

Babe and Lou With Two Homers Each Wreck Cubs' Hopes

YANKS REQUIRE ONE MORE WIN

Chicago Players Swat for Circuit Twice but Paths Vacant

By ALAN GOULD
WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The twin hitters of the New York Yankees, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, turned loose a long-range blast today that routed the first home stand of the Chicago Cubs and just about blew the National league champions out of the world series trenches.

Two booming home run shots apiece by the big guns, all off the right-handed delivery of Charley Root, produced six of the seven Yankee runs, gave the American League champions their third successive triumph, knocked loose a flock of world series records and ruined the gallant homecoming of Charley Grimm's band of Bruins.

The final score was 7 to 5 in favor of the Yankees. A wildly excited crowd estimated at more than 50,000, stayed to the finish of a slugging contest climaxed by a spirited ninth-inning rally. Herb Penneck Stops Cubs' Final Rally.

The veteran Herb Penneck, slim Yankee southpaw veteran who has never been defeated in his first home run in a game, came to the rescue of the faltering right hander, George Pipgras, and checked the last gallant surge of the Bruins.

Pipgras passed from the picture in the ninth after yielding a home run smash by Gabby Hartnett and a single by Bill Jurgens. Thus the tying run was at the plate when Penneck faced a pinch hitter, Ralston Hemsey, but the veteran retired three men in rapid fire order with an old-time flash of the form that gave him five former series victories.

Ruth and Gehrig, however, were the dominant figures, striking sledge-hammer blows that broke the resistance of Root as well as the morale of the Cubs, as the Yankee power house swept along to its 11th successive conquest in world series competition.

Badgering the Cubs and the noisy bleachers, Ruth struck his first home run blow in the first inning, with Earle Combs and Jole Sewell on base, with a soaring clout into the right field bleachers.

Successive Homers Clouted in Fifth Gehrig opened the third frame with a high wallop into the same right field sector, then in succession the Battering Babe and Laruping Lou ripped off successive home runs in the fifth to put the final crusher on Root. Ruth's second drive, longest of the day, cleared the wire fence just in front of the bleachers in extreme center field. Gehrig's second blow bounced off a flagpole near the right field line.

Pat Malone, Jackie May, the first Cub southpaw to make an appearance, and young Bud Tinning subdued the Yankees for the rest of the game. Tinning, in a "blow-up" by the Chicago defense that led to the last Yankee run, but the big damage had been done.

In a game marked by a flock of record-smashing performances, including at least six by Ruth alone, the Cubs contributed to the melee with a brace of homers, one by Kiki Cuyler in the third and the other by Hartnett in the ninth.

Home Run Record For Series Broken The total of six home runs for both clubs set a new series mark, one more than the record set by the Yankees alone in a game against the Cardinals in 1923.

Ruth's pair boosted his own record total to 15 circuit clouts for world series competition, besides adding the Babe to increase his record figures for total bases, long hit and extra bases. By putting together their successive homers in the fifth, Ruth and Gehrig tied their own record, made in 1923.

The Cubs never were able to catch up with their rivals, except by tying the score once, in the fourth. For the third straight game the defense of the National league champions fell short of championship standards. Root's early unsteadiness was costly and his support was spotty. The Cubs kicked in with four errors, including two by Shortstop Bill Jurgens, who started the first inning with a wild throw on Combs' roller.

Two straight muffs of pop flies, in the ninth, followed by Ben Chapman's do-or, contributed the last Yankee run.

MAT VETERANS TO CLASH HERE

Barrackman and Jones are Billed, Also Newton And Brentano

No experiments will mark Matchmaker Harry Plan's wrestling card Tuesday night. He has picked four men who have been in the padded arena here dozens of times, and who have opposed each other often in the past. Harry knows what they are capable of doing, and so does every fan who may be listed among the "faithful."

Henry Jones and Mervin Barrackman are paired in the headline attraction. They wrestled here just two weeks ago and put on a spectacular battle. Barrackman gathering in the honors when he came back after losing the first fall to win the last two. It was a wild and woolly encounter with nothing barred and not much omitted of what is ordinarily taboo.

Jones, world well-trodden champion, is generally credited with being a trifle smarter on the mat than Barrackman, but if so the bear trainer's slight advantage in weight just about offsets it, and in the last show turned the balance of power the other way.

