

Local News Briefs

Forger is Arrested—Salem police yesterday received word from Santa Ana, Calif., that Bradley M. Fischer, alias George C. Williams, wanted for numerous forgeries here, had been arrested in that city. Orange county officials said Fischer admitted passing several worthless checks under the name of Williams. The man will not be returned to Salem, however, unless local merchants decide to sign a warrant for his arrest. Police said they did not seem willing to do so.

Director Answers—Entire blame for an accident which occurred September, 1930, in the Director store here, is laid by Director on Maud B. Rundlett in an answer filed yesterday in circuit court here. Director says any injuries she may have received in a fall on the store floor were occasioned by her own lack of care and not by the condition of the floor.

Mrs. Beckman Joins—A new member of the real estate department of the Socotky and Son firm in the First National bank building is Mrs. L. A. Beckman, who has resided in this county for the past 15 years. The late Mr. Beckman was a real estate salesman with the same firm and was before that cashier of the bank at Hubbard.

Board Harsh On Lads Who Drive Autos

Every effort will be made by the state board of higher education to curb the unnecessary use of automobiles by students attending the University of Oregon, normal schools and three state normal colleges at the beginning of the 1932 fall term, it was announced at the offices of the board Saturday.

A motion adopted sometime ago by the board "that automobiles should be forbidden, effective at the beginning of the fall term this 1932 fall term, as interpreted by action of the board at its last meeting.

First: To prohibit student owned cars.
Second: To prohibit students from driving rented cars.
Third: To prohibit students who are local residents from driving family cars.
Fourth: To require students who come to the institution in their own cars from a distance to place them in dead storage.

Exemptions will be granted, after hearing before the faculty committee on enforcement at each campus, to the following classes: Students who are physically handicapped.
Students who earn their living by use of their cars.
Students, who, in the opinion of the committee, find it necessary to use a car because they live at an excessive distance and are not accommodated by any regular means of transportation.
Married students who have their families resident in the school or college community.
Permits and specially designed license plates will be issued to all students exempted from the regulation.

SHINGLE BUREAMAN SPEAKER THURSDAY
The executive board of the Salem Building Congress will meet at the regular date Monday night, inasmuch as Thursday, September 15, the Building forum will hold a meeting at the chamber of commerce at 8 o'clock, at which time Arthur Bevan of Seattle and Chicago will be the speaker.

Mr. Bevan is secretary-manager of the Red Cedar Shingle bureau, and is closely in touch with building activity over the entire country, upon which subject he will speak here. Following his appearance here, Mr. Bevan will go to Washington, D. C.

The guest speaker will be entertained at a dinner at Hunt's cafe at 6 o'clock Thursday night, when shingle manufacturers and retail lumber dealers of the valley will be guests. Special invitation is sent out to all these, urging their attendance at the dinner and forum meeting.

Another reason for cancelling the executive board meeting is that presidents of Building Congress chapters will be in session in Portland Monday.

Knorr Returns From Lutheran Seattle Confab
AURORA, Sept. 10—Rev. and Mrs. Knorr and children returned from Seattle, Wash., where Rev. Knorr presided at the Northwestern District Lutheran league. Enroute he held services at Castle Rock where the family visited for several days. Motoring to Seattle they were the guests of a brother of Rev. Knorr in whose church the convention was held Saturday and Sunday.

Two hundred people from all parts of the northwest were in session Monday. On the sound of his friend Chaplain Lieu Trump had his first experience in deep sea fishing, and visited as guests of the officers, the battleship New York. A stop was made at Rainier. Rev. Knorr was re-elected president of the Northwestern District Lutheran league.

OFFICIAL Oregon will be at Portland this week, and not only will the leading state officials be at the convention, but many state employees, Legionnaires and otherwise, will be on hand. Tuesday is a holiday, but it is expected there will be very little news the remainder of the time.

If yesterday was a criterion of the activities around the statehouse the coming week, even the newshounds could take a vacation with a clear conscience. Your correspondent will be among the several hundred who are to "cover" the convention in Portland. Several others of the Salem press gang will likewise be at the event.

And another resignation is expected on the state board of higher education, in fact, E. C. Sammons has already announced he would quit and issue a statement at the same time. Sammons will let it be known that he is leaving the board because it named Kerr as chancellor. In other words, making good his threat.

