position of the republicans. The organization of the 1933 legislative house has gone far enough that Earl Snell of Arlington is assured of the speakership. Herbert Gordon, unsuccessful in 1931. Saturday announced his withdrawal from the current race. Fred E. Kiddie of Island City, which he explains is not an island or a city, seems certain to be president of the senate but Senator Willard Marks has not yet resigned to take his place as a federal referee in bankruptcy. Marks is popular with the Meier administration, which likes him handy as an assistant governor.

Higher School Board Shakeup Watched

No word as yet on the chancellor's successors until they are needed. Sammons has urged during the week to stay on the board. The governor has been urged to make quick, quiet, harmony appointments in event he has two jobs to fill. On the other hand he has been urged to shake up the board by ousting enough anti-Burch, Sammons men to even things up for the "resignation of honor" of these two men.

Sammons in a group in Portland last week declared he was going to resign and was going to have a good deal to say about the politics involved in the selection of the chancellor. He claims he was sent east as an investigator of possible chancellors, and went in all good faith, whereas C. L. Starr, who was chairman of the board and a member of the committee, never intended the job should go to anyone but Dr. Kerr. He also is said to be bitter to Starr for the latter's refusing to come out in the open on the matter and later, when the vote on the chancellor was cast, laying possum and refusing to cast a ballot either way. Burch and Sammons have expressed themselves as thoroughly tired with the devious, delaying, scheming politics exhibited on the board of higher education.

New Chancellor is Working Hard

Health Chancellor Kerr has wasted no moment to get affairs in order on both the Eugene and Corvallis campuses. Publicity about him has been widely used throughout the state. Despite repeated efforts of anti-merger proponents to draw him out on this subject, he has kept a sphinx-like silence and continued, Kerr-like, to saw wood.

Representative W. C. Hawley keeps busy with desk work in Salem but plans to take part in the campaign if his health permits. He suffered a severe auto accident last year in the capital and this has made it a bit difficult for him to get about. Senator Charles McNary has announced no plans for the campaign. Never personally friendly to Hoover, and believing the president a poor politician, McNary is expected to follow the tactics used in the 1930 gubernatorial campaign and to say little.

Figures released during the week at the statehouse show that a minority of the 28 circuit judges in the state are still clinging to their pre-depression salaries. Not a candidate for election has failed to take the 10 per cent cut.

probable that they will do so." Hansen said that since the Pacific International Livestock Exposition is a private enterprise, no legislation on that subject is necessary.

In commenting on the agricultural fairs, Hansen's statement read: "The appropriations received by the various county agricultural fairs are in the nature of a subsidy, consisting of a tax of one-twentieth of a mill on real property, and amounting to approximately $10,000 for the biennial. The appropriation for the Eastern Oregon Livestock show likewise is in the nature of a subsidy and totals $10,000. Commendable as these agricultural fairs may be, it will be absolutely necessary, on account of the financial stringency confronting the state, either to suspend this tax for the next biennium or to repeal it, and recommendations to this effect will be made to the legislature."

Crusade Opens Against Faulty Brakes on Cars

Five motorists fell under arrest yesterday afternoon in a new crusade against faulty brakes begun by state and city police in front of Parrish Junior high school. The officers will make regular "brake" drives throughout the fall, until faulty-braked cars are cleared from the streets. City Traffic Officer George Edwards declared.

Arrested yesterday were Edward Oberst of Hubbard, C. H. Watt of route four, W. G. Gatty of 460 South Winter street, Harlan Ashland of Woodburn, and J. I. Scism of Silverton.

City police also are continuing their campaign against double-parked automobiles on downtown streets. Nine machines were tagged yesterday.

SECOND FUNERAL IS PLANNED FOR RAPP

HOLLEY, Ore., Sept. 17—(AP)—Once again a funeral service is to be conducted for Peter Rapp, 81, of Holley. It will be held word for word and song for song according to the rehearsal service directed by Mr. Rapp himself more than a year ago. On Monday, Sept. 18, however, the ceremony will be actual. Mr. Rapp died today at his home.

Mr. Rapp's rehearsal of his own funeral was held Feb. 11, 1931. "Mourners" crowded the church. Wreaths and sprays were several. Hymns chosen by Mr. Rapp were sung. The minister recounted his eulogy and life history and preached a sermon on immortality while Mr. Rapp listened. And every word of the ceremony was recorded by a stenographer. Monday in the same church the same hymns, the same eulogy, the same life history, the same sermon will be given, word for word. Mr. Rapp is survived by his widow and five children. He will be buried in Nebraska.

EMERGENCY WORK IS COUNTY'S PLAN

a fair return for the money expended.

