

TIMBER FIRES GAIN NUMBERS

Aumsville, Lyons and Gervais all Report Serious Forest Blaze

AUMSVILLE, Sept. 30.—A fire which caused a great deal of excitement in Aumsville Wednesday afternoon was started from a lighted cigarette that was dropped by a boy who was cutting brush on the Charles Hein place north of town. It rapidly spread over the ground and covered 75 acres of brush and grass lands in a short time.

Several houses and barns, as well as some livestock were endangered for a while. A fence was taken down in one place to put 30 sheep in a corn field and the pasture they were in burnt over.

It was hard to get help to fight the blaze as many were at the fair and others were out in the fields at work. But high school boys and some help from town was secured and the fire was finally put out.

The first regular meeting of the community club will be held in the school building Tuesday night, October 4. The election of officers and a program will follow the usual dinner.

Fires at Lyons
LYONS, Sept. 28.—The forest rangers on the Marion county side of the river were phoning to Lyons Wednesday night for men to help fight fire on the mountains back of the Lumpkin place. Three miles east of Melham. Another fire of help was turned in early this morning. No idle men were available here to go. The forest fire broke out early Monday and is doing a lot of damage in the timber.

A number of slashing fires are burning in this vicinity, a few of which got beyond control for short intervals. During the afternoon hours, Wednesday, a brush fire on the A. D. Gardner farm ran through a heavy stubble field and help was needed to prevent it reaching the farm house and other nearby buildings.

Fire Near Gervais
GERVAIS, Sept. 30.—Fire of undetermined origin started in the timber of the Andrew Smith place on route one Wednesday afternoon and burned over 10 or 15 acres. Thirty or 35 cords of cut wood were burned entailing a loss of $60 or $75 besides considerable damage to the timber. No insurance was carried. The wood was sold to a Salem firm, but will be Mr. Smith's loss.

The Mt. Angel fire department was called and worked about four hours before the fire was brought under control.

The final contest was a pitching duel between Manuel Salvo, Senator hurler, who held the Oaks to five hits, and Clarence Fieber on the mound for the home team. A double to right fielder by Lahman drove in the winning run.

foot before starting his run. Willamette kept the ball in the Teachers' territory most of the game, but its best scoring opportunity came when Scroggins, center, intercepted a pass and, need to the 15-yard line, Casnada crashed the line to the eight-yard mark but there Willamette was held for downs.

Despite the fact that Willamette had a patched-up backfield with three regulars not in uniform, it had the best of it on total yardage. The Teachers' gains were mostly concentrated in the two goalward marches in the third period.

Little Ovarac, freshman Bearcat, got away for one 20-yard gain and punched through for innumerable shorter ones, and Fred Paul's passes, chiefly short bullet-like throws to Kaiser who took them on the dead run, were likewise effective. Clark, another freshman at end, along with Weisser and Joekisch, tackled, put up a great defensive game, though it is difficult to single out any two or three players, as the Bearcat defense was effective at all times. Scroggins, well-timed passes, chiefly Walter to Scroggins, formed the Normal's almost sole method of attack except for the few times that Scroggins broke away.

The game was marred by incessant half-packing by the officials. On one occasion Oregon Normal was penalized for the distance to the goal when Scroggins was disqualified for kneeling. The program opened with two trumpet solos by Wesley Roeder, high school band director, and Professor Cameron Marshall of the Willamette university led the group in singing. Following this a program of sports was carried out in the gymnasium led by Gus Moore and Bob Boardman.

Invited by Spec Keene, Willamette coach, the entire lot of boys went from the Y building to the athletic field to see the football game between Oregon Normal and Willamette. It was claimed by Gus Moore that his bunch comprised the biggest rooting section at the game.

RAIL-LUMBERMEN'S AGREEMENT TALKED
J. B. Fitzgerald, information director, and H. N. Proebstel, traffic director of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, Seattle, stopped in Salem en route to Eugene to attend a meeting of lumbermen last night. The lumber interests are taking up with railroads the matter of securing lower freight rates on lumber into the big consuming centers of the Mississippi valley.

"The mills in the valley are rail mills," said Fitzgerald. "They need to have lower rates to get lumber into the midwestern farming country. With lower rates the railroads will get more cars to haul, and the lumbermen of the interior will get a bigger market."

Plans are being worked out for combining the Willamette valley lumbermen's organization with the west coast body.

SOLDIERS REBUILD PORTO RICAN CITY

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 30.—(AP)—National guardsmen laid aside their guns today by order of Governor Beverley to become for the moment carpenters and masons in the rebuilding of the city.

The governor also requested that United States troops be detailed if available to the duty of repairing the damage wrought by last Monday's hurricane. All the able-bodied citizenry already are at the task of reconstruction.

The governor estimated today that 75,000 persons were homeless, and millions of dollars in property was destroyed.

What the city misses most is electricity. The power house went out of operation during the storm. There is not enough water from the reservoirs to run the batteries, the trolley cars or to light the houses. The lack of water is especially acute.

This morning there was a slight run on the banco popular as a result of the closing last night of the banco territorial Agricola. The officers announced the banco popular would remain open night and day to pay depositors and it was believed at noon that the slow run had been checked.

Many smaller fires were reported in Josephine, Douglas, Coos and other western Oregon counties.

Ten to 12 men have been regularly employed throughout the summer cutting the wood. The money received has been of great help in this district. In addition to the pulp wood for the Salem mill, several hundred cords of wood have been delivered for fuel at the state institutions.

ED KRENZ, WINDES FINED FOR ASSAULT

SILVERTON, Sept. 30.—Frank Windes and Ed Krenz each were fined $15 in justice court here today following an all-day trial on charges of assault. The case appeared before Justice of the Peace P. L. Brown as a result of Deputy Prosecutor Lytle J. Page's motion that the charge against Windes be reduced from criminal to simple assault.

The defendants testified in their own behalf and Al Nickerson was also called by the defense. A motion by Defense Attorney Alf O. Nelson for dismissal of the case on account of incompetent evidence was overruled.

The case grew out of an affair at the George Killian home in the Silverton district last Saturday night when Constable S. A. Pitney was called. Killian and J. I. Springstead asserted that Windes and Krenz had assaulted Killian, who is one-armed. Pitney arrested the two men and also Al Nickerson who had accompanied them to the Killian home. Nickerson was later released.

The first hearing was held before Justice Brown Monday afternoon and drew a large crowd of curious and interested. When the case was taken up again today the courtroom was filled.
