GRIST OF MATTERS BEFORE CITY DADS

LaDue Asks Change of Oak Street Name Account Of Conflicts

WEST SALEM, Oct. 4.—All members were present at the council meeting held Monday evening at the city hall. No reports were given by sanitary and police committees. A man building on Kingwood and Skinner streets requested help in making a sewer connection to his new residence and motion prevailed for the city to lay sewer to the intersection there. It was then withdrawn with the consent of the second and a new motion carried to do it cheaper if they could do so.

Mr. LaDue reported the name Oak street should be changed to avoid duplication in Salem. This was referred to the street committee.

A discussion relative to the tar kettle heater followed and it was voted to secure one as cheap as possible compatible with utility, not to exceed $10. Drainage ditch at foot of the hill at the north part of town was discussed and the drainage of lots on Skinner between McNary and Patterson avenues. The ordinance pertaining to the mowing of vacant lots was given first and second readings. The board appointed to serve for the city election consists of Judge, Mrs. Fred Gibson; chairman, W. D. Phillips; first clerk, Mrs. Guy C. Newgent; second clerk, F. O. Needham, and third clerk, Lottie McAdams.

INDIA INDEPENDENT IN DECADE?

MAHATMA GANDHI
That the recent compromise between the British Government and Mahatma Gandhi not only saved the great Indian leader from starving himself to death, but also prevented a bloody revolution is the contention of Vithalbai J. Patel, former Lord Mayor of Bombay and president of the Indian Legislative Assembly, now on a visit to this country. Furthermore, Mr. Patel confidently predicted that another ten years would see Mother India free of the shackles of allegiance to Great Britain. The former Mayor of Bombay, who is here as personal ambassador of Mahatma Gandhi, of whom he is said to be the closest friend, sees in the British surrender on the electoral plan the first sign that the grip of the empire is breaking. But he asserts there is still a long fight ahead. The struggle for independence now being waged by his country is, he says, not only India's affair but of importance to the entire world. For world trade and the world economic structure cannot thrive as long as vast regions like India are held in bondage and exploited to the benefit of one nation. The Indian statesman paid a tribute to George Washington by referring to our first President as "India's inspiration in the fight for liberty and independence," when he laid a wreath on Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon.

Woman, 90, Reads Sans Spectacles

MONMOUTH, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Thomas Bouden of this city celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary Saturday. Elizabeth Craddock was born at Broughton, Kent county, England, October 1, 1842, where her early life was spent. In 1867 she was married to Thomas Bouden and five years later they came to New York. They have lived variously in Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska before locating in Monmouth 22 years ago. While in Minnesota Mrs. Bouden recalls that she lived in dense woods for two years and was not outside the forest area during that time.

She has enjoyed remarkable health during her long lifetime, and says she had a doctor but twice. Her vision is exceptional, as she threads needles, sews and reads with ease, and without glasses.

She is fond of walking, and does several blocks daily. Among the many curios she treasures is a four-cent piece of copper dated 1797 which her father gave her when she was three years old. She has several interesting handwork-ed samplers, one of which her sister completed in 1846.

Of seven children five are living: Mrs. P. A. Arnold, Portland; James Bouden, Newcastle, Wyo.; Thomas Bouden, Dayton; Frank Bouden and Miss Mary Bouden, Monmouth. She has 18 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. Mr. Bouden died in 1921.
