Autumn Marriages Continue With Enthusiasm of June's Gay Inspiration

Nuptials of Miss Olson This Week and the Coming Marriages of Lois Benjamin and Maxine Ulrich Hold Interest

WHAT especial charm over Cupid is possessed by the late summer and early autumn of 1932 is one of those mysteries unsolved, but true it is if the many announcements and marriages are an indication.

And with these events has come a gay accompaniment of parties almost as lively and numerous as those of the romantic month of June when such events come as a matter of course. Even with all those known there are still some of unusual interest that could be made if the time was just right for the parties concerned.

For instance there is an engagement of one of Salem's most promising young men very few, and those who have seen the ring very few, and those who have seen the ring are still talking about its beauty.

And there is one of those provoking marriages which are so rare—one that has been kept a successful secret since last May and never a word whispered until recently when the well known maid who is one of the participating parties began telling a friend here and there, and the groom in a northern city also has "just begun to talk" so that the friends and family there are gasping.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith, Jr., caused no little stir and now that they are home plans are being laid for receiving them socially. The first thing to compliment them will be the large tea for which Mrs. Homer Smith, Sr., and Mrs. Margaret LeFurkey, her sister, will entertain at the Smith home Wednesday afternoon.

The invited guest list will include a large number of the maids and matrons of Salem and many out-of-town guests.

Mrs. U. G. Shipley, Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, Mrs. B. O. Shuckling, and Mrs. Romeo Gouley will preside in turns at the urns during the afternoon hours of from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Clarence Keene of Silverton, Mrs. Ralph Cooley, Mrs. Henry Cornoyer, Mrs. Ray Hartman, and Mrs. F. W. Poorman will assist in the living rooms, and in the dining room will be Miss Mildred and Miriam Swafford of Oregon City, twin sisters of the guest of honor, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Frances Keene of Silverton, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Dorothy White and Mrs. Frank Shafer.

The marriage of Miss Alida Olson to Marvin Headrick will be a pretty ceremony of Friday afternoon at the First Methodist church with Rev. Fred Taylor officiating. This marriage was of more than ordinary interest in the younger circles of the city because of the popularity of both Mr. and Mrs. Headrick.

The wedding was a very quiet one marked by distinctive simplicity. Only immediate members of the families and friends were present. The bride, who was unattended, wore a smart ensemble of black and white and wore a corsage of white gardenias and yellow roses.

Mrs. Headrick is the niece of Women to Play Important Part in National Convention in Portland

Women From Over State Will Make Auxiliary Sessions of National Convention Meetings to be Remembered

WOMEN of Salem this week will become "convention" minded with plans for the national Legion convention in Portland which will convene September 12, but social activities for which will begin September 11.

The Fidac committee of the local Auxiliary will entertain this Wednesday with a large bridge tea in the veterans room of the army. The affair is planned as one of the largest of the year and the proceeds from it will be used for expenses of the Auxiliary quartet and trio which will go from Salem to compete in the national competition in Portland. These two singing organizations have won much commendation in the state, especially the quartet which has taken numerous prizes. It is only a justifiable surmise to say that they stand a good chance of bringing national honor home to Salem.

Mrs. Christopher Butte is chairman of the Fidac committee and her assistants are Mrs. J. T. Delaney, Mrs. Glenn Sealey, Mrs. Walter Zosel, Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, Mrs. A. F. Johnson, Mrs. Albert Gragg, Mrs. King Bartlett, and Mrs. H. R. White.

Late Saturday evening it was announced by Mrs. Butte that 30 reservations had been made to date and more expected Monday.

Interest in the auxiliary side of the convention is outstanding. There are according to word from Portland headquarters, 56 committee chairmen and 2,000 women working all volunteer assistance. The work of planning and arranging affairs is completed, according to Mrs. Pat Allan, general committee chairman.

One of the many details arranged for the pleasure of the visitors is a flower headquarters at 65 Sixth street where fresh flowers will be brought every day by public spirited citizens and clubs. It is the suggestion of the committee that Salem might do a worthy piece of assistance by aiding in supplying the many flowers that will be needed. Also the suggestion comes that Salem might send in some special favors for the States dinner, which will have as one of its features a competitive event as to which state's table is the most attractive. This dinner will be held in a block square pavilion and to it all delegates, alternates and distinguished guests have been invited.

Speaking of distinguished guests, the representative from the Italian government is an American woman, Mrs. Julia Wheelock of Rome. She is Legionnaire, and member of Post No. 1, Rome. She arrives September 10 and will be entertained by the Italian societies of Portland at a banquet.