For five months last winter the county employed an average of 200 men daily on relief work. The jobs were rotated with men averaging one week's work in three. The county spent about $20,000 for relief work.

The fact the county has no bonded indebtedness and no warrant indebtedness as well as a substantial balance in the county treasury means relief work undertaken can be paid for without issuing county obligations or raising taxes. One reason the county's highway funds are in good position is due to the fact that the $100,000 set aside for North Santiam work this year has not been used by the federal government due to delay in starting the job. While grading contracts for carrying the road beyond White-water creek are to be let in Portland on September 23, it is not expected by road men that much work will be done grading the North Santiam until spring. # East Should be Told of West's Needs, Asserted

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Sept. 17—(AP)—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, said in an address here tonight that the great need of the Pacific slope is the education of eastern interests active in governmental affairs.

The far west has been neglected, Dr. Wilbur said, because its conditions are not understood in the east.

Dr. Wilbur, after inspecting the Klamath Indian reservation, left tonight for Hoover dam.

INMAN IS ASPIRANT TO CIRCUIT BENCH

Mr. Inman was born in Iowa in 1874, attending public schools there and studying law in a law office. His parents were the second homesteaders in O'Brien county. In 1893 Inman came to Salem, engaging first in farming and fruit business. For several years he had a farm in Lin county. He completed his preparation for law in Willamette university law school, graduating in 1901. After a short period of practice in Baker he returned to Salem and became a partner in the firm of Turner and Inman. Turner having served as a supreme court reporter. Later the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Inman continued alone in the practice. He was city attorney in 1904. Since 1907 he has been a member almost continuously of the law school faculty, his work now including practice in court, evidence and procedure. In 1931 he was president of the Marion county bar association.

PARENT FIRM'S FEE IMPROPER

Charges Upon Northwestern Electric Ruled out by Commissioner Here

recognizes certain instances where holding companies render valuable services to operation companies. He maintains service fees for such help are justified only: 1. when needed "services" have been rendered and when such services are valuable to the operating company; 2. when charges represent actual value of rendered service; and 3. when charges are no more than might have been paid elsewhere.

The order yesterday holds that the payments to Electric Bond & Share by the Northwestern do not come under any of these qualifications.

"The evidence is clear and positive that the personnel of the operating company is highly efficient," the order states. "Men who are recognized as these men are in the electric operating field certainly cannot be classed as so inefficient that they require supervision of the simple problems of daily operation. Neither should they be hampered by being required to report and keep in constant touch with absentee supervisors 300 miles away."

Commissioner Sees In These Contracts

The commissioner's supplemental order contains 48 pages which includes in full the contract existing between Electric Bond & Share and the Northwestern Electric company. The commissioner avers that the contract is identical in terms with contracts existing between all members of the Electric Bond & Share group. He states that operating company officials did not execute such contracts as a free transaction but felt compelled to hire Electric Bond & Share's services because of the latter's stock control of the operating company.

Thomas points to the salary of $32,400 drawn by the president of Northwestern as fully ample to compensate him without the payment of additional fees for supervision. "The Northwestern Electric company prior to this contract was economically and efficiently managed without the aid of a holding company by substantially the same operating force now in charge," cites the commissioner.

The order points out that the fees charged by Electric Bond & Share are 1.6 per cent of the first $250,000 gross revenue taken in a year by the operating company. Beyond that point the rate is scaled down. He shows that additional specific fees are charged for engineering services and for financial help. "The fee is very largely a clear profit to Electric Bond & Share for its more or less valuable but intangible overhead relationship," Thomas contends.

Three Permits To Wed Issued Here Saturday

Three marriage licenses were issued Saturday at the county clerk's offices to couples, all of whom, were wed the same day.

Charles T. Roy, 493 East Seventh street North, Portland, a farmer, was married by Rev. S. Darlow Johnson, to Roberta R. Kightlinger, 1211 South Liberty street, Salem.

Allenworth, Pa., Sept. 17. — (AP)—Vice-President Curtis today opened the republican campaign in Pennsylvania by outlining for a large assemblage of party workers gathered at Fogelsville, near here, his plan for a national cooperative system of farm markets.

Two hours before Curtis arrived, the republican state committee adopted a platform advocating "immediate repeal of the Volstead act" and "return to the state of the power to deal with the question."

Ever since it was discovered that bifocals are an immense relief and help to eyes, there has been a certain amount of discomfort in getting "used to them" But now optical science has developed a new bifocal that is much easier to wear better for distant and close vision—the new Ful-Vue bifocals. We'll be glad to show you the difference.
