

GEHLHAR TELLS OF FAIR ATTRACTIONS

Berates Critics of Bovine Combat and Rodeo in his Talk Before Clubs

Extolling the quantity of volunteer entertainment for this year's state fair and contrasting it with the smaller amount of commercial features, Max Gehlhar, director of the department of agriculture, strongly berated the critics of the rodeo and bull fight items on the program, in addressing members of Lions and Kiwanis clubs at the Marion hotel yesterday noon.

"Out of the whole program, a few short-haired women and long-haired men object to five minutes of this program. They don't know that this is not a real bull fight—played all over the United States. And the rodeo is the cowboy olympics, the world's fastest growing sport. The rodeo at Wimbledon, England attended by King George, drew the largest attendance of any athletic event.

"The question is whether they ought to be self-appointed dictators of what you ought to see. The fair is and must be cosmopolitan, must have something to fit all of us. The educational features of the fair are the only reasonable excuse for the fair, but entertainment is needed to make it self-sustaining," he declared.

"The biggest single thing about the fair this year is the number of people who have been voluntarily getting behind it to put the thing over. One thousand people are coming here to entertain you and other people. The interest you have is not for this year; it's for the future. Portland worked hard for an expected 50,000 legionnaires; we expect 100,000 persons."

The state fair has gone farther in music this year than ever before, Gehlhar said. Excursion trains will bring 15 bands and 55 other organizations from other communities. The excursionists, it is planned, will detrain downtown and parade the streets, escorted by the Salem chamber of commerce booster committeemen and local bands.

Hop Market is Strengthened; Yield Reduced

CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Better demand and lower yield prospects have served as strengthening factors in the hop market the past week, forcing prices up one cent and further encouraging growers to hold. It is stated in today's weekly review of hop markets by the U. S. D. A. bureau of agricultural economics co-operating with the O. S. C. extension service.

Prices of 14 to 15 cents on new crop stuff are now offered, with many growers holding for 15 cents or better and some not inclined to sell at all just at present. Harvesting is about completed through Oregon and quality is good, though yields are below last year, with total estimates now placed at $5,000 to 70,000 bales for the Oregon crop.

DRIERS OPERATING BUT NOT AT PEAK

Night Shifts Started at Liberty; Mudds buy Fischer Property

LIBERTY, Sept. 15.—Practically all the prune driers in the community started operating this week though not as yet running to capacity. Harold Lane and his father have again leased the Bancroft plant, which they fired up the first of the week. Wednesday night was their first night shift. The Zosel drier also started on night work. Ed Dancer shut down temporarily. Other driers will take up night drying as the prune volume increases. They are so far coming in rather slowly and it will be next week when the fruit will be ripe enough for shaking and heavy picking. So far the picking has consisted mainly of windfalls and petite prunes which have ripened ahead of the others.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mudd of Salem have purchased the E. L. Fischer place, known as the Rae place, and are moving in. They have had some repair work done. R. L. Forster has just completed the job. The Mudds will have one child in school.

Mrs. E. A. Free is spending several days in Portland. She went in time to see the Legion parade Tuesday and will visit friends during her stay.
