon Coast highway with funds borrowed from the reconstruction finance corporation, but without danger of placing the state further in debt.

When the matter of building bridges to supplant five ferries now in service on the highway was brought before the commission here Monday, Chairman Leslie M. Scott questioned the feasibility because the state highway debt would be increased, the tolls might not be sufficient to liquidate the debt and agitation might be started to remove the tolls before the bridges were paid for.

Judge Sawyer suggested that coast counties involved, rather than the state, borrow the money and that the state contribute an amount equal to that now spent on ferry service.

VICTIMS OF GANGSTER BULLETS

Here are the two innocent victims of the most recent gangster outrage in Brooklyn, N. Y. They are Frieda Falls, 3 (left), who was shot in the abdomen, and her sister Rose, wounded in the left hand and the right arm and hand, when rival underworld factions staged a shooting affray in the street near the children's home. The outrage is reminiscent of the Harlem baby killing of last year.

MAJOR BASEBALL ON COAST SOUGHT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—(AP)—A campaign to obtain major league baseball franchises for Los Angeles and San Francisco was started today at a meeting of the Los Angeles junior chamber of commerce.

Harold Morgan was appointed chairman of a committee of four to confer with the San Francisco junior-chamber with a view of joining forces in the drive.

"It took 14 years to get the Olympic games to Los Angeles," said Cliff Rawson, secretary of the local group, "so we're starting the campaign early. Air transportation would make major league ball feasible on the coast. Our plan is to send a committee of three back to the major league meeting next winter."