An interesting program has been arranged, a little yellow booklet, telling in addition to the usual program, where and how to find all the many places that a stranger might want to find and which would prove difficult to locate.

For the many affairs which are being planned socially three Salem women have been asked to serve as patronesses, Mrs. George A. White, Mrs. Thomas Rilea and Mrs. Joseph V. Schur.

Also a liaison committee to meet the California auxiliary comes from Salem, Mrs. F. N. Waters, Mrs. William Watson, Mrs. J. T. Delaney, Mrs. H. R. White and Mrs. M. J. Melchior.

The board of delegates and national officers will arrive early Monday morning. They will be met at the Dalles by Mrs. Pat Allen, general chairman, and taken to the Gorge hotel for breakfast. They will be housed in the Portland hotel and the men in the Multnomah hotel Tuesday night.

Mrs. Allen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Vic MacKenzie, will be hosts to the group at the former's Rhododendron home. A buffet supper will be served to about 50. Returning to Portland Wednesday they will take up preliminary organization for the national meeting. Some of the pages will go on duty almost at once in the Masonic temple, but the entire 250 will report Sunday, September 11.

The convention committee has planned a tea for the pages, to be given September 18, in the temple. Mrs. Esther Allen is chairman for the pages, and Mrs. B. Knapp for the tea. The 14 captains or heads of groups each have 20 girls assisting them and all will wear white dresses during the convention, sports attire in daytime and evening gowns at night.

The committee for the tea, which will be one of the delightful social functions of the week, is: Mrs. Knapp, Mrs. Charles T. Jones, Mrs. H. B. Brookhart, Mrs. Ellsworth F. Lucas, Mrs. J. C. Moreland, Mrs. T. W. Lockwood, Mrs. R. F. Tillman, Mrs. Eugene Libby, Mrs. Dorothy Knauft, Portland; Mrs. Bert Hartley, Baker, and Mrs. Edna Fortmiller, Albany.

Another charming event of the convention week, possibly the most outstanding is the All States dinner, to be an event of Tuesday, September 13, in the East Side pavilion, Union avenue and Main street. Mrs. John Y. Richardson, state regent of the D. A. R., and Mrs. Nelson Hibbs are in charge of this event, which will seat 2000 persons. The Bi-Centennial decorative scheme will be used, and as many as possible will don colonial attire.

The 63 tables will be gay with Oregon flowers and favors, as well as favors from other states and each table will compete for the three silver prizes to be awarded for the most beautiful, the most artistic, and the most typical of its state. State songs and the Paramounters orchestra will present the program, which will be old-fashioned, modern and

"Indian Life" will be the theme of the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Christian church Tuesday night at 7:45 in the church parlors. Mrs. E. C. Case has charge of the program. Mrs. Sarah McDowell has the devotions. All men of the church are urged to attend this meeting.

Zonta Group D. A. R. Will Start Year's Sessions

MEMBERS of the Salem Zonta club are planning for an active season ahead. Inspiration for further activity is expected to come from the Olympia convention of the sixth district to which Salem will send at least one delegate and perhaps several unofficial delegates. The election of the official delegate will take place at the September 15 meeting. An executive board meeting September 13, will be held at the home of Miss Dorothy and Dr. Helen Pearce.

Announcement of committees for the coming year has just been made by the president, Helen Louise Crosby and include the following:

Fellowship and intercity: Thora Boeson, Hazel Cook, Lena Belle Tartar; attendance: Dorothy Pearce, Barbara Barnes, LaVerne Winkler; service: Helen Yockey, Roberta Butler, Lena Belle Tartar, Ruby Morris, Hazel Cook.

the Evangeline; Mrs. Langtree; the Rugulose, often called Janquill, a very fragrant yellow one with three or four flowers on a stem; the large Sir Watkin; the bicolorated Spring Glory and Van Waveren's Giant.

Hyacinths is another bulb which should be planted in autumn and which is so excellent out of doors in the early spring. If for no other reason, one should plant some hyacinths among the shrubs or in the perennial border to give fragrance to the early spring garden. With the hyacinth, as with most bulbs, it pays to get the good ones. Some of the better sorts give forth blooms so singly on the stems. One seldom sees a yellow hyacinth; yet there are one quite good one, the City of Haarlem in one of the best of the yellow varieties. It is darker in coloring than is Yellow Hammer.

