

COOKING SCHOOL TO GET WIDE INTEREST

Capitol Theatre Scene of Event October 12 and 13; Plans Made

Reports come to The Statesman that there is more interest in cooking schools than there ever has been. In that case the announcement of the gas cooking school to be held at Capitol theatre Wednesday and Thursday, October 12 and 13, from 2 to 4 p. m., will interest hundreds of women of Salem and vicinity. The rich setting of the theatre, the comfortable seats and excellent acoustics will attract many women who are interested in the newest wrinkles in cooking.

Miss Elizabeth Reger of Portland won many friends when she conducted the school here last year. She is practical, is experienced and has a pleasing manner, so the ladies like her. Then she gives them new ideas which they can use to advantage in the home. Participating with The Statesman in sponsoring the school are the Portland Gas & Coke company, which will feature gas stoves and gas refrigerators; Busick's Grocery and Market, featuring groceries and meats; William Gahlsdorf, dishes; Miller Mercantile company, linens; Capitol Dairies, milk, cream, butter; Bloch's Golden Rule store, women's smocks; Capital City Laundry, H. L. Stiff Furniture company, George C. Will, K.C. Baking Powder company, Pillsbury's flour, and others are expected to join.

The school will be free to all the women of the city and country. Whether they use gas ranges or other cooking units they will

HOME COMING FOR GRANGE SATURDAY

MONMOUTH, Oct. 6.—Monmouth Grange will hold its second annual Homecoming day Saturday, October 8. The afternoon session will be open to the public, and featured by a discussion of the proposed suburban fire district. This movement would establish regular city fire protection for farmers living within a possible five-mile radius of town, and has been under consideration for some time.

William Riddell is promoting interest of grange members in the proposal, and Claude Boothby is working toward the same plan in representing farmers who are non-grangers. For several years the local fire department has generously answered emergency rural calls.

Mrs. W. A. Hockema is critically ill at her home on South College street. Her daughter, Mrs. F. O. Burbank is assisting in her care. Mr. and Mrs. Hockema took a long motor trip to the middle west this summer to visit relatives, and Mrs. Hockema seemed improved for a time.

Doerfler's Fine Rural Home Ready

MARION, Oct. 6.—Joe Doerfler and son Orvil are moving into their new English home, built on the site of the old one destroyed by fire early last spring. The Doerflers have spared no expense in erecting this modern and elegantly equipped two-story home. The spacious living room extends across the front of the house and is entered through a hall. The fireplace, built between two large windows on the southern wall, catches one's eye on entering. It is beautiful in design, with tile face and hearth, and a built-in niche for an electric clock. The dining room has two large windows to the north overlooking the town of Marion. The kitchen, with its colors of orange, deep cream and green, has a breakfast nook, with built-in across one side and a nice new range installed.

The guest room is in ivory, with roomy closets. The bathroom is lovely in deep cream, white and black. Upstairs are two beautiful, large bedrooms, with ample closets and lavatory.

The Doerflers plan to have the grounds surrounding the home beautified and landscaped in the coming winter and spring.

Rebekah Chapter Celebrates 38th Year of Endeavor

INDEPENDENCE, Oct. 6.—The Clover Leaf Rebekah lodge held a special meeting Tuesday night to celebrate the 38th anniversary of the Rebekah degree. This is the Independence lodge's 38th year of work. Charter members present were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hubbard and Mrs. Sarah Irvine.

A short business meeting was held, after which the following program was presented: Piano and violin duet, Mr. and Mrs. Valen Guld; address, "Odd Fellowship and Rebekahism," E. F. Swope; solo, Mrs. Claire Irvine; address, J. L. Stockhold; musical number, Mr. and Mrs. Guld. Refreshments were served and the rest of the evening was spent in playing cards.

Were always thinking of the nicest things to do for folks ... for instance

We've made it Easy to Shop at the Market, in the first place, before the building was hardly started, we began to figure on putting doors in soe's folks could come in, and say, do you know? You do of course if you are one of the thousands buying here, the fact that we had doors put in convenient places has been a great boon to humanity especially that part of humanity livein hereabouts. Emagine haveing to climb in through a window to buy food even at the Market where Prices are low. No Sir, we dont ask any body to crowd through our windows. Yet there are lots of people livein around these parts that would climb through the windows before theyd Bleed the country white by sending their money to Wall street. Folks, we never would have forgiven our selves if we had forgotten to put those doors in. Now you dont suppose we stoped figuerin just because we put em there, do you? Well thats just what we're writing this for is to tell you we didnt, not by a Jug full, no sir while we're not spread out all over creation (Still talking about the Store) like the Chains advertise they are, our foundation is anchored to the ever firm bosom of old Mother Earth, just the same as every body else be they chains or what have ye—and so it goes, we could go on and on, telling about the things we've done for your very own benefit, but heck whats the use. You know good and well if it had'nt been for you folks wed never have put a store here in the first place. So saying we now by way of diversion quote a few prices which by the way is another reason so many folks like to do their buying at
