State-Wide Organization is Talked; Packers Said Not Cooperating

The general concensus was that the $10 sliding scale offered by one local cannery following last week's meeting was merely "a new name for doskage" as one grower put it. The sliding scale amounts to virtually the $6 offered earlier and to which growers objected, it was shown. Some Progress is Made by Growers That growers are making some progress was evident in some reports. Bouffleur reported he had sold for $10 since the last meeting; several reported buyers had raised their offers from $6 of 10 days ago to $8.50, and some said that at $8.50 canners offered to haul the crop in, which would amount to virtually the $10 fig-

Smith toppled over as he started into the second floor lavatory. Mrs. Victor Woodfield, hotel manager, and men in the lobby, who ran to his assistance, said he died within a few minutes and before a physician arrived. It is known Smith had been ailing ever since he suffered an attack of influenza some time ago.

The Voter asks the question: 'Have you carried the speils policy into the state institutions by having state employes supplanted by your personal supporters?" Holman makes complete denial to this charge. He points to his own office as an example of a state department unchanged in personnel from the way it was when Holman took office.

"I have no desire to build up political machine, lecause I have no political ambition," Holman comments. Opposes Political Job Distribution
