JUNIOR BAND NAME CHANGED TO CADET

New Class of Juveniles is Being Formed Under Togo McLaughlin

Recent advancement in band work has brought about a change in the name of the American Legion Junior band to that of the American Legion Cadet band. Hereafter the name American Legion Junior band will refer to the juveniles.

Previous to this time the juveniles have been working under the director "Togo" McLaughlin in separate classes. Competition is being among the juveniles to see who will be the first, and there will be many to eventually do so, to be graduated to the Cadet band.

Already a second class of juveniles is being formed from the many applicants and is well under way, consisting of boys whose ages range from eight to 16. Boys wishing to join these classes may apply to the director "Togo" McLaughlin personally, or by telephoning 6031 for appointments.

The Cadet band is preparing for future engagements. Those in the immediate present being: the parade at the Salem Fall opening Thursday evening, a trip to Silverton Friday evening, with the national championship drum corps of Salem, and the State Fair, Salem day, Wednesday, next week, and several others.

QUEEN ELECTION IS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT

Mildred Zehner Leading; Rodeo Royal Party on Evening Programs

The ballot boxes for electing queen and princesses closed last night at 8 o'clock. So many ballots were deposited that it took a considerable staff of Ad club members to conduct the counting which had not been concluded at a late hour last night. The winners will not be divulged until 8 o'clock tonight during the Fall Opening program.

The public appearance of the queen and princesses must be subject to the direction of the Salem Ad club so there may be no conflict regarding their appearances.

The royal party of the state fair rodeo they will appear at many places to advertise the fair. Tonight after presentation at Fall Opening they will be presented at the Style Show at the Elsinore theatre.

In the count of ballots up to Thursday night Mildred Zehner was leading by a small margin, with Pauline Marzanch second, Winifred Senn third, Kathleen Engle fourth. However, so many tickets were deposited the last day that it is impossible to predict who will have the most votes when the count is finished.

The contestants for queen and their ratings up to Tuesday night were:

BEATEN CANDIDATE RULING PROTESTED

An alternative writ of mandamus, compelling Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, to come into court at 10 a. m., September 23 and tell why he should not be compelled to put the name of A. J. Moore, Bend attorney on the ballot at the general election in November, was granted here Tuesday afternoon by Judge L. H. McMahan.

Moore alleged that Hoss refused to accept his petition bearing 108 signatures because of a section of the code which provides that any candidate who sought nomination at the primary election cannot become an independent candidate for the same office at the successive general election. Moore was defeated for the republican nomination for district attorney of Deschutes county at the May primary election.

His suit attacks the constitutionality of the law under which Hoss refused to accept Moore's petition.

Bureau Obtains Jobs for More Prune Pickers

Demand for prune pickers, which has been steady at the U. S. Y. M. C. A. Employment bureau for nearly two weeks, yesterday showed no sign of diminishing. Twenty-three persons were placed at this work yesterday.

Others sent to jobs were seven laborers, one farmhand and one clerk.

TOUGH BUCKERS ARE COMING

The toughest bucking horses from the California Rodeo are coming to Salem for the Strawberry Rodeo at the state fair. Ed Wright, rodeo manager, says the bucking contest here will be real big-time competition.

WELL, Franklin D. Roosevelt visited Oregon and has gone. Many from the state capital went to hear and see him in Portland last night while crowds waited here to see him when he went through on the train. And, perhaps more than a coincidence, the state republican central committee also met in Portland yesterday.

Salem not only boasts of the finest drum corps in the United States, but it claims other distinctions. The state penitentiary located here has one of the kindest men and yet one who claims the world's record as an executioner, William Lamb has executed more than 700 murderers.

Only two more days for independent and party nominees to file with the secretary of state in order to get their names on the ballot in November. The lists for entries in this race will be closed Friday night and it is expected there will be few "scratches." Registration books close October 8.

In addition to the two major parties listed for voters to choose nominees from, there will be three others and independents in addition. The communist party, the socialist, and the socialist-labor parties have nominated for some of the major offices. These with 18 measures will give cause for much study.

Interest in politics and in the November election perhaps reached its first high peak yesterday, due largely to Roosevelt's presence in the state and the approach of the strenuous campaign season. Arguments are heard daily in the statehouse affecting national, state, district, county and city candidates.

