House Imperiled By Grass Blaze; Boys are Blamed

WOODBURN, Sept. 3-The louse on north First street owned by Maud Cowden and leased and occupied by O. L. Magnusen and John Fowler, was endangered by flames. The fire was believed to have been started by matches or cigarette stubs in the hands of boys playing at the foot of the hill where the fire started. The fire department was called at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday. Some difficulty was met in putting out the flames due to the fact that it had spread over such a wide area of grass and blackberry bushes.

A small barn, many years old, was completely destroyed as well as a chicken house and a few other small buildings.

GO TO CUTLER CITY ZENA, Sept. 3-A group of four men left early Saturday morning for the coast country around Cutler City where they intend to remain a few days to dig clams and catch salmon for canning purposes. Included in the party were Walter B. Hunt and Frank and Louie Butler.

Werners get Good Supply; Indians are Resentful of White Invasion

CENTRAL HOWELL, Sept. 3 Ernest Werner, Sr., and Raymond Werner went to Mt. Adams in Washington to pick huckleber ries and came home with a goodly supply of the berries. They were gone several days. Many people go there to pick huckleberries and the Indians who have been going there for years resent the white people coming and are very surly and unfriendly.

The government has reserved a tract for the Indians to pick on where no others may pick but the Indians pick elsewhere before starting on their special territory. Most of the Indians picking there are from the Yakima reservation
