

SCIO BOASTS FINE FACULTY

Enrollment is Expected to Equal Record of 1931; Opens on 19th

SCIO, Sept. 14.—A strong faculty for the Scio schools is believed to have been secured for the new school year, which opens Monday, September 19. Only two of the instructors are new to the school, Miss Doris Clarke of Salem and Miss Mildred Gardner of Scio.

Last year's highest enrollment in the grades and the high school was 229, this being also a record enrollment. It is believed that a similar enrollment will be recorded this year.

Class Work Tuesday
Registration is expected to occupy most of the forenoon Monday, so that pupils may be returned to their homes by bus for lunch. Classes are to be organized Tuesday and schedules adopted for the regular work of the school. Four school buses are to be operated on virtually the same routes as were in effect last year, according to F. A. Gallely, principal of the high school. Some of the drivers employed last year are to handle transportation again this year, it is stated.

Tentative plans at this time are that Mr. Gallely will have mathematical subjects. Other assignments: Miss Doris Neptune, Salem, commercial branches, sewing, girls' athletics; M. H. Beal, St. Helens, science and boys' athletics; Miss Rebecca Morgan, Portland, English and foreign languages; Miss Doris Clarke, Salem, English, algebra, history and club.

Grade Assignments
Four teachers are to be employed in the eight grades, each to handle two grades. For the eighth successive year E. P. Caldwell will have the seventh and eighth grades; Miss June Papek, Philomath, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Mildred Gardner, Scio, third

GOUGHAM'S MAYOR AND EX-MAYOR

Enrollment is Way Under Last Year's Opening

LYONS, Sept. 14.—Fox Valley public school opened Monday with Mrs. Helen Gibbs principal and Miss Jeta Prichard as primary instructor. A much smaller number of pupils were enrolled than a year ago. Quite a few left the district since school closed last May and several are attending Mill City school. Some who are nearer the Lyons school plan to send their pupils there when school opens next week.

The shortage in attendance will no doubt create a hardship on the district funds, as there were scarcely enough enrolled last year to entitle the district to a two-teacher apportionment and when this is cancelled, funds will be rather short to carry on the school. It is hoped more pupils will come in to enable the district to hold the funds.

ANOTHER PIONEER IS LAID TO REST

HAZEL, GREEN, Sept. 14.—Tuesday afternoon another pioneer, Mrs. Mattie O. Rodgers, was laid to rest in the Murphy cemetery. Mrs. Rodgers when a child came west with her father, Jacob Johnson, and her stepmother and half brothers, Jacob, Albert, Charles and David, from Minnesota. They spent a year in Roseburg, coming to this community in 1873.

The farm bought was covered with big fir trees, and the house was surrounded by tall fern that came half up the windows. The mother was afraid the children would be lost or attacked by some wild beast, this being so different from her native Sweden. In clearing the farm Mr. Johnson met with an accident that caused his sudden death, and Mrs. Johnson heroically carried on, training and caring for her children.

Mrs. Rodgers attended grade school here. After some years at Willamette she finished at university, Portland. Mrs. Rodgers studied theology so she could assist her husband in pastoral work. After Mr. Rodgers had served pastorates in Montana, Washington, Coquille and Newport, they returned 23 years ago and built on Mrs. Rodgers' farm, part of her father's place. Later they moved to Woodburn, where the widower, Rev. F. W. Rodgers is making his home.

Half brothers and sister left to mourn are Jacob Johnson of Oregon City, Albert Johnson and F. O. Johnson of this place, and Miss Carolyn Johnson of Seattle.

TELLING IT TO THE MARINES

When girl members of the Summer colony at Virginia Beach, Va., visited a nearby U. S. Marine Corps barracks recently, they took charge of the camp for the day and are shown above as they dished out the ration to the Leathernecks. In return for the service, the Marines gave the girls instruction in long range rifle shooting. Note the Marine uniform and run for the nearest recruiting office.

Farmers Ask Fire District For County

MONMOUTH, Sept. 14.—Monmouth grange drew out a fairly large attendance Saturday at the September meeting, considering the busy season. Master George Kurze was ill from influenza, P. O. Powell wielded the gavel. William Riddell, representing the grange, is cooperating in a movement to establish a suburban fire district here, to include farms within a five-mile or more radius of town, which may be served by the city fire department in case of emergency. The local department has been answering country calls promptly for some years, and a plan is in progress to secure some financial return to make the service definitely dependable to farmers, and remunerative to the city.

At the yard 104 pickers were registered during the harvest, and work was quite steady for all.

GERVAIS EXPECTS 100 HIGH STUDENTS

GERVAIS, Sept. 14.—Teachers and pupils of the high and grade schools met at the school building Monday to organize classes for the coming year. Sixty-six were enrolled in the high school with prospects for a possible 100 when outdoor work is more nearly completed.
