MILLER DAY!

Miller Day comes but once a year. . . It is a day set aside for the promotion of nationally advertised merchandise at very special prices. It is, in reality, "Good Will Day" because manufacturers of these splendid lines cooperate with Millers in making this sale possible . . . creating good will and acquiring new patrons. This is the Sixth Annual "Miller Day." Miller's planned all through the summer months, buying fall and winter merchandise in preparation of this special event. And, luckily for Miller's and their customers, prices were at their very depths when the stocks for Miller Day were purchased. In the past few days, cottons, silks, woollens, leather goods, rubber, etc., have advanced steadily in price. Miller's believe the bottom has been reached in nearly all commodities and that the strengthening in prices will prevail for some time.