Jack Brentano and Prof. Newton, enthusiastic lads who have trampled on each other's toes times without number, will have another opportunity Tuesday night. They usually get a little out of patience with one another after getting in the ring but never it develops, to the extent that either will refuse to try it again.

Gervais Gets Substantial Lead on Scio

Scio, Oct. 1.—By a score of 19-7, Gervais high school football team defeated the team from Scio, Friday afternoon at Scio, in the first game of the season.

The first touchdown of the game was made by L. Miller, captain of Scio, early in the second quarter, on a reverse play around the strong side. Krosman kicked goal. Just previously, Scio, by a series of line bucks and a 15-yard penalty imposed on Gervais, brought the Scio team to the 9 yard line. Two fumbles lost to Scio.

Gervais did not score until the second half. Kuhn, substitute for Henry, carried the ball across the line for the first touchdown. The play for point was unsuccessful. The second touchdown was the result of a 30 yard run by Gervais. Kuhn failed to make the point. Riggs made the third touchdown and also carried the ball across the line for the extra point, making the final score 19-7.

Players included: Gervais—Nosack, Smith, Lelack, Bliven, Riggs, Suse, Schomus, Lemery, DeJardin, Henry, Schwab, Kuhn, and Eason; Scio—Krosman, Arnold, Freitag, Yunker, Walters, R. Quarry, Sims, Burton, Todd, L. Miller, Donovan, K. Miller, Gallegly and MacDonald.

Linfield is Beaten 19-6 By Whitman

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Outplaying the Linfield players most of the way, Whitman college won its opening football game of the season 19 to 6, here today. The Missionaries made 14 first downs to eight for Linfield.

Fourfour (Hoot) Gibson of the Dalles, Ore., Whitman quarterback, carried the ball over from the two yard line at the first of the second quarter for Whitman's first score. Koltz, Whitman halfback, received a 30 yard pass from West, fullback, and carried it ten yards for the second score, late in the second period.

Whitman's third score was accounted for by Gibson in the middle of the fourth quarter, after which Linfield came back with a series of passes and plunges to make their only score just as the game ended.

Tiger Looks Like His Former Self

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Princeton's first non-alumnus-coached football team, at times resembling the tiger for which it has long been known, jumped away to a running start in its 1932 campaign today for smothering a "gallant" Amherst eleven, 22-0.

Old Shell Game Worked to Perfection by Stanford in Early Periods of Contest

MULTNOMAH STADIUM, Portland, Ore., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Mystifying their opponents as well as the 15,000 spectators with intricate razzle-dazzle reverses, Stanford university opened its 1932 Pacific coast conference football season in this stadium today with a sparkling 27 to 0 victory over Oregon State college.

To the northern Beavers it was like solving the old shell game to locate the ball after Coach "Pop" Warner's magician-like gridders had finished shifting the ball around in the backfield. The Indians handled the pigskin like a hot potato and when it "cooled" nobody knew where it was except the man who held it and he probably wasn't sure it was in his arm.

The ball came back to the quarterback, was apparently started one way, then another and sometimes a third direction but one thing Oregon State found out was that it always wound up by going in the direction of its goal line.

The great array of reverses, double-reverses, spinners and forward-lateral passes, kept the Beavers in a muddle throughout the whole contest which lasted three hours and 15 minutes—probably the longest game ever played in the coast conference.

Stanford scored its touchdowns in the first, second and fourth periods, with two being chalked up in the final quarter.

Five minutes after the fracas opened under a hot, sultry sun, Ernie Caddell, a spectacular ball-carrier, took the pigskin from Jack Hillman on a reverse and bolted through right tackle from the two-yard line for a touchdown. Drive 54 Yards to Goal Without Halt.

Oregon State had punted back to the Indians after the kickoff and the Californians drove 54 yards down the field without a halt, with Caddell and Hillman leading the attack. Bill Corbus, right guard, split the uprights with his kick from placement for the extra point and the Cardinals were off, never to be threatened as to the victory.

Early in the second period Bob Maentz, a substitute halfback, romped high, wide and handsome for a total of about 40 yards and the wily "Pop" rushed Ed Walker, young quarterback out of the field to the one-yard line and the lad made good by circling wide around right end Corbus again converted from placement.

The razzle-dazzle fizzled a bit in the third but they worked to perfection in the final period and two more scores were chalked up. The ball on their own 40 yard line, the Indians set out a yard line, Hillman and Slim eating up yardage on every play showed Oregon State back to its 4-yard stripe and Caddell again went over through a gaping hole standing up. A bad pass from center spoiled Corbus' chance of kicking the extra point. The ball being blocked.