ORCHARD HEIGHTS, Sept. 3 — John W. Simmons left Friday for Fairfield, Ida., on business connected with the settlement of the estate of his brother, Charles Simmons who died last spring in Idaho. Mr. Simmons expects to be absent a week. His trip was delayed by the serious illness of his son Ervin Simmons who is slowly recovering from an attack of spinal meningitis.

HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW?

By LILLIE J. MADSEN
With the coming of September, comes also bulb planting time in the Williams valley. Many do not plant their bulbs until late in October or November.

"Too often," W. C. Dibble, tulip wizard of the Northwest once told me, "in theory only are tulips planted in September, while in actual practice they are planted in November. Although one can plant them as late as November 15, and still have good flowers, they are much better if planted in September."

The content of the soil for tulip planting seems not to matter so much that it is well-drained. If the soil is too heavy, sand may be added; if it is too light, add humus. It should be tilled to a depth of about 12 inches. The bulbs should be planted at a depth of five inches from the bottom of the bulb to the surface of the soil, and four or five inches apart. The ground should be kept free from weeds throughout the autumn.

Constantly Changing
Tulips change much from year to year. Dutch hybridists are constantly improving the bulbs. They have accomplished especially fine results with tulips during the past ten years. The new improved sorts are offered by the better growers and it is interesting to add some of these to the garden each year. Those that I shall mention are not the expensive sorts that are hardly on the market.

Some growers tell us that the Darwin tulips may be left in the ground three and four years without ruining their effect. Most gardeners find it advisable to lift their tulips each year.

Among the Darwin tulips which are particularly good are Capt. Lindbergh, a pure yellow; Cherry Pink, a beautiful pink with buds shaped like a rose-bud, delicately edged with white; Gloria Swanson, a purplish crimson; Kathleen Parlow, a bright silvery rose and one of the loveliest of the new tulips; Mount Everest, a pure white; Lohengrin, a rose red with a pure white center.

Some of the older Darwin tulips which are always good are Afterglow, a sort of orange and salmon coloring; Aphrodite, the silvery rose-pink that has been a great favorite since it was first shown; Clara Butt, another pink favorite; Dream, a pale blue; La Placence, a very tall pink tulip; the dark La Tulip Noire; the carnation Pride of Harlem.

Among my favorites listed are: Among my favorite Breeder tulips, which bloom late, and are so excellent for cutting are the bronze and rose, Apricot; the yellow and lilac Corridor; the rich purple with a bronze flush, Louis XIV; and the terra cotta Prince of Orange. Among the Cottage tulips that are very fine are the golden yellow Argo; the pink with yellow striped Dido; the fragrant yellow Ellen Willmott; the lilac and apricot Fairy Queen; the yellow and pink and yellow, both of which are deservedly very popular; the yellow Marvel with its rosy flush; the very pale yellow Moonlight and the golden brown Quaintness.

It may seem as if I run to yellow in tulips, but in the early spring bright yellow or pink flowers are particularly cheerful, especially on a rainy day.

Personally, I do not care for the novelty tulips—or novelty flowers of any sort. But for those who must have the odd there is the Lady Tulip (Clusiana), a little rock tulip which blooms in April. The outer petals are a bright cherry-red with the inner petals a creamy white. This should be planted in light soil, six to nine inches deep in the rock garden or herbaceous border. If one has a really nice rock garden, the Lady Tulip makes a nice showing. Another rather interesting little rock tulip is the Florentina Odelette, a fragrant yellow one that does very well with Grape Hyacinths. And still another is the Persica which grows but three inches high and bears two or three fragrant yellow blooms on each stem. But when I started out to mention the odd tulips, I really had in mind the Parrot Tulips with their ragged edges and otherwise quaintly shaped blossoms. Perhaps the best of this group is the Fantasy, which has the strength of stem of the Darwin tulip. It is a clear, deep pink in color. Perfection Parrot Tulip is a golden yellow, blotched with scarlet.

Plant Narcissus Early
Narcissus (daffodils) should also be planted in the autumn of the year. These are so well known that little need be said about the planting conditions. I might say that they should be divided every three or four years, that they do well in groups of one kind in front of the shrubby border and under trees and that if one chooses the right varieties, one can have continuous daffodil bloom from early February until May. A nice assortment of the narcissus plants include the large yellow King Alfred; the yellow Golden Spur; the Firebrand; the double snow white and fragrant Alba Plena Odelette; the yellow edged with orange-scarlet Conspicuous;