If the board has members who up and quit because things didn't go the way they wished it, but left it to the majority to decide, then it appears the board would be much better off without such members. Sammons, however, has been an active member of the board and has done good work.

It has also been rumored that Mrs. Walter Pierce expected to resign, but these political complications may alter the case. Walter Pierce, former Oregon governor, is running for congressman from the second district, and such a move as contemplated for a time by Mrs. Pierce may handicap his campaign.

Members of the state highway commission and leaders in the department were guests yesterday of E. B. Aldrich, Pendleton editor and member of the commission, at the roundup. The commission has a hearing scheduled for Monday at Baker, so went over a couple of days early to take in the roundup and inspect some highways in that section.

Visitors at the parade Tuesday will see at the head of the line of march one of Salem's citizens, Major-General George A. White, one of the founders of the American Legion and in charge of the national guard forces in the northwest, not only helped in parade arrangements, but will be the grand marshal.

Counsel for the defense said Saturday that Dr. B. F. Giesy would take the stand in his own defense before the case for the defendants was concluded.

In the case of a succession of character witness a succession of stand to tell the jury of their knowledge of the good opinion of the defendants held by them. The witnesses include Robert J. Henderson, Circuit Judge McMahan, James Felier, N. D. Lebold, J. C. Smith, J. J. Hirschberger, R. Wadsworth and John Harper.

School Budget Will be Voted On Wednesday
CENTRAL HOWELL, Sept. 10—School will begin Sept. 25 with Mrs. Grace Sehon of Salem teaching the upper grades and Miss Torhild Brandt of Salem again the primary teacher. It is expected that there will be a large beginner's class.

A new school budget has been made out and is to be voted Wednesday, September 14. Hop picking in the local yards will soon be over. Both the Durbin yard and Lenner's yard expect to finish by Tuesday.

GRANGE HEARS MACHINE WOES

Van Trump, Impromptu Talker, Shows how men Being put out of Work

Disappointed that the scheduled speaker, Senator Charles L. McNary, would not appear, members of Salem Grange yesterday provided their own speaking program, highlights of which were short talks on current conditions by the master, Dr. A. Slaughter of Portland, and S. H. Van Trump, county horticultural agent.

Slaughter also briefly discussed ballot measures, except the college and university merger bill on which he refused to recommend a vote, following the lead of the state grange in keeping it out of grange talk.

Van Trump declared the farm problem merely one of those in today's complex civilization, in which machine is routing man. He pointed to withdrawal of the highway emergency program and introduction of 20 per peeling machines in the Woodburn cannery as two new local aspects of the machine-man competition. He described operation of the peeling machine in interesting manner. Only one man needed to operate each peeler, and the 20 replace the work of 200 women.

Slaughter declared the freight truck has bill the "biggest joke on the ballot", advised negative vote on the Rogue river fishing bill "because the people already voted it"; struck a ye and-no ground on the six per cent tax modification proposal; favored the income tax measure but doubted it would pass; was for the oleomargarine measure; and against the bill to provide by general law tax levy powers.

$53,000 Fee for Bond & Share to Be Order Topic

An order dealing with the so-called service charge of $53,000, alleged to have been paid annually by the Northwestern Electric company to Electric Bond & Share, will be issued here next week by Charles M. Thomas, public utilities commissioner, it was announced Saturday.

The legality of this payment was one of the principal questions involved in the recent hearing on the rates, charges and practices of the electric company. Thomas previously ordered a reduction of the rates of the electric company on an average of 10 per cent, but withheld comment on the service charge payment. This will be covered in his supplemental order to be issued next week.

Unique Method To Finance Meet
DALLAS, Sept. 10—At their regular meeting Friday noon the Dallas Kiwanis voted to enter the national attendance contest for next year and compete for one of the prizes offered. They also decided to sponsor a field meet next spring for youngsters. Funds to finance this meet will be raised by a very unique method. Each member will be assessed one cent for every year of his age.

Rose Will Want $5000 for Pledge
George F. Burnett promised in June, 1932, to wed Rose Will, but now has backed out on his agreement, the latter alleges in her complaint filed Saturday in circuit court here. Because Burnett will not go to the altar with her, plaintiff asks $5000 general damages.