Interception Spoils Late Starter Threat Just when it looked like the Beavers might get some place following a sparkling 20-yard run by Norman Franklin, Slim popped up from nowhere to intercept Franklin in series shot and he raced 47 yards to the final touchdown. Slim caught the pigskin far out on his left end and he was un molested in his haste to tally. Corbus begged the extra point with his educated toe to bring the score to 27 points.

Oregon State knocked at the goal line door only once and that time in the first period when it reached the Stanford 10-yard line. A dazzling 19 yard run by Frank Little, fullback, a forward pass for 11 yards from Blaneone to Pangle, and a series of Indian penalties backed up the Warnerites but fate stopped the Beavers when Little fumbled and Colvin recovered for the southerners.

Score by periods:
Stanford 7 7 0 13-27
Oregon State 0 0 0 0-0
Stanford scoring—touchdowns Caddell 3; Walker, sub for Campbell; Sim. Point after touchdowns, Corbus 2.

Officials: Sam Dolan, referee; Lloyd Yoder, umpire; Mike Moran, head linesman; J. C. Cave, field judge.

TROJANS LUCKY TO BEAT W. S. C.

Chance Pass, two Blocked Kicks Make 20 Points For Champ Eleven

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN
OLYMPIC STADIUM, Los Angeles, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Good fortune handed the University of Southern California its first victory on the Pacific Coast conference football season today at the expense of the rather less consistent Cougars of Washington State 20 to 0.

Forty thousand persons watched the lighter and faster men of Troy, their power of other years not in evidence, score two touchdowns on blocked kicks, and another on a chance pass deep in their own territory.

It was a rather disappointing exhibition, as the Trojans almost habitually pulled the wrong plays at critical times, and while the triumph made safe the defense of their conference and national title for at least a week, the performance boded ill for another day.

On the other hand, the Cougars' vaunted aerial game fizzled from the start, and while George Theodoratus, giant fullback, bursts of brilliance, Washington State lacked the necessary deception to make scoring possible although there were at least three opportunities.

Standing on his 22 yard line, Robert McNeish tossed a 17 yard pass to Ford Palmer, and Murray Davis almost intercepted it for the Cougars, but the gesture which might have turned the game in favor of the Cougars, was a bit short of interception.

As it was the Washington State defense, which had moved in quickly gave the Trojans a clear field and he ran 60 yards to score. Southern California moved the ball down the field in the second quarter to the six-inch line, but couldn't master the power to put it across.

Husky Given Grand Scare By Grizzlies

WASHINGTON STADIUM, Seattle, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Coach Runyan Oakes and his heavy Montana Grizzlies threw a surprise into the Washington football camp today by tallying two touchdowns against the Huskies, the first scored by the Grizzlies against Washington in three years, but Washington pulled out a 26-13 victory, while the first team sat on the bench.

With the Oregon game a week away, Jimmy Phelan chose to open the Pacific coast conference season here by giving his "reverses" the task of subduing Montana, and flashes of brilliance by four Washington backs, Wolcott, Ahonen, Sohn and Meader, accounted for the four touchdowns.

Two hard-driving Montana backs, Stranberry and Meeker, however, provided the fireworks in the first quarter, in a sustained 45-yard march for a touchdown, and in the final period Stranberry was on the tossing end of a flashy passing attack which accounted for another. Just after he was removed from the game, Emory bulleted a six-yard pass over the goal line to Vickerman, for the other Grizzly score.

With Phelan using frequent replacements, fully three teams went on the field for Washington, finally outpowering the small but hefty Montana squad of 25 men.

Woodburn Team to be Named Soon

WOODBURN, Oct. 1.—Prospects for a winning football team at Woodburn are not very bright this year due to some of last year's players not returning. Several lettermen graduated last year and they will have to be replaced by freshmen.

The selecting of the team will probably take place the first of the week.

CURT COMMENTS

The big, significant development of the Saturday football campaign occurred down in Eugene, where Prink Callison's previously enigmatic Web-foot eleven knocked over Santa Clara, just the week previous conqueror of the California State football championship. Here in Callison in his first year with everybody feeling sorry for him all week. What a disappointment! You might say events of the season thus far have conspired to shove Prink right into the limelight; first the Bronchos' drubbing of Ingram's men, an occurrence which occasioned national comment; then the same Bronchos' upset at Eugene.