Although Rev. D. J. Howe has resigned from the pastorate of the First Christian church here, he has not yet resigned his position as chaplain at the state penitentiary, Warden Lewis reports. Since it was first announced Rev. Howe was to resign, five applications for chaplain have been received here, and still no vacancy has occurred.

Representative John H. Lewis, who led the fight against the hydro-electric commission bill at the last session, was a visitor at the state capitol yesterday on business before the supreme court. Lewis announces he is running for city commissioner in Portland and has asked the court to watch the corrupt practices act violations in the election.

Probably one of the busiest department heads, and that is not intimating all of them are not busy, is Charles M. Thomas, public utilities commissioner. He has utility and rate hearings set far in advance and following orders to cut rates he has to fight the companies in

FRIDAY FINAL DAY FOR NOMINATIONS

Voter Registration Closes October 8; 5 Parties Going on Ballot

The time for filing party nominations for offices to be filled at the general election November 8 will close on Friday of this week, it was announced at the state department.

Five political candidates, will have places on the ballot. These include the republican, democratic, socialist-labor, socialist and communist parties. A large number of independent candidates have filed by petition and by convention since the primary election.

The communist party was the last to file its list of nominees with the secretary of state. William Z. Foster of New York and James W. Ford of Alabama are the nominees of this party for president and vice president. Presidential electors include Violet Olson, George P. Berglund, all of Portland; Frank M. Cox of Salem and Oscar Rutilla of Astoria. A. G. Krueger of Portland is the nominee for United States senator.

Registration Higher, Predicts
Other nominees of the communist party include Richard L. Lovelace, Portland, for representative in congress from the third congressional district; Kalle Kantola, Astoria, for state representative from the third district, Clatsop county, and Seth Nordling and Louis Olson, Portland, for state representatives from the fifth district.

The registration for the general election closes October 8. The registered vote for the presidential election held in 1928 aggregated 436,180. Of this number 305,396 were republicans, 116,809 democrats, and 13,975 miscellaneous.

It was indicated by reports received at the state department that the registration for the presidential election this year would exceed that of two years ago.

IN COMEBACK

Defeated two years ago in his fight for election as Governor of Michigan, William A. Comstock (above) is all set for a return engagement with his former conqueror. He has been nominated by Democrats of the State to oppose the Republican incumbent, Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, in the coming elections.

arranged, but a social time and games were enjoyed. The teachers were introduced by Prof. Tobla. There is but one new teacher this year, Miss Doris Neireiter of Lebanon.

Among the committees named were: Program, W. H. Lyman, chairman, Mrs. G. F. Korinek, Mrs. George Duncan and Miss Margaret Ireland; playground finance, Floyd Crabtree, chairman, Dr. W. V. Adams and R. G. Wood. It is hoped to secure new playground apparatus and gym improvements.

As in former years a membership drive will be carried on, captains of the two teams being Mrs. Lindsay Wright and Mrs. W. A. Weddie. And as heretofore, the winning team is to be entertained by the losers.

FAIR AGRICULTURE'S SHOW WINDOW, SAYS

"The state fair is the show window for Oregon agriculture" Director Max Gehlhare of the department of agriculture told Rotarians yesterday noon, in urging hearty support for the state fair. The entertainment features are there to interest and amuse the crowds, but the real educational value of the fair lies in the exhibition of agricultural products, livestock, domestic arts and crafts and Four-H club work. Stressed this year will be improved containers for marketing products.

Regarding the "bull fight" Gehlhare said that if there was anything cruel or inhumane appearing in the exhibition the first time shown, the number would be stricken from subsequent performances. It is not a "bullfight" but a bull-dogging event staged with Mexican matadors who give the event life and color.

Salem Rotarians were urged by W. M. Hamilton of the chamber of commerce committee to help receive the special trains which are expected on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

SILH FILLING IS ON HUBBARD, Sept. 21—Silh filling is the order of the day. Last week M. Rolsdorff and E. U. Anderson filled their silos; A. C. Halloy filled his Saturday, and H. L. Carl is filling his silos this week.
